

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

BILLY'S QUEER KNIGHTS By DADDY

While Billy is playing football, Peggy finds herself playing a queer song that seems to cause Billy's team to go all to pieces, until he is the only player left.

CHAPTER II

Peggy sings Another Song

"YAH! Yah! Billy's team of 'traid cats is beaten. Yah! Yah! Billy is a 'traid cat, too!"

"Thus mocked Tommy Tubbs' Fat Warriors. Billy was not a 'traid cat, and he was ready to play Tommy Tubbs' team all by himself, but what could one boy do against eleven? All his own players had gone home battered and bruised, following the singing of Peggy's song, which seemed to make them get hurt.

"Don't you mind, Billy. I'll get a team for you," roared Peggy.

"Woof! Woof! I'll help, too!" barked Toddie Pupkins.

Billy wasn't much comforted by their promises. He didn't see how they could help another team.

"Yah! Yah! We will give you ten minutes to get another team for us to beat," jeered Tommy Tubbs' Fat Warriors. "We are going to get ice cream sodas and we will play when we get back, but remember, none of our players must be over twelve years old."

"Yah! Yah!" They trooped away leaving Billy sitting hopelessly on the pile of football suits cast aside by his own smashed-up players.

"I had such a dandy team," sighed Peggy.

"So am I," replied Peggy. "But I couldn't help singing. If that song drove your team away, perhaps I can sing another song that will bring a new team to you."

"With that Peggy began to sing again, and as before she sang because she couldn't help it, the words coming to her without her thinking about them.

"One little footballer, fretting in a stew. Along came another chap, then there were two."

"Woof! Woof! I'll be that other chap. I'll be on your team," barked Toddie Pupkins, jumping about in his saucy puppy way.

"Two little footballers, brave as brave could be. I'll be on your team when we get Couldn't play all alone, so along came three."

"Baal Baal! I'm a halfback," bleated the voice of a goat, and out of the bushes trotted Billy Goat himself. Behind him was Johnny Bull. "Bow-wow! I'm another halfback," barked Johnny.

"Hee-haw! I'm a fullback!" And here came Bally Sam the army mule, braying at the top of his voice. Peggy went right on with her singing.

"Five little footballers, full of fun and kicks. Along came Hoppy-Hop, then there were six."

Sure enough, Hoppy-Hop the rabbit, hopped into line with Billy, the two dogs, the goat, and the mule.

"Six little footballers help to make eleven. Add to them a little girl, then there are seven."

Peggy felt herself drawn in among the others as a member of the team, but she went right on with her song:

"Seven little footballers, all so strong and fine. Here are husky huggers to make the total nine."

Fodgie Bear and Pudgie Bear waddled out of the woods, grinning from ear to ear. They, too, wanted to get into the football game.

"Nine little footballers, ready for the fray. Along came two more, just enough to play."

With that Peggy's song came to an end, for General Croaker, the frog, had

TWO SOMBER TONES ARE OFTEN USED

By CORINNE LOWE

If you want to dress well this autumn just look at a Japanese print or a Whistler's nocturne. Somber tints are an established factor of autumn daytime dressing, and although vivid touches of color are frequently introduced upon these frocks of navy and brown and black and gray, we are quite apt to see two somber tones united in the same model. Thus Drecoil combines in the above afternoon frock black satin and broadcated gray satin. The frock is otherwise notable because of the yoke effect so often used this season to break the long line of the prevalent modes. Another feature that renders this model somewhat different is the gathered hem of the overskirt.

hopped up from his bog and Blue Heron had flapped his way from the marshes beside the river. They, with the others, made just eleven, the usual size of a football team.

"Here is your football eleven, Billy!" cried Peggy. "Now Tommy Tubbs will not dare to call you a 'traid cat. Just as soon as we get on our football clothes we will give his Fat Warriors a big surprise."

Just how big that surprise was will be told in tomorrow's chapter.

FREE LECTURES AT PENN

Hygiene and Various Other Subjects Will Be Discussed

Two series of lectures, both open to the public, will be inaugurated at the University of Pennsylvania Saturday. One series, by members of the faculty, will contain twenty-five lectures and will continue through the year. The other, under the auspices of the School of Hygiene, will extend for ten weeks.

The later series which will be known as public health lectures will be given at 11 o'clock in the morning at the Laboratory of Hygiene, Thirty-fourth and Locust streets. The thirty lectures, instituted a number of years ago, will be given at 3:30 o'clock in Houston Club.

The schedule of health lectures for November follows:

November 6, Dr. Walter S. Cornell, director of medical inspection in the public schools, on "The Object, Aims and Results of School Medical Inspection."

November 13, Dr. Henry Field Smyth, assistant professor in the School of Hygiene, on "The Relation of Occupation to Health and Disease."

November 20, Dr. H. R. M. Landis, director of the Critical and Sociological Departments at the Phelps Institute, on "The Reconstruction of Underdeveloped Children."

November 27, Dr. A. C. Abbott, professor of hygiene and bacteriology at the University of Pennsylvania, on "Epidemic Diseases; Their Origin, Spread and Control."

The first four faculty lectures will be November 6, Professor William R. Newbold, on "Plato."

November 13, Asa D. Dickinson, on "Franklin's Life in This Year."

November 20, Allen J. Smith, subject unannounced.

November 27, Dr. Rodney H. True, on "New Light on Plant Feeding."

Invites Continuation Pupils to Use Building for Clubs

In an endeavor to further the recreational activities of the students of the Hart Continuation School, Hancock street and Allegheny avenues, the Y. W. C. A. is urging the students to form clubs in the organization's buildings.

Miss Ruth Worrell, girls' work secretary of the association, addressed the pupils during assembly periods last week, and as a means of initiating the girls into the activities of the association the Kensington branch gave a party to 100 girls last night. Another party of its kind will be given next Monday.

Your Soul's in Your Hand

By IRVING R. BACON

SHORT-THUMBED AMBITION

Note the unusual length of the index finger and the mount at its base, together with the exceptionally short thumb.

XLII Ambition, ruling passion of the Jupiterian, is not wanting even with a small thumb. But with such a combination the ambitious dreams are destined to remain dreams. There is not will-power enough present to convert them into reality.

If, moreover, the small thumb have a conic or, above all, pointed tip, the pleasure derived from the indulgence in these airy dreams of greatness will rob the Jupiterian of almost every vestige of initiative. To him the "Castle in Spain" the cloud-built fabric is grandeur and greatness enough; it is quite as enticing as the actuality itself would be and—here's the point—he can have and own it without any effort at all beyond the act of "dreaming."

This indisposition of the small-thumb Jupiterian to "be up and doing with a heart for any fate; still achieving still pursuing" is still further enhanced if the finger of Jupiter is long. A spatulate tip on thumb and index finger, would go far toward giving real effect to the ambitions of even a short-thumb Jupiterian.

PLAN TESTS FOR TEACHERS

Examinations for Junior High Instructors November 13

An examination for teachers to work in the junior high schools will be held on Saturday, November 13, John Christopher, head of the board of examiners, has announced.

While there are only a few vacancies at the junior high school at the present time, it is the purpose of the board of examiners to establish a large eligible list, since it is expected that the Board of Education will shortly outline plans for the establishment of two additional junior high schools.

The examination entrance requirements stipulate that Philadelphia public school teachers who have had at least two years' experience in public schools in grades above the fourth, prior to November 1, may be admitted to the examinations in any subject.

TO SPEAK ON HOUSING

English Policies Will Be Discussed by Mrs. Canon Barnett

English housing policies and plans will be explained and discussed to Philadelphians interested in housing problems here, in a lecture at Witherspoon Hall this evening by Mrs. Canon Barnett.

Mrs. Barnett has worked for better housing in England for years, and is now a member of the ministry of health advisory committee. She will be taken on an inspection trip of Philadelphia today so she may give local application to her ideas and knowledge. It was through the ministry of health that England carried out its governmental
