It was said today that all of these offers were held open for the present, and that probably no choice of a vacation spot would be announced until after election. Both the senator and Mrs. Harding, it was explained, pre-ferred to devote their energies now to the campaign, leaving their personal plans to be worked out later.

Hawaii, Bermuda, Panama, California, the Gulf coast and many other places have been mentioned in speculation here regarding a vacation trip. The general belief of those who know senator's inclinations, however is that he will not go outside continental United States and probably will not travel as far West as the Pacific coast. It is expected that any trip he makes will give him at least two weeks of se-clusion and rest during November.

Today the nominee took an easy stride in his campaign work, seeing attention to miscellaneous tasks around his headquarters. It was virtually his last breathing spell before election, for he starts tomorrow on a campaign trip through Ohio that will last the rethrough Ohio that v

Senator Harding issued another statement last night in which progress promised the American people in return for victory. The Republican nominee in his clean-
