

URGES NEW VOTERS TO AID DEMOCRATS

Mrs. E. P. Davis Declares Party Will Make Big Gains in Philadelphia

MAKES PENROSE TARGET

"There is going to be a strong women's vote in Philadelphia and I shall be much astonished if the Democrats do not make an important impression on the Republican vote here," Mrs. Edward P. Davis, of 250 South Twenty-first street, chairman of the Democratic women's campaign committee, said today.

After four strenuous speeches yesterday and with the prospect of one or two today, she was resting a bit while she gave telephone and verbal instructions to her assistants for carrying on the work. Incidentally she was celebrating her birthday by doubling her efforts to increase the Democratic vote in Philadelphia.

"I was born a suffragist," she asserted, "and have always worked for suffrage. I am proud of the work Philadelphia women are doing in politics today. I have always said if the Democrats didn't do anything in this city it was because they were lazy, not because they did not exist. But even I have been surprised as well as delighted at the response to the campaign call. In the Twenty-second ward alone more than 800 Democratic women registered. And every one of them is working."

"We expect to have Democratic women watchers in every district on election day. Now that we have the vote we must not shirk any duties."

"My message to the women is 'vote the straight Democratic ticket and down Penrose. The patriotism of our country must be carried on just as it was when we were actually at war. The League of Nations has got to go through. The constitution of the United States has been amended many times. The League of Nations can be amended, but, for God's sake, put it through. It is personal animosity against the President that makes Senator Lodge behave so. He is no patriot. We as women and Democrats protest against the Senate's failure to ratify the league. No mother—no woman, in fact—can forget the war or believe that the League of Nations is not a great issue in this campaign."

"As to industry, that the Republicans claim will be ruined under Democratic administration, we know that many of the mills of New England are being shut down by Republican owners. Through closing them when the demand for material is so great, they make a shortage and blame it on the Democrats. Tariff? When has tariff ever been paid by those who can afford it? Tariff always falls on the poor."

CAUGHT AFTER LONG CHASE

Alleged Pickpocket Captured by Two Sons of Accuser

An alleged pickpocket was caught by the two sons of the man he is said to have victimized after a thrilling chase last night. He gave up when they grabbed him at Seventh and South streets after chasing him from Eleventh and Catharine.

The robbed man is Hendrick Wylie, 402 High street, Germantown. He was sitting in the National A. A. last night when he felt a hand in his pocket. He grabbed for it and missed. His pocket-book containing $30 was gone. The man in the rear seat got up and ran with the sons in pursuit. The suspect headed a trolley car on Eleventh street. The sons hung on the rear. At South street the suspect got off and after running to Seventh street was captured.

So far as your own interests are concerned, the political campaign is of no greater importance than the following:—

Strawbridge & Clothier's Entire Stock of Men's Suits at Reduced Prices To-morrow

To Accommodate Early Customers the Clothing Department Will Be Open at Eight o'Clock

We have asserted repeatedly that we are meeting more than half way the desire for lower prices, despite the fact that manufacturers' prices on Clothing for this season were not a penny lower than their prices a year ago. We had to place our orders early to insure having a complete stock—a stock to meet a demand which we expected to be the largest in our history. The Clothing came in—the finest we have ever had.

Then came indications that wholesale prices FOR NEXT SPRING would be somewhat lower. The public, naturally, expected them to be lower at once. We immediately proceeded to MAKE THEM LOWER on special lots, many of which have been disposed of at reduced prices during the past month. Our October business has been larger, thus far, than for the same period in any former October. Still our stocks are large, and still some men are waiting. Therefore, we open wider the gate to a LOWER-PRICE ERA.
