

'MOTOR MASHER' CLIPS GIRL'S HAIR

Leaps From Car to Attack Frankford Young Woman, Who Rebuffs Him

Police are today searching for a "back-the-clipper," who beat Miss Lillian Gallagher, eighteen years old, of 2626 Rhawn street, and clipped a lock of her hair when she refused to go for a ride in his automobile on Frankford avenue near Ashburner street yesterday.

John Kase, motorman of a Frankford trolley car, saw the man attack Miss Gallagher. He nudged him, but was unable to overtake him. Neighbors of the girl, who were on the trolley car, took her home.

The "clipper" is described as a stout, middle-aged masher, who has annoyed several young women on the Roosevelt boulevard by invitations to ride in his automobile.

Miss Gallagher was on her way home from work, and had reached a vacant lot just above the end of the Frankford "L," when she was accosted.

She ignored his proffer of a ride and hurried toward the trolley tracks to board a Tacony car. Then the "clipper" left his automobile and seized the victim by the hair. When she screamed he struck her on the jaw, knocking her to the ground.

At this juncture the Frankford trolley car approached. The man snatched a lock of the girl's hair, sprang into his automobile and drove away.

Detectives Fosmire and Hood, of the Tacony station, are searching for the man.

Motorist is Injured

When his automobile was demolished by a trolley at Thirtieth and Wolf streets last night, John Beverly, of Newtown Square, was seriously injured. Beverly was taken to the Methodist Hospital with a fractured skull. Witnesses say that he drove directly in front of the car.

HAD PENN OWNED MAN O' WAR CHICAGO WOULD BE IN PHILA.

Founder Landed 236 Years Ago and Bought Land Measured by Horse's Speed

Today marks the 236th anniversary of the landing of William Penn in America. Shortly afterward he bought most of the region now included in the city limits and reached by the Paoli, Wawa, Chestnut Hill and other locals for the approximate contents of a country general store.

The Indians seemed satisfied, however, most likely because the purchase price included "twenty fathoms of strong water." That much strong water ought to buy a block or two in the heart of the city even today. Anyhow, the Indians gave three cheers for Penn and went home figuring out how much they would have if they could sell the rest of North America at the same price.

Penn landed on these Delaware shores October 27, 1682, and brought his Welcome with him, seeing that was the name of his ship. He went ashore at New Castle, Del., to take possession of the land granted him by King Charles in payment of a debt of $80,000 owed to Admiral Penn, father of Philadelphia's founder. It seems that instead of writing checks, Charles handed out small sections of the map of the new world, wherever that was, to his creditors, who had no comeback.

Penn's next move was to sail up the Delaware to Third and Dock streets and select a neck of land between the Schuylkill and Delaware rivers as the site of what later became Philadelphia. A little afterward he plied over the first deal that appears on the records of the Philadelphia Real Estate Board. He bought the city from the red men, who got a lot redder when they saw what a fine town they had let go for a bunch of odds and ends.

Among the stuff traded in by Penn for the city and its suburbs was the following: Twenty guns, twenty pounds of powder, forty tomahawks, 100 knives, thirty pewter spoons, 300 pipes, 100 hands of tobacco, beads, gimlets, Jewshaps, molasses, salt and other then valuable accessories.

Thirty glass bottles, probably used for home brew purposes, were included in the deal.

The acquired land lay on the west side of the Delaware between the Dock and Chester creeks and as far back as the deal.

DEVELIN FIGHTS COURT BILL

Mr. Develin declared, "but in general I am opposed to granting any more money to the Municipal Court."

Councilman Develin, who has assailed the huge money demands made by the Municipal Court, today said he was opposed to granting the court any more funds such as called for in a bill introduced by Councilman Montgomery.

The latest demand is for $13,000 to defray additional expenses for the current year. The money is to pay for extra help and special services, groceries, meats, vegetables and laundry.

"I have not seen the ordinance,"

Man Takes Life by Gas

With a gas tube in his mouth, Emil Wits, sixty-eight years old, was found dead in the bedroom of his home, at 3138 Tusculum street, last evening. His daughter, Miss Louise Wits, smelled gas about 6 o'clock and in searching for the source of the fumes found her father lying on the bed in his room. A nearby physician pronounced him dead. The man was despondent because of ill-health.

Fruit in Bottles

Condensed Fruit Juices in each Jiffy-Jell Dessert

Remember how Jiffy-Jell excels the old-time quick gelatin desserts.

Jiffy-Jell is a real-fruit dainty, rich in fruit. We crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it in a vial. You get the delights and healthfulness of fruit, not a mere fruity taste.

The fruit is plentiful. We crush, for instance, half a pineapple to flavor one dessert. This is done in Hawaii—fruit too ripe to ship. The fruit alone might cost you as much as the whole dessert.

This is most important. People need fruit daily—real fruit, not mere flavor. Jiffy-Jell serves it in delicious form, with a moment's trouble, at a trifling cost. Join the millions who enjoy it. Start this week and send the trade-marks for the molds we offer free.

STANDARD EIGHT

A POWERFUL CAR

To get the full comfort of motoring, you need something more than the roominess, modish upholstery, and lack of vibration of the Standard Eight.

You need also its tremendous, perfectly controlled power. Throttle it down to a mile an hour. Pick her up to express speed some place where such speed is proper. Tackle a merciless hill on second, or just once, for the foolish feat's sake, on high.

You know now the full comfort which comes from driving a car whose power is equal to any need.
