

LEGION RATIFYING NEW CONSTITUTION

Only Thirty More Posts Now Required to Make Charter Effective

PLAN EXTENSIVE WORK

Favorable action by thirty more posts of the American Legion will effect ratification of the new state Legion constitution, it was announced today by David J. Davis, department commander, and will open the way for a progressive program of work for the fall.

At the rate the posts are meeting, the ratification should be completed by September 20. William G. Murdock, state adjutant said, "Commandant Davis conferred in this city Thursday and Friday with Legion leaders, and is prepared to inaugurate plans for betterment of the Legion as soon as the constitution becomes effective."

The first step will be appointment of a district deputy for Philadelphia and the twenty-three other districts in the state, as provided in the constitution. The deputy here will likely be appointed within a few months by a permanent committee, organized in accordance with the constitution, which calls for proportionate representation on the basis of paid-up membership of the posts.

Department Commander Davis, the adjutant, William G. Murdock, and the department publicity officer, Paul J. McGahan, were guests at the annual convention of the Department of New Jersey at Atlantic City, Friday and Saturday, where they conferred with New Jersey legionaries relative to the program for the approaching national convention.

The department commander has been advised that reservations for the Pennsylvania delegation going to Cleveland have been made at the Winton Hotel, which is two squares distant from the Hippodrome Theatre, where the convention sessions will be held. This meeting place has a capacity of 1200 persons. It is anticipated that at least 150 delegates and alternates and guests will be present from Pennsylvania.

Pennsylvania's delegation of sixty-five will support a number of important resolutions at the convention. One of the most important things that the Pennsylvania delegation will advocate will be that members of the Grand Army of the Republic be included as honorary members of the American Legion. It is felt that the veterans of the world war and the thinning ranks of the veterans of the Civil War should work in closer relationship, and the best means of effecting that would be to include them in membership in the American Legion.

Sixty-one posts in the state have received permanent charters, including five in Philadelphia. Kensington, Herbert Warriner, William T. Suetelino, Robert J. Martin and George H. Inhof posts.

A big drive by members of Captain Walter M. Gearty Post has started with the hope of making its desired goal of 1000 paid-up members by December 1, when officers for 1921 will assume their duties. Every member in this post is paid up, and it is the general desire of the present membership to stop enrolling new members after the thousand mark has been reached. The post now has a membership of 789.

Come On, Fellows; in Wanamaker's Down Stairs Store We Will Open on Monday a Juvenile Shop for Boys

At last the small boy is to be taken care of! He has been complaining loudly for some time that everything is for the girls, but now a store has been established all for him and for the people who love him. Here we have gathered all the things a boy wears—clothing, shoes, shirts, ties, caps, hosiery, and so on—and his whole winter outfit can be bought virtually in one place.

Here are the serviceable school clothes that every boy needs at this season of the year, sturdy, long-wearing suits for boys from four to fourteen years. The same rigid all-wool standards, which obtain in Wanamaker clothing for men, are maintained here.

Just as thorough-going and sound are all the other things boys need and wear—

- Sweaters Raincoats Collars Ties Hosiery Belts Garters Suspenders Shirts Underwear Gloves Handkerchiefs Suits Blouses Hats and Caps

They're the sort of things that boys like, assembled by people who know boys and understand them. Worth particular attention on Monday are:

Boys' Corduroy Suits, $9

—and that is very near the usual wholesale price. They are in the natural brown color, the coats are made single breasted and are lined throughout with mohair. Plenty of roomy pockets and a belt complete each suit. The knickerbockers are lined and every seam is strongly taped and sewed. The suits will fit boys of 8 to 15 years—and it would be hard to find a better value.

Boys' Caps at $1.50

They are of tweeds and suitings in a variety of mixed patterns with one-piece or eight-piece tops. Each cap is lined and there are sizes 6 3/8 to 7 1/8.

At 50c a pair, ribbed black, white and cordovan cotton stockings with fashioned feet are for boys of 6 to 16 years. At $1.25 a pair, English wool-and-cotton mixed three-quarter hose in heather mixtures. Most boys are very enthusiastic about these.

Lovely Hats Rich With the Colors of Autumn

Autumn has sent her richest gift of color to the new hats—deep bronze, golds with a flush of red, russet browns and glowing purples, you'll find them all in Autumn millinery. Some new blues have burst forth, too, one of the prettiest being called Mingz, after the fine Chinese porcelains of that dynasty. Then, to wear with the squirrel-trimmed coats that will appear a little later are hats of velvet in the softest squirrel gray. Most of these delightful colors are found in the velvet hats, which may be large or small. Elderly women, too, will find hats of dignity and beauty. Wonderful choosing among hats at $10 and $12.50.

Women's Winter Coats Are Cheery and Jolly Things

There's a briskness about them that makes one think of frosty days, furs and keen wind. Colorings are soft and warm, and many of the collars are very deep, almost little capes.
