

BIG HARDING SWEEP CLAIMED IN JERSEY

Republican State Chairman Stokes Says Plurality Will Be 100,000 to 250,000

DISPUTED BY DEMOCRATS

Trenton, Nov. 1.—A Republican plurality in New Jersey of at least 100,000 and possibly 250,000 was predicted today by E. C. Stokes, Republican state chairman. Charles F. McDonald, Democratic chairman, declared his party will carry the state, although he made no estimate of the vote.

Secondary only to interest in the presidential vote is that in the contests in the twelve congressional districts, several of which modifications of the Volstead act has been an issue.

According to political leaders, voters will do well to bear in mind no adequate provision has been made this year to care for the increased electorate resulting from woman suffrage. In some districts the registration is so large that more than one vote a minute must be recorded to complete the balloting within the thirteen hours, 6 a. m. to 7 p. m., during which the polls will be open.

Congressional contests present some interesting fights in districts now represented by Democrats, but in which there are prospects of Republican gains. It seems probable that nine of the twelve congressmen to be elected will be Republicans, as against seven Republicans chosen two years ago. The most optimistic of Republican leaders concede only two Democratic congressmen, those being in the Hudson county districts.

Republican candidates for Congress who are practically assured of election are Francis F. Patterson, Jr., Camden, in the First district; Representative Isaac Bacharach, Atlantic City, Second district; Representative Elijah C. Hutchinson, Trenton, Fourth district; Representative Ernest H. Ackerman, Plainsfield, Fifth district; Randolph Perkins, Woodcliff Lake, Sixth district; Representative Amos H. Radcliffe, Paterson, Seventh district; Representative Frederick R. Lehlbach, Newark, Tenth district.

In the Third district, comprising Middlesex, Ocean and Monmouth counties, there is a hard fight between T. Frank Appleby, of Asbury Park, Republican, and Dr. William E. Ramsay, of Perth Amboy, Democrat. The result is doubtful, with chances slightly favoring Mr. Appleby.

In the Eighth district Representative Cornelius A. McGlennon, of East Newark, Democrat, is opposed by Herbert W. Taylor, of Newark, Republican. The district lies partly in Essex and partly in Hudson counties, and the fight promises to be a close one.

Richard Wayne Parker, former representative of Newark, Republican, is pitted against Representative Daniel F. Minahan, of Orange, Democrat, in the Ninth district. The election of Mr. Parker is anticipated, though hardly a certainty.

Hudson county will undoubtedly reelect Representative John J. Egan, of Weehawken, Democrat, in the Eleventh district.

Eight state senators will be elected next Tuesday in counties seven of which are now represented by Republicans. It is not likely there will be any change in political representation in the Senate.

It now seems probable that the present Democratic delegation of twelve members from Essex in the assembly will be supplanted by Republicans, thereby making the House Republican by a large majority.

BALLOT HUGE, BUT SIMPLE, IF VOTING IS "STRAIGHT"

Women Given Instructions on How to Wield Pencil in Poll Booths—Six Marks Needed

The huge ballot that will be handed electors in this city's 1920 election tomorrow need have no terrors for the new voter if he or she favors all the candidates of a particular party. In that case, where the voter wishes the election of every candidate of his or her party, from presidential electors to ward committeemen, it is simply a matter of voting the straight Republican, or Democratic, or other ticket.

Voting the straight ticket means placing the potent "X" in the party square in the left-hand column of the ballot. That single mark is a blanket vote for every candidate of the preferred party whose name appears on the ballot.

At Least Six Marks
In order to cast a complete vote, even if the straight ticket is chosen, no less than six marks must be made. First there is the "X" on the party square. Then one "X" each after the names of the candidates for the State Superior Court and for the State Superior Court.

Two separate marks are required for the judicial candidates because they are on the nonpartisan column. That means their election is set apart from the ordinary party balloting on the theory that, because of their office, judges should be above partisan considerations.

The other three marks are required for the $33,000,000 municipal loan ordinance and the two proposed amendments. The voter favors the loan and the two amendments, an "X" is to be placed after the "Yes" of approval provided on the big sheet. Disapproval can be expressed by marking "X" in each case after the "No."

The bugaboo for many of the new voters, as well as for voters who have had the privilege for years, is the split ticket. The split ticket will be resorted to freely, it is believed, in the five wards of the First Councilmanic district.

Voting Was Simplified
An act passed by the last Legislature, known as the "voters' intention law," greatly reduced the number of marks necessary on a ballot in order to split the ticket.

Voters in the First Councilmanic district, for example, who wish to vote for all Republican candidates except Charles J. Pommer, the Mayor, can mark the Republican party square in the first column and place another "X" after the name of James Gallagher, the administration candidate.

Ballots so marked, before the passage of the "voters' intention act" would probably have been thrown out as defective. An extract of the law follows which may be used as a guide in cases where the voter desires to split the ticket:

"That the voter may make a cross-mark in the appropriate square, opposite the name of the party of his choice, in the straight party column on the left of the ballot, and may also make a cross-mark in the square to the right of any individual candidate whom he favors.

"In such case his vote shall be counted for all the candidates of the party in whose straight party column on the left of the ballot he placed his cross-mark, except for those offices for which he has indicated his choice by marking in the squares to the right of individual candidates, and his vote shall be counted for such individual candidates which he has thus particularly marked, notwithstanding the fact that he made a mark in the straight party column in the square on the left of the ballot."

and also make marks opposite the names of the two or more candidates he or she favors for a particular kind of office.

There may be some voters who wish to cast their first vote for President, but give no vote at all to any of the congressional or other candidates in the field. This can be accomplished by placing an "X" only in the large block at the top of the seven columns of presidential electors.

To Vote Only for Harding
Where more than one candidate is to be elected to any office, the voter may also mark the straight party column

MARCH PAST WHITE HOUSE

Democrats to Hold League of Nations Demonstration Tonight
Washington, Nov. 1.—(By A. P.)—The Democratic campaign committee of the District of Columbia is planning to hold a League of Nations demonstration in front of the White House tonight.

It is planned to have league sympathizers, grouped by states, march up Pennsylvania avenue to the executive mansion, where patriotic songs will be sung and probably several brief addresses will be made.

5 good tips on glove economy

1. Secure a good fit. Gloves that fit outwear gloves that are uncomfortable.
2. Do not wear very tight gloves. A well made glove will fit smoothly even when easy to slip on—and will last longer.
3. Get more than one pair for daily use... Like shoes, two pair last MORE than twice as long as one.
4. Get quality gloves... The other kind are discarded before they have given service.
5. Do not ask for "gloves"—ask for Fownes, with the name in the wrist.

"I'll never have a tin roof on my house," said a critical young bride; "they are uglier than blue mud. No, I want stained shingles, in a lovely warm brown."

Two months after the wedding a fire across the street made the lovely brown shingles so warm that the roof was burned all off; but the firemen just saved the house.

The new roof was of tin, with the "standing seams" that give so much style to a tin roof, and then the young wife found to her delight that she could have the same lovely warm brown on fireproof tin that she thought went only with shingles.

Tin is best in every way—but you want the best tin. Ask any roofer. If he mentions NU-DURA-TIN, you're safe.

The Sharples Separator Co., Chicago, Ill., says: "We most heartily endorse the Dictaphone as being the one piece of office equipment that stands preeminently first. It saves time of both typist and the dictator, and permits the executive and the clerk to dictate their letters as rapidly or as slowly as they wish."

Great Furniture Values That Lower Living Costs for You and Lessen Profits for Us

But we gladly make the sacrifice. Going to great lengths to serve our customers and the public interest when every householder in the country rightly believes that all merchandise should come down in cost, has been right in line with the principles of this Store for nearly forty years.

We can and do give, and always have given, the best values because we choose to specialize in Furniture rather than generalize in merchandise. Because our system of preparedness, as exemplified in the economic efficiency of our great organization, enables us to discount just such conditions as exist today—and meet them with values unparalleled in the Furniture Field.

Factory-to-you savings, opportune quantity purchases, enormous storage capacity and inexpensive location. This is strong talk and it should interest every householder in need of good Furniture, but no talk can be as convincing as the goods, or as persuasive as the prices.

For instance, in many places on our floors to-day you will find furniture of every kind and style, marked lower than the incomparable prices for which this Store is famous. Suites and Single Pieces we bought recently at great reductions, and are buying at every opportunity, from leading manufacturers whose need for ready money is greater than for Furniture.

Few of the Living Halls of Baronial England could boast of Furniture of more pleasing design or of more luxurious and inviting appearance. The great Sofa and magnificent Table; the easy Window Seats and Easy Chairs, even to the mellow wood of the paneled walls, breathe a spirit of refinement and hospitality that characterizes the more elaborate of the varied styles throughout the Van Sciver Store.
