

MEXICAN CHARGES OIL INTRIGUE IN U. S.

Petroleum Interests Plot Against Mexico in Divers Ways, Asserts Agent

TO REPORT TO DE LA HUERTA

By the Associated Press Mexico City, Oct. 14.—Charges that the petroleum intrigue has been unable to reach the White House and has turned its attention to the Department of State, which is overrun by lobbyists representing interests working against Mexico in petroleum, political and divers other matters, are made by Roberto Pesquera, personal representative in the United States of Provisional President de la Huerta, in a statement issued last night. This statement, said Senor Pesquera, embodies a report he will make to the provisional president.

Senor Pesquera, who also is Mexican financial agent in the United States, with headquarters in New York, has just returned to Mexico after a two months' tour in the United States. Incidentally his report denies that any friction exists between him and Fernando Iglesias (Gibson), Mexican representative at Washington.

The report made public by Senor Pesquera asserts that there are two main groups in the United States which are most active in opposition to Mexico. The first of these groups, it declares, comprises the "coyotes," including the speculators and money brokers who have acquired ill-gotten gains under the various factions which have contended for power in Mexico, but are now banished by the new order of things in Mexico and who have flooded the Washington hotels and State Department corridors in unceasing hostility to Mexico.

The second group, the report alleges, comprises "an association of oil operators which has also carried on an active campaign against Mexico but which has shown a willingness to wait until Mexico decides her petroleum difficulties equitably."

The report starts by saying that Secretary Davis are "friends of justice," proceeds with a eulogy of President Wilson, and refers to the White House as "a fortress which towers above human failings and misdeeds of intrigue." It asserts, however, that the lobbyists are "all striving together toward the same end, of preventing the Washington and Mexico City governments coming to an understanding with the hope of a Republican victory in the United States and every expectation of that party's administration leading itself as an instrument of their purposes."

The statement denies rumors that the new Mexican Government intends to start a period of persecution of the Catholic Church.

Senor Pesquera expects to return to the United States Friday. A rumor is in circulation that he has been appointed Mexican representative in Washington, succeeding Senor Calderon, who is returning here to assume his duties as senator.

The man was Samuel Tempore Longman, sales manager for a large paint house in Maiden Lane.

His youthful widow, Rose Hollman Longman, is contesting his will, which leaves her $5000 and divides the remainder of his $150,000 estate between his son and daughter, children of his first marriage.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—(By A. P.)—Five election officials, four of them women, have been removed from office by the board of election commissioners after hearing complaints of six women members of the Three Arts Club, who on Tuesday were refused the right to register. The officials discharged were two Democratic judges, both women; a Republican judge, a Republican woman clerk and Democratic woman clerk.

Complaints were made that they had refused to permit the members of the club to register when they admitted in answer to questions that they were not entirely self-supporting. The commissioners announced they would place on their registry books the names of club women who are students of music, art and the drama.

Reports that his confession had been made public too soon brought forth rumors that important witnesses had been able to escape, but this was denied by government officials. They said all the men named by Sadler were being watched night and day. District Attorney Clegg, however, said there had been a "leak" in making public the announcement of the confession, and declared efforts were being made to find out who was responsible. Sadler said today that he was ready to tell all he knew.

a quarter international race which Man O' War won in 2 minutes and 30 seconds, an offer of $400,000 was made Mr. Riddle for the steed for breeding in Canada. This was refused, although Mr. Riddle announced then that Man O' War had run his last race on any track.

"It's wonderful," declared Mrs. Riddle. "Just wonderful. Man O' War ran true to color and the outcome was not in doubt for a moment."

"The excitement at the track was more tense than I've ever seen. After Mr. Riddle was presented with the gold cup we filled it with water and let Man O' War drink out of it. Think of it, a chestnut horse drinking out of a solid gold cup!"

"I am hoarse from shouting, but I wouldn't have missed the race for the world. It was just wonderful, wonderful, and no other word explains it." Returning by way of Harrisburg to Glen Riddle, which is sixteen miles from Philadelphia, the special was met at many points by enthusiasts who cheered the victorious party. The special was delayed almost two hours in reaching its final destination.

Glen Riddle has his holiday clothes on in honor of Man O' War who placed the town on the racing map. Many of the houses are bedecked in the gold and black colors of the wonderful three-year-old and flags are unfurled by the score on the highways leading to and from the Riddle home.

The palatial house is a mass of flowers and color. When the merry party entered a score of telegrams were handed Mr. Riddle from happy friends and enthusiastic followers of the race track.

One telegram was from Chauncey Olcott, the noted tenor. Another was from

J. O. Keene, offering $50,000 for a challenge race to be run on the Lotaonia track.

"Nothing doing," was Mr. Riddle's answer as he handed the telegram to his wife. Adorning the rooms are pictures of Man O' War and other horses owned by Mr. Riddle. Cups, trophies and other insignia are about the country home which is a "love nest" if there ever was one.

Man O' War will winter at Mr. Riddle's stables in Berlin, Md.

2-ton, 3 1/2-ton, 5-ton Dual Valve Trucks Save 3 vital things:

Road Time—by greater power and speed. Operating Costs—by gasoline economy. Shop Time—by accessibility—minimum repairs.

THE Dual Valve means more power, more speed, avoiding road delays—doing more work, making more trips, earning more—at an actual lower operating cost. The saving of gasoline, the power yielded per gallon is surprising. Pierce-Arrow Dual Valve trucks are surpassing performers.

MAXIMUM efficiency is attained only by keeping trucks steadily running. Sturdy building keeps them out of the shop: accessibility of parts gets them back on the road with the least loss of time. Labor cost is reduced materially by eliminating unnecessary work—and experienced truckmen know labor cost is the biggest expense of maintenance.
