

STANDING IN HEART OF "SOLID SOUTH"

Republican Nominee Promises to Safeguard Interests of People in Dixie

OLD-TIME TARIFF URGED

On Board Senator Harding's Special Train, Oct. 14.—After his one-day invasion of Tennessee, Senator Harding was on his way today to Louisville, Ky., where he is to speak tonight.

The Republican nominee left Chattanooga late last night after delivering addresses in the Grand Auditorium and to an overflow crowd in the street outside.

The senator spent most of today traveling through the mountains, which normally belongs to the "Solid South." At numerous stops he made brief talks from the rear platform of his train, urging southern voters to support the Republican tickets at the coming election.

Senator Harding's address last night was a thoroughgoing campaign effort, and it got across with the 7000 persons first, because of the serious and sincere manner in which he pointed out the dangers of the tariff.

Strangely enough, it was the doctrine of the old-fashioned Republican tariff that had the greatest appeal for the throng gathered in the Chattanooga tabernacle. It was the old-fashioned Republican tariff that had the greatest appeal for the throng gathered in the Chattanooga tabernacle.

COX CHARGES PLOT TO BETRAY PEOPLE

Sees Plan of "Conspirators" to Spurn Public's Mandate on League

ATTACKS TAFT'S STAND

By the Associated Press. Vanwert, Oct. 14.—A new line of attack upon former President Taft's position upon the League of Nations was made today by Governor Cox in opening a three-day campaign in his home state.

Referring to Judge Taft's statement that even in the event of Governor Cox's election there could remain enough Republican senators to defeat the treaty, the Democratic presidential candidate here today declared this indicated a plan to disregard a decision in the "league referendum."

"This can mean only one thing," said Governor Cox, "that when I am elected on a straightforward platform favoring the league it is the purpose of the brazen conspirators in the Senate to treat the mandate of the people with contempt and turn their backs on the expressed will of the electorate."

"On the other hand," the governor continued, "if the candidate of the senatorial oligarchy were to be elected because he favors staying out of the league and then after his assumption of office were to turn about-face and propose entering the league, what would be the popular mandate and the referendum then? What would Borah and Johnson say, and what would the voters of the country think about such repudiation of their will?"

"The time is now for us to remind ourselves and think seriously of the fact that the government of the United States is in government by the people," Senator Harding stated, "and it is the duty of every citizen to see that the government is not run by a few men who are not ready to have their government scrapped by a deceitful band of political schemers."

Governor Cox reiterated that he favored "going into the League of Nations with the Hitchcock reservations or any others that are offered in good faith to further the peace process and that do not have the purpose of destruction."

"It has been apparent," the governor continued, "that the entire purpose of this senatorial clique has been destruction of the league and repudiation of the purposes for which we entered the war."

"America has 40,000,000 voters who are getting sick and tired of the purposefully created doubt and uncertainty in the government," said Governor Cox, "and it is the duty of every citizen to see that the government is not run by a few men who are not ready to have their government scrapped by a deceitful band of political schemers."

Small boats manned with two and three persons dragged the Schuylkill river at Ivy Rock, near Norristown, yesterday in an effort to find the body of the kidnaped child.

INSPECTORS "RAID" VENDING MACHINES

Bureau of Weights Men Put Labels on Those That Don't Produce

Thirty inspectors of the Bureau of Weights and Measures are today vending out labels on those machines which are not producing the correct weight.

The campaign to round up the defective machines follows numerous complaints that many machines in which pennies are inserted do not produce chewing gum, chocolate, peanuts or what ever wares are advertised.

George F. Holmes, chairman of the county commission, said the laws relative to vending machines are being enforced. He said he did not believe the slot-machine owners were making a deliberate attempt to defraud.

But it is a very repugnant form of dishonesty on their part," he said, "since the heaviest losers are children."

ACCUSED MOTHER WEEPS FOR BABIES

Denies Deserting Little Ones, Declaring She Sought Way to Support Them

HUSBAND ALSO IS JAILED

Caught in a web of circumstances which made her weep today in Central Station, where she was held for deserting her five children, a mother was held back the cell room while the children, the youngest nine months old, were crying for her.

The children were in a Camden boarding house while Mrs. Hanley, Hanley's mother, was facing Magistrate Meekery in City Hall. Thomas Hanley, the father, was held without bail for extradition to New Jersey.

Hanley is alleged to have deserted his wife and children three weeks ago. In some way, he heard his wife had been arrested in this city. He hurried from Troy, N. Y., and appeared in the city with the roll room in City Hall last night to plead for her release.

Hanley begged detectives to lock him in a cell in place of his wife, who had been arrested in Craner Hill, on Spruce street near twelfth. He was arrested on a warrant but freedom for his wife was refused.

Mrs. Hanley, an attractive woman, twenty-seven years old, sobbed today as she told of her struggle to maintain the children after her husband had left her. She had brought them to a boarding house in Camden, on the outskirts of Camden, and had obtained work in a local store at $13 a week.

Finally, she said, the strain became too great. She obtained a room in this city with the intention of getting better paying work and then sending for her children. The boarding housekeeper, meanwhile, had sworn out warrants charging the Hanleys with desertion of their children.

"My heart was broken when I left my babies," she told the magistrate, "but I hoped to get more money so I could support them."

Hanley's husband and father, refused to enlighten detectives concerning his disappearance three weeks ago.

MRS. OGDEN MILLS. Prominent society woman in America and abroad, who died at Paris.

MRS. OGDEN MILLS DIES

New York Society Matron Succumbs to Heart Disease in Paris. New York, Oct. 14.—Word was received here today of the death in Paris Tuesday of Mrs. Ogden Mills, long prominent in society in New York, Newport and Paris. Her death resulted from heart disease following a recent illness from pleurisy.

Mrs. Mills, before her marriage, was Miss Ruth Livingston. Besides her husband, she is survived by one son, former State Senator Ogden L. Mills, and two daughters, Lady Granard, of London, and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phelps, of New York.

Mrs. Mills was long prominent in society. Shortly after her marriage she became one of the grandes dames of New York and Newport and no less a figure in the aristocratic circles of Europe.

Since the death of Mrs. William Astor no one in New York had more nearly approached the position of social arbiter than Mrs. Mills. Her characteristics as a hostess never altered; she did not believe in easily letting down the bars to newcomers or to new methods and manners of entertaining, one criterion of her small invitation list during a certain Newport season asserting that she was determined to reduce the "400" to "150."

The President knows at first hand many of the things as yet untold in connection with the early period of the war, before the United States entered it, and has copies of the communications that passed between this government and Germany, other information that he probably would require of an file in the archives of the State Department.

The President is enjoying these pleasant October days in drives in an open victoria. The other day he appeared in a top hat and a cloak while on one of his drives.

DANIELS TO REPLY ON HAITI CHARGES

General Lejeune, Refusing to Comment, Says Secretary Will Issue Statement

PROBE ASKED BY NEGROES

Washington, Oct. 14.—Major General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the two Marine Corps privates who were tried for killing captive Haitian bandits executed by the prisoners on orders of their commanding officer, Lieutenant H. T. Brokaw, who subsequently was adjudged insane and removed from the service. The privates were acquitted, the general said.

Evidence adduced at the trial of the two men led to an investigation of what Brigadier General Barnett, then commandant of the corps, characterized as "indiscriminate killing" of Haitians. General Lejeune declined to discuss the result of the investigation which General Barnett ordered last year immediately after examining the evidence adduced at the trial of the two men.

Secretary Daniels yesterday on Marine Corps operations in Haiti up to last June 30. General Lejeune said Secretary Daniels probably would have a statement to make on his return to Washington tomorrow.

LAUNCH DESTROYER TODAY

King to Slide Into Water at New York Shipyard. At the New York shipyard, Camden, this afternoon the United States torpedoed and destroyed the second King, the late Commander Frank A. King, who was killed in service during the late war, will be launched.

The launching will be a quiet affair, and the sponsor will be Mrs. Alice A. King, widow of the commander. She will be accompanied by a number of relatives. At the shipyard she will be joined by a delegation of naval attachés, including Fleet Admiral R. E. Hall and Captain Roberts. The sponsor and her guests arrived in Philadelphia last night.

When it enters the water the destroyer will be fully equipped, even to its wireless apparatus, and ready for its dock trial. There is but one other destroyer of the fleet on the ways, and that is the Childs, which will be launched completed two weeks from today. All of the others of the fleet have been launched and all delivered with the exception of four, which are ready for commission.
