

ALLEGED CAR THIEF INJURED IN CRASH

Eye Put Out, Skull Fractured in Dash Through Crossing Gates

Two alleged automobile thieves smashed through the railroad safety gates at Thirty-first street and Allegheny avenue yesterday. One occupant of the car was so badly injured that he may die. He is Edward Kling, of 2233 North Bailey street. His right eye was put out and he received a fracture of the skull.

Shortly after midnight yesterday an automobile drove up to the Samaritan Hospital, and Kling, moaning with pain, was left on the steps of the institution. The driver then hurried away.

For six hours Kling steadfastly refused to tell how he received his injuries until physicians told him that the police had found an abandoned stolen automobile at Thirty-sixth and Sanson streets.

Cap Found in Car

The car is owned by Robert L. Montgomery, of 214 Polman road, Germantown, and had been stolen Saturday night. When it was found the cushions of the machine were covered with blood and Kling's bloody cap was found in the rear seat.

Kling then admitted that the car was stolen, and as a result of his confession the police arrested Harry Boland, seventy-two years old, 1410 Erie avenue, who Kling said was the man who brought him to the hospital. "I didn't steal the machine," Kling sobbed.

Michael Ahern, of 2803 East Albert street, gate tender, said the machine narrowly escaped being struck by the Williamsport express that thundered by just as the machine made the crossing.

Boland Tells Another Tale

Boland, when questioned at his home before being arrested, said that the machine he was riding in had been hit by another automobile, but Ahern, the watchman, said this could not have been true, as, in his opinion, the men deliberately smashed through the safety gates.

Kling said that as he smashed through the gates a broken splinter of one of the cross bars struck him on the head and the shock so stunned him that the car rolled and almost crashed into a telegraph pole.

Mr. Boland took the wheel and drove him to the hospital. Then he evidently drove to Thirty-sixth and Sanson streets where he left the car to be found later by Patrolman Harry Brady, of the Thirty-second street and Woodland avenue station.

U. S. Lifts $300,000 Seizure of Erie Liquor

Examination of the books of two liquor-dealing firms of Erie, Pa., by federal authorities, has revealed no condition which warrants belief that the firms are violating any phase of prohibition requirements, and formal seizure by government agents of liquor valued at $300,000 will be lifted today.

On October 30 Agents Murray and Williams, of the Philadelphia office, raided the headquarters of Lewis Brown, wholesale liquor dealer, 322 Front street, Erie, and William Illig, general manager for the United Drug Co., 24 West Twenty-fourth street, Erie, and seized the liquor. On the same date six cafes in Erie were also raided and additional liquor seized.

Government seizure stamps were placed on liquor in the Brown and Illig establishments. The proprietors came to Philadelphia Saturday and presented their books for examination to emphasize that liquor-permit requirements were not being violated in any sense.

POLICE HOLD GIRLS

Two Are Arrested as Witnesses in Gunmen Case

Patrolman Holland, of the Twentieth and Federal streets station, arrested Marion Sharp, of Taylor street near Parrish, and Ruth Rothman, of Fifth street near Diamond, at Twenty-seventh and Wharton streets, last night, as witnesses against six alleged gunmen arrested at the same point last Wednesday night.

According to the police, Miss Sharp is said to have told of meeting the alleged gunmen on Girard avenue on the afternoon before their arrest.

Magistrate Dougherty today held the two girls in $400 bail each as witnesses against the alleged gunmen, who are being held under $1500 bail for a further hearing. Two men, arrested with the girls, were released.

Deaths of a Day

JAMES STEWART Widely Known Politician Dies at Seventy-five

James Stewart, widely known in the old political life of this city and a prominent Mason, died yesterday on the second anniversary of the death of his wife at the home of his son, Edwin Filler Stewart, near Colmar, Bucks county, with whom he had lived for the last year.

Born in County Antrim, Ireland, seventy-five years ago, Mr. Stewart emigrated to this country at the age of fifteen, and after a brief residence in South Carolina settled in the old First ward, at Fifth and Greenwich streets. He was for many years a member of the old board of guardians of the poor, and was director of the Department of Health and Charities under Mayor Filler.

Mr. Stewart is survived by ten children, nine of whom are married. They are Dr. William T. Stewart, Camden, S. C.; Mrs. William C. Proctor, Dallas, Tex.; Mrs. Henry J. Gibbons and Mrs. George E. Bean, Cynwyd; James Bolton Stewart, United States consul at Chihuahua, Mex.; Mrs. Nathaniel Gildersleeve, Lansdowne; Edwin Filler Stewart, Colmar; Miss Nancy R. Stewart, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. Henry A. Hort, Fallon, Nev., and Mrs. Howard A. Stockwell, Belmont, Mass.

Mr. Stewart was a thirty-third-degree Mason, and for thirty-five years a member of Old Pine Street Presbyterian Church. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George E. Bean, 236 Bryn Mawr road, Cynwyd. The officiating clergymen will be the Rev. Dr. J. Gray Bolton, pastor of Hope Presbyterian Church, of Camden, Stewart's cousin, and the Rev. Victor Herbert Lukens, pastor of Old Pine Street Presbyterian Church.

Darby Soldier Buried

The body of William McKinley Childs, who was killed in France October 10, 1918, while serving with a United States naval aviation section, was buried with military honors at Mount Zion Cemetery, Darby, yesterday. The funeral procession consisted of a detachment of sailors from League Island, Washington Camp, 314, Patriotic Sons of America; Boy Scouts, Grand Army, Spanish War Veterans and world war veterans. Three volleys were fired over the grave and taps blown by a marine bugler.

Francis J. Holm

Francis J. Holm, formerly a contractor, seventy-nine years old, 7834 West Chester pike, died yesterday at his home after a brief illness. His widow, six sons and three daughters survive him. The Rev. Gladstone Holm, pastor of the Babcock Methodist Episcopal Church of Frankford, is his eldest son.

Mrs. Margaret Gable

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Gable, a well-known resident of Philadelphia, was held this afternoon from her residence, 4035 Spruce street. She was eighty-four years of age, and leaves three daughters, Mrs. William Campbell, Mrs. A. L. Danner, and Mrs. Samuel E. Townsend, all of this city, and an only grandson, William Camp-

DIPPEL, NOW POOR, SELLS INSURANCE

Former Impresario, Well Known Here, Will Be Given Grand Opera Benefit

BEGAN MUSIC STUDIES AT 6

Andreas Dippel, familiar to Philadelphia music lovers as an operatic tenor and manager of the Philadelphia Grand Opera Co., has lost his fortune and now is selling insurance in Chicago, according to dispatches from that city.

Dippel was worth several hundred thousand dollars, but lost virtually all his fortune in unfortunate business speculations in New York and Chicago. Dispatches from Chicago say his entire livelihood is based on what he earns selling insurance.

Friends and admirers of Dippel in Chicago have arranged an operatic benefit for him in Orchestra Hall on December 3, and virtually all of the operatic stars in Chicago on that date will sing, as it is an "off night" on opera programs.

Dippel was born in Kassel, Germany, on November 30, 1860. He began studying music when six years old, but was in the banking business for several years before turning to music as a vocation.

His fine tenor voice was supported by a fine physique and a wonderful faculty of memorizing parts on short notice. He sang in this country for the first time during the years 1890-91, making his American debut in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York. He came back several times before becoming administrative manager of the Metropolitan during 1908-09-10.

In 1910 he took over the directorship of the Chicago-American Grand Opera Co., and it is in this role that he is most familiar to Philadelphians. He produced many operas here while directing the destinies of that company.

HARDING THANKS LEAVITT

President of Tract and Mission Society Here Gets Letter

The Rev. W. A. Leavitt, president of the Philadelphia Tract and Mission Society, 723 Walnut street, today received a letter of thanks from President-elect Harding for a congratulatory message sent by Dr. Leavitt on November 3. Dr. Leavitt has been a staunch supporter of Senator Harding since his nomination. Mr. Harding being particularly interested in one of his tracts entitled "The Family Altar," a plea for a return to family worship in American homes.

Dr. Leavitt is well known among Philadelphians as the hero of a naval exploit in the Civil War, which won him the personal thanks of Abraham Lincoln. During the pursuit of a Confederate blockade runner, as chief engineer of a Union gunboat, he succeeded in blowing up his boilers in the effort to catch the craft. Upon overhauling her he was the first to board her and haul down the Confederate flag. The flag is now a cherished possession at his home, 2052 North Twenty-second street.

NAB APARTMENT BURGLAR

Thieves made their way to the bedroom of Mrs. Ralph de Mucy, 1826 South Juniper street, early yesterday morning and obtained jewelry valued at $7000.

The burglars climbed a pillar of the front porch and entered from the porch roof. The jewelry was in the drawer of a dresser.

Two men attacked Max Shrunck, of Sixth and Vine streets, with blackjacks on Sixth and Vine streets yesterday afternoon. They seized his pocketbook, but dropped it as they were being pursued by a score of witnesses.

Caught Entering Apartment

John Noel discovered a negro attempting to enter his apartment at 3290 Chestnut street, yesterday. Other residents of the apartment house assisted Noel in overpowering the negro, who said he was Robert Perry, of Nineteenth street near South Magistrate Harry, of the Thirty-second street and Woodland avenue station, held him in $1000 bail for a further hearing tomorrow. He had a revolver and burglar tools.

Thieves who made three attempts before they entered the store of Finkel, 228 Market street, early yesterday, were frightened away without $1000 worth of lost they had piled on a showcase.

They first broke three locks leading to the store, then they smashed a skylight, and cut their way through iron meshing and burglar alarm wires. The thieves next forced a window on the second floor.

The robbers apparently got only a cigar box full of cents.

Jacob Reed's Sons

Present an Opportunity to Secure Highest-Grade Clothing at Very Attractive Figures

IN the period of price advancement through which we have been passing, all clothing dealers have been obliged to definitely decide as to whether to maintain the quality of their product, and charge the necessary price, or to sell poorer merchandise in order to keep their goods at a low price level.

☐ Naturally, for Jacob Reed's Sons there was but one answer—we maintained our standards. Our customers realized that merchandise of the quality that we sold could not be made and sold for prices lower than we asked, and they bought of us so extensively that at times we have had difficulty in supplying the demands made upon us.

☐ We have frequently stated our sincere regret that it was necessary to charge high prices for clothing, and also that we would gladly welcome the time when we could supply our quality of merchandise at lower prices. There has recently been some slight decrease in the price of fabrics—it is probable that this downward tendency will continue. Labor costs for manufacturing clothes are not lower than they have been, and, therefore, the actual decrease in cost is small, but we foresee a depreciation in value and have decided to anticipate it by taking the loss at this time and give our customers and the general public the benefit of a considerable price saving now.

☐ We therefore announce that our entire stock of Men's Fine Quality Fancy and Blue or Black Unfinished Worsteds and Fancy Worsteds, Cheviot and Tweed Suits in newest models, all made in accordance with Reed's Unequaled Standard of Tailoring, are repriced as follows:

$45 Suits are repriced $35; $50 Suits to $40; $55 to $45; $60 to $50; $65 to $55; $70 to $60; $75 and $80 to $65; $85 to $70; $90 to $75; $95 to $80

☐ Overcoats: Fall and Winter Models in Ulsters, Chesterfields and Slip-Ons are repriced in the same proportions as Suits.

☐ Boys' First Long Trousers Suits sharply reduced—in some instances to one-half their original prices.

☐ Chauffeurs' Suits, $60 quality repriced to $50; $55 to $45.

☐ Chauffeurs' Overcoats, $75 to $65; $70 to $60; $60 to $50.

☐ A nominal charge will be made for alterations of garments—no charge for altering sleeve or trouser lengths.
