SUBTREASURY TO CLOSE

Federal Reserve Bank Will Soon Take Over Its Business

All arrangements for the closing of the United States subtreasury here have been completed and the final winding up of its affairs is dependent upon the date on which the Federal Reserve Bank will be ready to take over its work and assume its responsibilities.

It is expected that this will be early in January. In closing the subtreasury a part of government funds on deposit there will be turned over to the Federal Reserve. Present vault equipment at the Reserve bank, however, is not sufficient to take care of all of these funds. In fact, the bank has been hard pressed to provide vault accommodations for its own business, as now constituted, and is installing a vault of sufficient proportions to look after all present and prospective demands made on it.

MRS. LAWRENCE TO SPEAK

Mrs. Fethick W. Lawrence, a leading suffragist of England, candidate for Parliament and former editor of "Votes for Women," will discuss "Women and English Politics" at a meeting of the Women's Economic Club to be held at 8 o'clock tonight in the New Century Club, 124 South Twelfth street. Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, daughter of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, will speak on "After Suffrage—What?"
