Annual Tour by Department Officials Shows Great Progress

Made in Year

By a Staff Correspondent Scranton, Pa., Sept. 23 .- The firs day's trip of the annual inspection tour of the State Highway Department has shown conclusively the progress made in the campaign to give Pennsylvania he best system of state roads in the nited States.

Officials of the department who are making the three-day tour were delighted with the results shown in the much traveled regions surrounding Delaware Water Gap and through the Pocono mountains. Despite a shortage of cars which has held back construction on the traveled for the last tion on the state's roads for the last two years, work has so far been com-pleted that few, if any, stretches of in-ferior roads exist between Allentown, Stroudsburg and Scranton.

A. E. H. Smith, district engineer, o. Allentown, declared that one of the greatest problems now confronting tue highway department is that, of grade crossings, of which there are between 10,000 and 12,000 in the state.

Expense Is Heavy "The number of wrecks and fatal accidents occurring at grade crossings every year," declared Mr. Smith, "make it imperative that they be eliminated, but when it is realized that with the annual appropriations not more than fifteen can be done away with every year, it is easy to see how a problem it is that we must face.

One three-mile stretch of the Allen-town-Pottstown road, lying between Allentown and Emaus, served as a good example of the expense attached to the abolition of grade crossings. Instead of repairing the old road at this point, which would have necessitated the climination of two grade crossings, the Highway Department relocated the road so as to avoid the railroad tracks extirely. The cost of building an enire new stretch of road amounted to $106,000, whereas the repairing of the old road, together with the work at the grade crossings would have cost the state nearly $150,000. Department officials believe a similar saving of ex-pense can be effected by the building of entirely new roads so as to avoid grade crossings wherever possible.

Concrete is Favored

Concrete has been proved the best road material, in the opinion of the state highway officials, who pointed with particular pride to the almost perfect stretches of road from Allentown to the Water Gap, and again from the Pocono mountains to Scranton, all of which have been completed within the later to the completed within the last two years, and which are almost as smooth as glass. Pennsylvania, which leads all the states in counties of the state, will extend to-day from Scranton across the entire state to Chambersburg. A conference with State Commissioner of Highways Lewis Sadler has been arranged at the commissioner in Carliele. commissioner's home in Carlisle.

Among the officials making the trip

Among the officials making the trip are William A. Vanduser, engineer in charge of maintenance; E. A. Smith, C. E. Myers, district engineer, of Phil-adelphia; H. A. Hilts, principal as-sistant engineer, and Benjamin G. Eron, registrar of motor vehicles.
