

LEGION PERFECTS RECEPTION PLANS
National Commander Will Attend Affair Honoring Chief of State Organization
DONAHUE POST TO DANCE

Arrangements to accommodate 250 Legionaries at the reception to Department Commander David J. Davis, of the American Legion, were perfected yesterday by the reception committee, headed by David B. Simpson, vice department commander. The reception will be held at the City Club 332 South Broad street, November 17, at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Fred W. Galbraith, of Cincinnati, the national commander, has wired his acceptance of the committee's invitation to be present. A great majority of the post officers will attend. Two members have been added to the committee—William H. Creamer, of Bellak Post, and Andrew F. Olsen, of All-Navy Post No. 197.

James J. Donahue Post will hold a dance tonight in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Thirty-eighth and Market streets. The dance committee includes E. H. Kerr, chairman; Irving Kramer, C. F. Burns, Isaac Bonnell, Clarence Gundaker and Frank Craig.

Word was received at state headquarters from Washington that the dismissal of Louis F. Post as assistant secretary of labor was formally asked of President Wilson yesterday by the American Legion. A committee, under direction of Mr. Galbraith, visited the White House and presented the facts on which the request is based. The Legion committee's report charged that the Department of Labor from January 1, 1920, to June 15, canceled 2116 deportation warrants, ordered deportation in 530 cases and deferred 96 cases. Its main contention is that deportations ceased when Mr. Post took hold.

Fifteen permanent charters were issued to Philadelphia posts yesterday: Nos. 21, 41, 89, 97, 151, 174, 183, 188, 294, 270, 315, 319, 320, 321 and 417. Only part of the permanent charters have been received at headquarters. Armistice Day will be observed by Olney Post, No. 388, by a celebration in which the churches, fraternal organizations, Boy Scouts and business organizations from Olney, Lindley and Feltonville will participate. There will be a banquet in the evening.

GABRILOWITSCH OPENS THE RECITAL SEASON
Gives First Important Solo Performance of the Season Before Large Audience at Academy

Oswip Gabrilowitsch gave his first piano recital of the season at the Academy of Music last evening. Orchestral conducting has apparently had no ill effects upon Mr. Gabrilowitsch's virtuosity as a pianist (he is the conductor of the Detroit Orchestra), for he displayed all the tonal beauty which has always been his greatest asset as a performer without any evident loss in technique, although his hours for practice must necessarily have been greatly diminished.

The program which Mr. Gabrilowitsch chose was not one especially designed to show him to the best advantage nor, it must be said, was it of as great interest as it might have been. The Beethoven sonata, with which he opened the concert (the one in B flat op. 22) is one of the lesser known, or rather less frequently played of the earlier sonatas, and was well done, especially the slow movement, where Mr. Gabrilowitsch's exquisite tone was used to fine purpose and in the charming rondo with which the sonata closes. In the prelude, chorale and fugue of Cesar Franck, which followed, the prelude and the fugue were superb, especially the former, although the tempo of the chorale seemed to be a little fast.

It was in the two Schumann numbers that Mr. Gabrilowitsch rose to his greatest heights of the evening. These were the beautiful but seldom played Arabesque and the spirited Novelette op. 90. In these works the characteristic poetic feeling of Schumann was clearly brought out with no loss of the design of each composition. Tonal beauty, sentiment and intellect combined to make the performance memorable.

The final group was of the Schubert Impromptu op. 142, in which there is more than a trace of the theme of the Rosamunde ballet music and of the slow movement of the A minor string quartet, the brilliant but somewhat meretricious rondo "La Gaitie" of Weber and two Chopin pieces, the D-flat nocturne and the tarantelle in A-flat. All were well received, especially the Weber number. At the close of the concert Mr. Gabrilowitsch played two encores, the audience refusing to leave without hearing him again.

ESSAY CONTEST

Conducted By The Makers Of
"PHILADELPHIA'S BEST"

COLONIAL ICE-CREAM

Every schoolboy and schoolgirl in Philadelphia, Camden, Trenton, Wilmington, Norristown, Chester and all other cities within a radius of 35 miles of Philadelphia is invited to submit an essay.

Surely—YOU can write a prize-winning essay on: "Why I Like Good Ice Cream" or "Good Ice Cream as a Food."

Do you know that good ice cream has a food value? Professor R. M. Washburn, of the University of Minnesota, says: "Ice Cream is a food, whether classified as a confection, a luxury or a necessity."

A quart of good ice cream has the food value of one and a half pounds of steak, or four pounds of potatoes, or eighteen eggs. According to Dr. F. G. Gephart, of the Russell Sage Institute of Pathology, an ordinary dish of ice cream supplies twice as much nourishment as a charlotte russe, a chocolate eclair or a serving of corn-starch pudding.
