

DRY AGENTS' TRAP GETS LIQUOR MEN

Pretend to Sell Protection and Seize Booze Worth $158,000 in Transit

SIX ARE CAUGHT BY PLOT

The federal raid here on two whiskey-laden trucks which resulted in the arrest of eight men and the confiscation of twenty-five barrels and 250 cases of whiskey last night, was part of a plan which extended to Perth Amboy, N. J., where 188 barrels and 962 cases were confiscated.

By the same plan, in which prohibition law violators were "framed" in the belief they had federal protection, according to Assistant Chief John Crowley, $158,000 worth of liquor was seized on Saturday.

The plot began, he said, when two men, giving their names as Nazareth Brand and Benjamin Rosati, of Trenton, approached Joseph Adams, an agent there, and asked him to guarantee protection for the delivery in this state of twenty-five barrels and 1000 cases of whiskey hidden near Trenton.

Ordered by Crowley to go into the scheme to trap the men, Adams agreed. He told them he would get Joseph Brown, an agent stationed here, to help him. With the supposed protection, liquor was transported from Trenton to this city last Saturday.

Adams drove one of the trucks. He told where the whiskey was hidden and the same day $158,000 worth was seized from the store of A. Marano, 748 South Seventh street. The remainder of the consignment, four barrels and twenty-seven cases was confiscated in a Sydenham street garage.

H. E. Sands, a special agent from Washington, then was assigned to the case. Crowley said. Sands went to Trenton and was introduced to Brandi and Rosati by Adams. Sands said he was a saloonkeeper here and wanted to buy whiskey. The two agreed to get it for him, the agents said.

The whiskey, according to Crowley, was obtained in the garage of Frank Gold in Perth Amboy, the two Trenton men paying $28,000 cash for it. Sands told them his agent would meet the trucks with the liquor at the Roosevelt Boulevard and Rhawn street last night. Crowley kept the appointment, but instead of the $30,000 he was scheduled to take, took a bag of paper. Then, when the trucks were stopped, agents in hiding, along with the Rev. Robert E. Johnson, pastor of the Twenty-ninth Street M. E. Church, "jumped" the outfit.

The whiskey was confiscated. It was protected by six armed men. All, including Rosati and Brandi, were arrested and given a hearing before United States Commissioner Long in City Hall last night.

The six alleged "gunmen" gave their names as Samuel Brody, Armand Marlon, Vincent Danon, Peter Fisher, John Mallon and Daniel Widow, all of Trenton. They will get another hearing before United States Commissioner Manly this afternoon.

BOY CAUGHT IN SWEEPER

Severely Injured in Odd Accident by Street Machine

Caught by the big revolving brush of a horse-drawn street sweeper, Ralph Blakemore, six years old, was dragged more than thirty feet yesterday afternoon and suffered lacerations, bruises and internal injuries. He is at the Frankford Hospital in a critical condition. The boy, who lives at 1740 Harrison street, was playing in front of the Henry Herbert School, at Frankford avenue and Foulkrod street, when he either fell or was pushed on the wiry bristles of the cleaner.

The driver, David Gaffney, of 3003 Melvale street, told the police that he did not distinguish the boy's cries from the other noises made by the school children. He will have a hearing this morning before Magistrate Costello.

SEXES EQUAL NOW, SAYS MISS THOMAS

Tells Bryn Mawr Students at College Opening Suffrage Means Advancement

UNVEIL ANTHONY PORTRAIT

"The people of the United States are tragically mistaken in thinking that the League of Nations is not a very real thing already in operation. It profits no one country. It is for the benefit of all."

"If we stand aloof we shall, I believe, lose the great world position we have won and betray the touching faith of all those far off."

This plea for the League of Nations was made this morning by Miss M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr College, at the opening chapel exercises of the college in Taylor Hall.

Miss Thomas was enthusiastically greeted by about 300 student girls. Miss Thomas also spoke of the recently inaugurated woman suffrage. She said:

"This is a great joy to me that suffrage has come to the American woman curing my absence. Woman suffrage means everything to women themselves and to the states. It means equal pay for equal work in all government, state and city positions, and in all public supported university and school positions. It means that sex will be no bar to women's holding the highest positions in the future. It means that married women will no longer be discriminated against."

Unveil Anthony Portrait

At the end of the exercises a large portrait of Susan B. Anthony, the suffrage pioneer, was unveiled by a niece of Miss Anthony, Miss Lucy Anthony. It was accepted by Miss Thomas on behalf of the institution.

The presentation speech was made by Miss Elizabeth Upham Yates, donor of the portrait. Professor George A. Barton, professor of Biblical literature, delivered the prayer.

Today's address by Miss Thomas was his first presence before the college since her return from nearly a year's sojourn in Europe, Palestine and Egypt. During her absence last year the acting president was Miss Helen Taft, now Mrs. Frederick Manning, daughter of former President Taft.

Others of the faculty who have recently returned from extended tours abroad are Prof. Roy Smith, who traveled around the world and devoted considerable study to the economic situation in China and India. Prof. Georgian Gouldard King, who has been studying the history of art in Spain and Greece.

Students From Abroad

Of the new arrivals the most interesting is the group of students receiving scholarships from abroad. There are nine in all, four from the British isles, three from France, one each from Spain and Scandinavia.

While yesterday was officially registration day at Bryn Mawr it was also "welcome day" with impromptu parties in the dormitories where the girls welcomed old friends and new with cordial greetings.

Veritable mountains of trunks at the railroad depot and all kinds of conveniences going collegeward were the practical evidence of a girls' college. Where one battered suitcase usually carries the male student's wardrobe, at least three trunks and many bags are necessary for mademoiselle's school outfit. Bunches of gay girl students seening Bryn Mawr also marked the opening of college for 1920.

Miss Thomas today announced these additions to the faculty:

Claude Gill, A. B., of London University, associate professor of French philology; Cyril Armstrong, A. B., of Cambridge University, lecturer in Greek; Miss Amphylis Middlemore, a graduate of Oxford university, instructor in English composition; Miss Gladys Boone, a graduate of Birmingham University, instructor in social economy and social research; and Miss Katharine Liddell, Bryn Mawr, 1916, instructor in English composition.

"A GOOD deal of the difficulty today is due to the changing conditions—conditions which we do not seem to have recognized. Chief among these have been the changes in internal relationship."

"Less than a generation ago, I remember, 'the Boss' used to go through the shop, calling the workers by their first names, inquiring about everyone's work, shifting a man who wasn't contented to another job where he would be happier, and so on. "FARMERS' DAY" DRAWS BIG CROWD

Thousands Enjoy Varied Attractions at Trenton Interstate Exhibition

Trenton, Sept. 29.—"Farmers' Day" at the Interstate Fair today brought thousands of visitors from the rural sections of New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The agricultural, livestock, machinery, poultry and other exhibition buildings were crowded all morning.

The midway attractions are proving popular. Thousands packed the walk in front of the many shows and rides, and as many more found their way inside the canvas tops.

The animal show was a scene of constant thrills. Leopards and other species being put through intricate formations and acrobatic stunts. An interesting novelty was a baby leopard of the spotted Persian family, born in the show a few weeks ago. It was exhibited on the outside by Princess Tessie, the principal woman trainer. A scoubt between Captain Hillbrunner and an untamed Nubian lioness was the big thrill of the show, and a bucking mule net afforded a good share of laughter.

The motor show, with Miss Olive Hager and Captain Hartley as the feature riders, was not behind in thrills. Harry Haines also was a clever rider.

"Today, with our greater volume and higher pressure, such close personal contact is hardly possible. Still, the executive must KNOW his men if he is to keep them happy, if he is to minimize the losses due to labor turnover, if he is to reduce sick leave, if he is to increase the value of his workers by proper training for 'the job ahead,' and, above all, if he is to speed-up production."

"And it IS possible to do this—it is possible to have the right man in the right place at the right time. It requires having at your fingers' ends all knowledge of your men,—their jobs, their abilities, their lives. These facts—instantly accessible—will enable you to make the decisions, the changes that will avoid labor discontent and restore the day's work to something like its former quantity and value."

SOCIALIST WRITERS BARRED BY COLBY

Paul Hanna Ousted From Conferences for Making Charges Against Secretary

VIEWS ON NEWS INVOLVED

By the Associated Press

Washington, Sept. 29.—Secretary Colby announced today that Paul Hanna, correspondent of the New York Call, a Socialist newspaper, and Lawrence Todd, associated with Mr. Hanna in the Federated Press Bureau, would not be permitted in the future to attend the daily conferences which the secretary holds with the newspaper correspondents.

The announcement was made at the regular morning conference with the correspondents and after the secretary had read a letter written by Mr. Hanna to Fred A. Emery, head of the information bureau of the State Department.

Mr. Hanna charged in the letter that Mr. Colby was using the conferences with the newspaper men as a means of inspiring the press with views of his own and that he also had put wrong interpretations on the news, especially that relating to the Polish-Russian situation.

Mr. Emery was asked in the letter to obtain from Mr. Colby a statement in defense of the charges, so that it might be published along with the original accusations.

The secretary of state told the correspondents that his whole object in holding conferences with them was to aid them in obtaining accurate information and to co-operate in furnishing international news to the American public.

He asked the correspondents whether they thought Mr. Hanna's charges justified, and H. C. McMullen, a correspondent of the New York Evening Evening Post, expressed the opinion that they were, but he added that he did not mean to impugn the secretary's integrity nor to appear in the light of supporting the charges.

Mr. Hanna was not present at the conference, but was represented by Mr. Todd, who left the meeting immediately after the secretary announced that he and Mr. Hanna would not be permitted to attend the gatherings in the future.

TWO PHILA. MEN TO SHARE IN MILLION DOLLAR ESTATE

Riffert Heirs Reach Compromise for Use of Valuable Coal Lands and Will Drop Long Lawsuit

Two Philadelphians, one of whom is studying for the degree of doctor of philosophy at the University of Pennsylvania, will share with relatives in coal lands near Mount Carmel, Pa., valued at $1,000,000 as the result of a compromise in a lawsuit.

They are the Rev. William Wallace Bancroft, who lives with his niece at 3853 North Fifteenth street, and Raymond H. Riffert, a wholesale candy dealer, of 2504 Lehigh avenue. The former was graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary last June. He is now seeking a doctor's degree at the University. His father is the Rev. William H. Bancroft.

The Philadelphia beneficiaries are among the descendants of a pioneer American family which settled in Mount Carmel, in 1814. This family held an old deed executed more than a century ago on buckskin which came into the possession of John Riffert and his wife, who was Elizabeth Brobst. The land was then a wilderness.

Later coal was discovered on the land and six profitable collieries are now being operated on the original Riffert tract. The companies which occupied the lands without the consent of the heirs have offered to compromise the claims.

Mr. Riffert said the heirs have been offered $250,000 for one of the tracts, but refused. Mrs. Byron Phillips, one of the claimants, was given power of attorney by the heirs to press their claims and for years she has done so.

An attorney has instructions to push immediate suits against the coal companies if the negotiations now in progress are not successful. Among the collieries include the Natalie, Black Diamond, Alliance and Sioux collieries. Most of the lands in dispute are located in Northumberland county and in the last twenty years some of the leading coal companies of the low anthracite regions have established their collieries upon them.

Among the Riffert heirs are Mrs. Rebecca Wink, of Reading; Andrew Riffert, of Lehigh; William of Dauphin and Lincoln, of Bound Brook, N. J.; John and Harry Riffert, the Rev. Oliver Johns and the Rev. Howard J. Jones and Raymond Riffert, of Reading; Sylvanus Jones, of Weatherly, Pa.; Walter Jones, of Newing, N. J.; the heirs of Mary Jane Boyce, of Atterton, Pa., and survivors of Mrs. Mary Stump, near Reading, Pa.

Three Hurt in Trolley Collision

Two trolley cars were in collision at Twenty-third and South streets last night and three persons were slightly hurt. They are Mrs. Dora Hoffman, of 908 Christian street; Mrs. Mary Cazin, of 1755 Lindenwood avenue, and Sigurd Balin, of 911 South Fifth street. All were taken to the Poly-clinic Hospital. The police said the accident was unavoidable.

Mayor Reports Bad Meats

The attention of A. Lincoln Acker, the city's purchasing agent, was called by Mayor Moore to several complaints he had received about bad meats and poultry that had been served at several of the municipal institutions. Mr. Acker conferred with the contractors for meat and poultry supplies and advised them to be more careful in the future. He also discussed the matter with the inspectors. The purchasing agent said that occasionally owing to weather conditions and other causes, bad meat would slip in, but generally it was detected and rejected.

The three priests were allowed by the Gloucester immigration officials to proceed to their homes. Brothers Engelen and F. von Meil were also released from the Gloucester detention house.

Seven Children Mourn at Funeral of Father and Uncle

Seven children of Martin Klowbaky, of 806 North Thirteenth street, attended his funeral today, when he and his brother Julian, victims of an automobile accident, were buried at 10 o'clock this morning. Martin Klowbaky's wife and another, both almost prostrated by grief, were present also.

Martin Klowbaky was thirty-five years old and his brother was twenty-five. Martin was a navy yard machinist's helper, and lived with Julian at the Thirteenth street address. Three other brothers survive, one of them being Constable Jake Gilman, half brother; another is Patrol Sergeant Alec Klowbaky, of the Eighth district, and the third Eugene. The brothers were among the pallbearers.

The funeral was held from an undertaking establishment on Broad street below Diamond. Rabbi Feldman, of the Church of Israel, Broad and Columbia avenue, conducted the services and interment was at Har Nebo Cemetery.

DELANY LOSES Supreme Court Dismisses Third District Election Case

The Supreme Court at Pittsburgh has dismissed the suit of Charles Delany, defeated candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in the Third Congressional district of this city, and ruled it has no power to conduct an election where a seat in Congress is involved.

Mr. Delany was defeated for the Republican nomination by former Sheriff Harry C. Ransley. He contended he had been deprived of the nomination and that fraud had been committed. The Quarter Sessions Court had previously refused to hear the contest on the ground that it lacked jurisdiction, and an appeal was taken.

Former Sheriff Ransley was the Vice opponent of Mr. Delany for the nomination to succeed Mayor Moore as congressman from the Third district.
