"Who's Who" in Present Contest for State Treasurer and Auditor General

CANDIDATES FOR SENATE

Sketches of the Republican and Democratic nominees for the offices of state treasurer and auditor general, and for the state Senate from four districts in Philadelphia are printed below. In sketches of the four Democratic nominees for Congress at large also appear. Of the four Republican nominees for places in the Senate, all but one are up for re-election. The exception is Max Aron, who has been a member of the state House of Representatives since 1913.

State Treasurer Charles A. Snyder, Republican, of Pottsville, was born at Pottsville, Dauphin county, fifty-three years ago; educated in the public schools; was admitted to the Schuylkill county bar in 1880, since which time he has been engaged in the practice of law; served an enlistment in the National Guard of Pennsylvania; has served as city solicitor of Pottsville, also as deputy district attorney, county controller and county solicitor of Schuylkill county; was a member of the House of Representatives, sessions of 1903, 1905, 1907, and of the Senate of Pennsylvania, sessions of 1909, 1911, 1913, 1915 and 1917 until April 30, when he resigned to enter upon his duties as state treasurer, to which office he was elected November 7, 1919.

Peter A. Elnesser, Democrat, of York, was born April 14, 1867, near Hanover, York county. From the time he was ten and until past twenty-one he attended and also taught in the public schools. On account of family privations he spent most of his childhood among strangers, working on farms in the summer and tending store in the winter. He was prominent in war work, having been a member of the York War Council, Camp Community Service, Community Labor Board and chairman of the United War Work Campaign.

Auditor General Samuel S. Lewis, Republican, of York, was born in York in 1874; educated in York public schools and graduated from the York High School; worked in the York postoffice as clerk and later became a clerk in the postoffice in Washington, D. C.; while postoffice clerk at Washington attended the Columbian University from which he graduated in law; admitted to practice law before the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia; later returning to York, where he was admitted to practice at the York bar. President Roosevelt named him postmaster of York and he was reappointed by President Taft. Upon the completion of his term under President Taft, he resumed the practice of law until named by Auditor General Snyder as county clerk in the office of the auditor general at Harrisburg, which position he now holds.

Arthur McKean, Democrat, of Beaver Falls, was born March 13, 1882, in Lower Burrell township, Westmoreland county. After attending the public schools he was graduated from Geneva College in 1904, and from the University of Pittsburgh Law School and was admitted to the Beaver county bar in 1909. He is now practicing law with Colonel Joseph H. Thompson, formerly of the 110th Infantry. He was elected to the Pennsylvania Legislature in 1911.

Senators in General Assembly First district—First, Twenty-sixth, Thirty-sixth, Thirty-ninth and Forty-eighth wards. Edwin H. Vore, Republican, was born in the old district of Southwark, Philadelphia, July 19, 1862; educated in the public schools; at the age of twenty-one became engaged in the contracting business of Vore Brothers, the other member of the firm being the late Senator George A. Vore; served part of the session of 1897 as a member of the House of Representatives and resigned, elected to the Senate in 1908 and 1912; re-elected in November, 1916.

William J. Rooney, Democrat, lives at 2337 Wistar street. He served as paymaster aboard a United States navy vessel during the war and is now connected with the shipping board. He is thirty-three years of age. Third district—Fifth, Sixth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth and Eighteenth wards. William J. McNichol, 1923 Cherry street, is nominee on both the Republican and Democratic tickets. Born in Philadelphia, May 1, 1885; educated at La Salle College; entered the paving business of D. J. McNichol & Co., and in 1908, became president of McNichol Paving and Construction Co.; elected to the Senate in November, 1918, to fill the unexpired term of his father, the late James P. McNichol.

Fifth district—Seventeenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Thirty-first and Thirty-seventh wards. Max Aron, Republican, was born in Russia, October 15, 1885; was brought to this country when two years old and received his education in the public schools; a graduate of Central High School and the University of Pennsylvania; appointed to the bar in October, 1907; appointed assistant city solicitor in 1910; member of the House of Representatives, 1912; elected to the House of Representatives in 1913 to succeed John H. Riebel; re-elected in 1914, 1916 and 1918; lives at 812 North Eighth street.

Norris W. Campbell, Democrat, lives at 2211 North Seventh street. He was assistant supervisor of the 1920 census here. He was a delegate to the San Francisco convention and is on the Democratic electoral ticket. He was born in Millville, N. J., and for eighteen years has lived in the Thirty-seventh ward. Seventh district—Fifteenth, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirty-second and Forty-seventh wards. Augustus F. Dalk, Jr., Republican, born in Philadelphia, October 3, 1890; lawyer since 1893; two terms president of Northwest Business Men's Association and organizer and six terms president of the United Business Men's Association; elected to the Senate in 1912; re-elected in November, 1916. Lives at 1613 North Thirty-third street. Edward J. Kite, Democrat, lives at 2905 Ridge avenue, where he is in the business of plumber. He was born in Philadelphia and educated in the public schools. He has never held political office.

Following are sketches of the Democratic nominees for Congress at large. Sketches of the Republican nominees were published yesterday: Congress at Large Charles M. Bowman, Democrat, was born September 22, 1871, in Wilkes-Barre; he attended the public schools during his native city; graduated from Dickinson College; studied law at Dickinson School of Law and the University of Pennsylvania; admitted in 1890 to the Luzerne county bar and has since then been in the active practice of his profession at Wilkes-Barre. He has been active in Democratic politics, serving five terms as a member of the city council of Wilkes-Barre; in 1911 he was the Democratic candidate for district attorney for Luzerne county. John P. Bracken, Democrat, was born December 5, 1875, at Gallitzin, Cambria county; was educated in the public schools and graduated from college in 1894 with the degree of master of arts; prior to 1895 he was associated with his father and brothers in the coal, commercial glass works business; since then he has been engaged in the coal, commercial business, and at present conducts a general brokerage business at Pittsburgh. He was a member of the borough council at Gallitzin and president of that body; a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1912 and during that year a member of the Allegheny county Democratic committee. Mr. Bracken enlisted May 24, 1898, as a private in the Seventeenth U. S. Infantry and was advanced to sergeant, serving until the end of the Spanish-American war; and is a member of the Camp Hunt Post, United Spanish-American War Veterans. Mr. Bracken is married and resides with his wife and six children at Dormont, a suburb of Pittsburgh. M. J. Hanlan, Democrat, was born June 21, 1863, in Palmyra township, Wayne county; went to work in the White Mills glass works when but eleven years old; at sixteen was lock tender on the Delaware and Hudson canal; attended the district school during the winter months and graduated from the Howley High School; is a graduate from the Mansfield State Normal School; has taught school; is a lawyer by profession. He has served as clerk to the county commissioners of Wayne county and three terms as prothonotary of his native county; and also served three years as solicitor of Wayne county; was delegate to the Democratic state convention in 1898 and 1906. He took an active interest in all the war activities and was chairman of the four-minute men in Wayne county. He resides at Honesdale; is vice president of the Chamber of Commerce; secretary of the Honesdale Realty Co., and a director of the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank of Honesdale. John B. McDonough, Democrat, was born April 5, 1880, in the city of Reading, where he now resides; educated in the schools of Reading and at Brunner's Business College; served as Democratic city chairman for two terms; member of Democratic state executive committee; and has always been active in Democratic politics. Mr. McDonough took an active part in the united war work drive and in all other war activities and patriotic movements. He owns the Telegram Printing Co., of Reading. Branch Sewer Contracts Let Among the municipal contracts approved by Mayor Moore yesterday were two awards made by the Department of Public Works to William H. Garrison, one for the construction of a sewer in Bonnell street between Wolf and Ritter streets, for $8000, and the other for a branch sewer in Newkirk street, between Tasker and Morris streets, $8500.

A GLANCE AT THE BALLOT VOTERS WILL USE ON TUESDAY

To vote a straight party ticket, mark a cross (X) in the square, in the first column, opposite the name of the party of your choice. A cross mark in the square at the head of a group of Presidential Electors, opposite the name of a party and its Presidential candidates, is a vote for all the electors of that party, but for no other candidates. A cross mark in the square opposite the name of any candidate indicates a vote for that candidate. To vote for a person whose name is not on the ballot, write or paste his name in the blank space provided for that purpose. To vote for an individual candidate of another party after making a mark in the party square, mark a cross (X) opposite his name. For an office where more than one candidate is to be elected, the voter, after marking in the party square, may divide his vote by marking a cross (X) to the right of each candidate for whom he desires to vote. For such office votes shall not be counted for candidates not individually marked. A cross (X) in the party square in the first column does not carry a vote for any judge. To vote for Judge, mark a cross (X) opposite the name of the candidate desired.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION

cross (X) marked in the square at the right of the word YES indicates a vote FOR the AMENDMENT. cross (X) marked in the square at the right of the word NO indicates a vote AGAINST the AMENDMENT

Electors have an opportunity to express their will regarding two proposed amendments to the state constitution and to vote for or against the proposed $33,000,000 municipal loan. Amendment No. 1 would give the Legislature the power by general law to provide for the incorporation of banks and trust companies and to prescribe the powers of those institutions. Amendment No. 2 would permit this city to have a total debt not exceeding 10 per cent of the assessed value of taxable property in Philadelphia. The present borrowing capacity is 7 per cent. The ballot shown here is a specimen ballot of the Twenty-ninth ward. There is a difference in ballots for many of the wards due to the legislative ticket is Strong for Prohibition, but This Volstead Act Too Drastic Dr. Russell H. Conwell, president of Temple University, and vice president of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League, today declared his statement on prohibition had been misquoted to further the interests of John P. Bracken, of Pittsburgh. Bracken is running for Congress. Supporters of Congressman H. Walters, of Johnstown, charged yesterday that a pamphlet containing a recent statement by Dr. Conwell was being used by the "wets" in this pamphlet, Bracken's candidacy for congressman at large. "My name has not only been used without authority, but I was grossly misquoted by the 'wets' in this pamphlet used to defeat the 'dry' candidate," Dr. Conwell said today, at his home, 2020 North Broad street. "A part of what I said in reference to the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act was used by the liquor interests, but the actual words used were not mine; and they misconstrued my meaning. "I did say that the Volstead act went too far, and was reactionary, and that it served to defeat the purpose of the Eighteenth amendment, and what I said at that time has come to pass. There is a reaction. "The Volstead act goes too far when it prohibits the use of nonintoxicating drinks like cider. It fails to define what per cent of alcohol is really intoxicating. To say that all drinks must be confined to one-half of one per cent alcoholic content is ridiculous. "Pure apple cider containing up to 8 per cent alcohol is not intoxicating. The farmers who have always had cider in their homes, are disgusted with this Chinese to Be Deported The Bureau of Immigration today will deport four Chinese stowaways, two West Indians and another alien on the steamship Tannamo when it leaves for Jamaica. The Chinese arrived on Monday on the steamship Amelga and said that they hid among bananas so as to get to the United States to get jobs as seamen.

CONWELL DECLARES WETS MISQUOTED HIS VIEWS

Fire Destroys Awning Fire of unknown origin destroyed an awning in the rear of the two-story dwelling of Thomas Farrell, 421 West Penn street, Germantown, early today. Firemen from a nearby engine house extinguished the blaze with trifling loss.

MISS LIPPINCOTT BETTER Girl Suffering With "Sleeping Sickness" Passes Crisis Miss Joan Bishop Lippincott, who has been suffering from "sleeping sickness" at her home, 6805 Lincoln drive, Germantown, for the last eleven weeks, is now rapidly recovering. Her physicians say Miss Lippincott will be well by Thanksgiving. She passed the crisis of her unusual illness a month ago, and since then her condition has steadily improved. Dr. E. S. Taylor, a throat, nose and eye specialist, after examining Miss Lippincott's vocal cords, announced that she will regain her full power of speech. She was to have been married last month to Murray Gibson, Jr. He has been at her bedside during most of her illness.

WOMAN CANDIDATE FOR U. S. SENATOR

Mrs. Leah Cobb Marion, Prohibition Nominee, Seeks Seat Held by Penrose

"ENFORCEMENT" THE ISSUE

Emporium, Pa., Oct. 31.—Candidates are busily talking for and against the League of Nations, declares Mrs. Leah Cobb Marion, of this place, whose name will appear on the official ballot to be voted next Tuesday as the Prohibition party's nominee for the United States Senate. Aspirants for office charge and countercharge regarding campaign funds and sundry other matters, she continues, "and all the time they are thinking 'wet or dry,' and wondering whether they will be able to continue dodging and maintain the barrage. On a prohibition platform, with "enforcement" as its cardinal plank, this Campaign county woman is conducting a campaign she frankly declares intended to "make an effective protest against Mr. Penrose, the political boss and the champion of the liquor interests of Pennsylvania."

Side issues, as she outlines them and in which she appeals for support of the women of the state and of "every man who desires a new order of things," are advancement of womanhood, protection of home, establishment of industrial plants and equal and exact justice to labor and capital. Mrs. Marion, an attractive-looking woman, has been an active and ardent advocate of prohibition and of suffrage during the years preceding the enactment of these amendments to the fundamental law. Her name was printed on the primary ballots last spring and her nomination as the Prohibition candidate for United States senator was followed by an endorsement by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union (convention held in Dubois, Clearfield county. She was present at the convention and made a spirited speech in which she declared herself "a Republican, a real one," but added that the party rulers of the present day in Pennsylvania had forfeited their right to the woman vote and to complete victory when they ignored prohibition and handed out the Penrose slate. She expressed "profound dissatisfaction" with the senatorial nominees of the two great parties, and asserted that this was reflected all over the state. Industrial peace, peace for the soldier, world peace, are stressed by Mrs. Marion in her plea for the support of the women of the state and all others who believe with her that "America must put her house in order."

Mrs. Marion is the daughter of Daniel H. Cobb, a New York educator, and was a school teacher for five years prior to her marriage in 1896.
