

HITCHCOCK CALLS COX REAL LEADER

Declares He Would Be Strong Individual President "Like Wilson"

TAKES SLAM AT HARDING

By the Associated Press
New York, Sept. 14.—United States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Nebraska, speaking before the Arkwright Club here today, declared Governor Cox is elected, would exercise the powers of his office as they were exercised by Wilson, Roosevelt, Cleveland, Lincoln and other strong men of both parties, while Senator Harding, if elected, would exercise his presidential powers "under some form of dictatorship by a senatorial oligarchy in control of party machinery."

"If this question can be fairly considered by the voters," he said, "it seems to me a majority will decide in favor of an individual President, rather than a President acting as a figurehead for a combination of senators."

"The Republican managers, relying on the belief that their party is the strongest, have adopted a platform which may be interpreted in several different ways, after election, on a number of important issues. They have nominated a candidate of their own choice and have restricted him to his front porch. They have brought before him hand-picked audiences for formal addresses and meanwhile have devoted their energies to the collection and use of campaign funds to be used in organizing for the campaign. They are living up to the idea that all that is necessary is to get out the party strength to insure a party victory."

"The Democratic program, the senator said, consists of a direct appeal to the people of the country without regard to party, on the issues of the day."

"The Democratic platform is bold and outspoken," he continued, "while the Republican platform is ambiguous and doubtful. Governor Cox is not only the party candidate but a party leader as well, while Senator Harding in becoming the candidate, does not apparently aspire to interfere with party leadership, which remains with those who made him the candidate."

"Senator Harding says he believes in party government and if he is elected the Republican party will govern. It sounds as though the rank and file of the Republican party were to reach important decisions and shape party policies."

"The real meaning of it, however, is that the party caucus of United States senators in Washington would, in those circumstances run the government just as they ran the late Republican party. Obviously this is a party campaign of misrepresentation and falsehood. It harmonizes with dodging the issue and deceiving the voter."

Accused of Carrying Liquor
Simon Bandel, 1012 South Nineteenth street, was yesterday held in $500 bail for further hearing Friday by Horace R. Manley, United States commissioner, charged with illegal transportation of liquor. According to Federal prohibition agents, who caused the arrest, Bandel had a bottle of whisky on his hip.

Harding Combats Oriental Danger

America tariff protection is necessary, then tariff protection must be given. He added that "a long list" of farm products might be found to require such protection, though any tariff revision must be based on general and not class interest.

Discussing the race question as presented in the Pacific coast, the candidate said:

"Today you have come here from the Pacific coast of our country. I do not doubt that Americans on the coast are troubled in their minds about the Oriental question, as it is called. That question raises every interpretation of our watchword 'American first,' for it involves four sets of obligations."

"It involves our obligations to great foreign powers; it involves the obligations of all Americans on the coast to American states and their peoples. But it also involves the obligations of that group of states to the nation."

Dangers in Racial Differences
"There is abundant evidence of the dangers which lurk in racial differences. I do not say racial inequalities—I say racial differences. I am ever ready to recognize that the civilization of the Orient is older than ours, that her peoples have their proud and honorable traditions."

"In spite of the honor of these Oriental peoples, and in spite of their contributions to the world's advancement, it is conceivable that they may be so different in racial characteristics, or in manner of life or practice from other peoples of equal honor and achievement, that no matter whether it be on the soil of one or upon the soil of the other, these differences, without raising any question of inferiority, superiority or inequality, may create as I believe they have created upon our Pacific coast, without blame to either side, a friction that must be recognized."

"The nation owes it to the Pacific coast to recognize that fact. The nation owes it to the Pacific states to stand behind them in necessary measures consistent with our national honor, to relieve them of their difficulties."

"The problem incident to racial differences must be accepted as one existing in fact and must be adequately met for the future security and tranquility of our people. We have learned during the anxieties of world war the necessity of making the citizenship of this republic, not only American in heart and soul but American in every sympathy and every aspiration."

"No one can tranquilly contemplate the future of this republic without an anxiety for abundant provision for admission to our shores of only the immigrant who can be assimilated and thoroughly imbued with the American spirit."

Haven of the Oppressed
"From the beginning of the republic America has been a haven to the oppressed and the aspiring from all the corners of the earth. We have opened our doors freely and have given to the people of the world who came to us the fullness of American opportunity and political liberty. We have come to that stage of our development where we have learned that the obligations of citizenship of necessity must be answered by those who accept the grant of American opportunity."

"From this time on we are more concerned with the making of citizens than we are with adding to the man-power of industry or the additional human units in our varied activities."

"As a people and a nation, as Governor Stephens has said, we do have the moral, the natural and the legal international rights to determine who shall or shall not enter into our country and participate in our activities."

"With a new realization of the necessity of developing a soul distinctly American in this republic we favor such modification of our immigration laws and such changes in our international understanding and such a policy relating to those who come among us, as will guarantee to the citizens of this republic not only assimilation of alien born, but the adoption, by all who come, of American standards, economic and otherwise, and a full consecration to American practices and ideals."

Republicans Win Maine by 65,000

The first evidence of a tremendous Republican sweep, Democratic state leaders were struck as to the possible significance of the vote with relation to the presidential election in November. Colonel Parkhurst, after being assured by the Republicans in a statement in which he pointed out that the campaign had been "vigorously contested by the Democrats on a national issue," said the outcome gave "most conclusive evidence that the voters of Maine resent the autocratic and un-American administration of the Harding and Coolidge."

State Issues Ignored
Matters of merely state importance were hardly touched upon in the campaign. The leading speakers were men of national prominence, both parties striving to effect a good showing in the "barometer" state, the only state in the Union to hold its state election in the month of September. For the Republicans, addresses were delivered by Governor Coolidge, vice presidential nominee; Senator Lodge, Senator Frothingham and others. The Democrats sent into the state Franklin D. Roosevelt, candidate for Vice President; Secretary Daniels, former Secretary McAdoo and Homer S. Cummings, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee. The chief theme of all these speakers was the League of Nations, upon which they upheld their respective national party platforms.

The only woman who was a candidate for public office at the election yesterday was defeated. Mrs. Margaret Dyer, of Bar Harbor, was the Democratic candidate for register of probate in Hancock county. She was nominated to fill a vacancy on the Democratic ticket and as her name did not appear on the ballot it was necessary for those voting for her to write in her name.

DANIELS STILL SEES HOPE FOR NOVEMBER

Washington, Sept. 14.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels, who made speeches in Maine for the Democratic ticket, commented upon the election there last night in a statement which said that the "majority for state officers in September does not foreshadow anything as to the November result."

"The vote in the Monday election does not indicate the strength of the sentiment in favor of the League of Nations in Maine," he said. "Some of the ablest men in the state hold me that in a straight League-of-Nations referendum in November Cox and Roosevelt could carry the state on the question, unaffected by state issues, if that issue was presented directly to all the voters of the state."

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 14.—A second Democratic state-wide primary, neces-itated by the failure of any of the candidates for the senate and house committees, and J. F. Auer, chairman of the Philadelphia traveling salesmen's committee, issued statements today declaring that the Republican sweep of the landslide in November for Harding and Coolidge.

"The Maine victory," said Mr. Folwell, "was remarkable. It is particularly significant that the largest percentage of women voted the Republican ticket."

A similar statement was issued by Mr. Auer.

Mr. Auer announced that a meeting of traveling salesmen would be held tomorrow afternoon at Room 600 Drexel Building to make arrangements for the pilgrimage of traveling men to Marion, on September 24, when they will be addressed by Senator Harding.

In this connection Mr. Auer charged that the present Democratic administration is discriminating under the priority act against Republican firms.

In support of this Mr. Auer quoted from a letter by E. H. Mortimer, of the R. J. Larmier Co.

"We want Senator Harding to know," wrote Mr. Mortimer, "that business everywhere is suffering because of the refusal of the present administration to arrange an equitable allocation of cars. Men are selling goods today and trusting to good fortune that they will be delivered on time. Every-

FOUR STATES HAVE PRIMARIES TODAY

Denver, Col., Sept. 14.—(By A. P.)—Colorado voters today are passing their verdict on a bitter primary election campaign. Candidates for United States senators, congressmen, judge of the Supreme Court and state and county officers are to be named.

In Denver interest centered largely in the Republican three-cornered senatorial fight, the bitterness of which resulted yesterday in a Supreme Court order appointing special watchers in the Denver downtown district where supporters of Samuel D. Nicholson, Denver and Leadville banker and mining man, charged the city officials were planning to pile up a big plurality for Karl Schuyler, Denver attorney. The third candidate is Rice W. Means, overseas war veteran.

Justice Tully Scott, of the Supreme Court, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate against William U. Danks.

New Orleans, Sept. 14.—(By A. P.)—Nominees for the United States Senate and Congress are being selected today by Louisiana Democrats in a state-wide primary, three candidates seeking the seat of Senator Gay, who is not a candidate for re-election, while all of the state's eight representatives in Congress are seeking renomination except Representative Jared Y. Sanders, of the Sixth district, who is one of the senatorial candidates.

Sanders' opponents are Donelson Caffery, of New Orleans, and E. S. Broussard, of New Iberia.

Three of the seven representatives who are out for re-election have no opposition in today's primaries. They are W. P. Martin, Riley J. Wilson and Ladislo Leman, of the Third, Fifth and Seventh districts, respectively. In the Sixth district former Representative George K. Fayrot and Amos L. Pondexter are candidates to succeed Representative Sanders.

WOULDN'T ROB G.O.P. OF JOY

Democratic Chairman Picks Out November to Rejoice
New York, Sept. 14.—(By A. P.)—Commenting on the result of yesterday's election in Maine, George White, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, today issued the following statement:

"This is the Republicans' day of rejoicing. They planned, labored and paid for it, and I would not by any utterance of mine rob them of any of their meed of joy. With a splendid organization and with the expenditure of every effort possible to great finances, they have prepared the Republican state of Maine for this state election in the hope of persuading the country that the trend is heavily Republican in the national race."

"We shall have votes for the league in November from thousands of the men and women who supported Colonel Parkhurst. On a certain morning in November our time for rejoicing will come, and in the meantime we gaze cheerfully upon today's Republican demonstration and do not begrudge it to them at all."

various pretexts upon which the coal men will seek to retain the money, over and above the amount required to pay back wages, now in their possession. The workmen's compensation act will doubtless figure in it, increased rentals and the increase in the miners' wages, and half a score of other seemingly valid excuses."

In fact the workmen's compensation act has already been utilized as an excuse to increase the price of coal to the public.

When President Wilson appointed the Anthracite Coal Commission, consisting of W. O. Thompson, representing the public, W. L. Connell, representing the operators, and Neal Ferry, representing the miners or employes, it was reasonably supposed that all facts involved

FOUND MAN HANGING

The body of a seventy-year-old man was found hanging from the banisters on the second floor of a vacant house at 1635 Callowhill street last night. The body was identified by a letter in a pocket as that of Frank Cushman. His address has not yet been determined. The body was first sent to the Haberman Hospital by police of the Tenth and Buttonwood streets station and later removed to the morgue. The police say the man committed suicide.

Too Little Philadelphia Money Is Invested in Philadelphia

We appeal to every individual and corporation with funds to invest to help finance the future growth of Philadelphia, for Homes, Commercial Properties and Factories cannot be built without help in financing them.

All Trust Companies, Savings Funds, Fire and Life Insurance Companies, located in Philadelphia should invest more of their money in Philadelphia—from whose citizens they receive it.

These companies should consider Mortgages when they are investing. For it is a civic duty to Philadelphia, no less than a business duty, to invest in this most staple form of security.

We request the Public, and all patrons of financial institutions to urge the loaning of their money for the growth of Philadelphia, so we may have a "Greater and a Better City."

Although Stocks and Bonds have depreciated, Mortgages have not. Philadelphia Mortgages are worth 100 per cent!
