

HOLD POLICEMEN IN ELECTION CASE

Lieut. Moyer and Others Detained in $2500 Bail in 36th Ward Scandal

WARRANTS FOR FOUR MORE

Acting Lieutenant William Moyer, of the Twenty-sixth and Federal streets police station, two patrolmen and two anti-Vare workers of the Thirty-sixth ward, were held in $2500 bail for a further hearing today by Judge Monaghan as the result of alleged irregularities in that division on last election night.

The patrolmen held are Edward Snell and Martin Mulholland, and the anti-Vare men are Hugh Clavin, Twenty-seventh and Wharton streets, and Joseph Curran, of the same neighborhood.

Court officials announced that warrants had been issued for the arrest of four other workers who disappeared since election day. They are Walter Reilly, Matthew Barney, Thomas Canuso and Louis Downey.

On account of their failure to appear today Judge Monaghan said these men must be regarded as fugitives from justice.

The policemen and ward workers were arrested by Court Officer John Milligan, of Common Pleas Court No. 3. Warrants for the arrest of the men were sworn out by his son, William Milligan, who is Vare committee man of the Eighteenth division, Thirty-sixth ward.

All arrested are charged with conspiring to prevent a free and fair election. According to Vare workers, the prisoners with others took part in a general disorder which prevented a fair count in the Eighteenth division. Voters were drawn, according to the Vare men, and those who favored the election of Charles Pommer for Council were driven from the polls.

Joseph P. Gaffney today's hearing in the interest of the Vares, while Edward A. Kelly represented the administration forces.

Dr. Hart Addresses Jewish Council Today

Dr. Charles D. Hart, chairman of the Philadelphia Scout Council, addressed the Philadelphia section, Council of Jewish Women, at the Mercantile Club Library, Broad and Master streets, this afternoon.

Major Moore yesterday officially opened the Boy Scout model camp on the Parkway. Dr. Hart introduced the Mayor.

Top Thirty-three's band from the athletic recreation center, Twenty-sixth and Jefferson streets, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Chubb, supplied music, and their bugle corps blew colors while the flag was being broken out.

During the afternoon Scout Miles Eckert gave a demonstration of flap-jack cooking.

GUNNERS FLOCK TO JERSEY

Opening of Rabbit and Quail Season Tomorrow Draws Many

Gunners are flocking to South Jersey today for the opening of the rabbit and quail season tomorrow.

Game is reported plentiful in the lower end of Gloucester, Salem and Cumberland counties. Many rabbits have been seen in the fields at the lower end of Camden county.

Much of the land is posted by farmers, who will limit hunters to their circle of friends. Every hunter must carry a license. The fee for residents of New Jersey is $1.15, and a non-resident hunter must pay $10.15. Some of the clerks will keep their offices open tonight for the accommodation of the gunners.

Business Man Wanted

Growing chain store organization needs a man who is a capable sales manager and executive, one able to successfully manage Philadelphia store, to take full charge.

He must be young enough to have speed and old enough to have balance.

The man we want is entirely different from the conventional type. He must be a man who would ably and honestly decline anything but the soundest business.

To this man this stable organization offers an excellent permanent position with salary and commission consistent, $7500 possible. Security in cash must be furnished to the extent of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, which will be protected and returned at severance of business relations.

This opens up an exceptional opportunity for a man of good standing.

State age, married or single, banking and business references—in short, tell us why you can qualify in your first letter, so that we may quickly decide whether or not appointment is mutually profitable. P. O. Box 407, Philadelphia, Pa.

CHANNING RUDD

Liberty Loan Comptroller Dies as He Steps Off Train

New York, Nov. 9.—Channing Rudd, comptroller of the government loan organization of the New York Federal Reserve Bank for the last fourteen months, died suddenly from heart disease yesterday in Hoboken. He was stricken as he alighted from a train that had brought him from his home in Morris Plains.

When the first Liberty Loan campaign was launched he was appointed executive manager for Maryland, but his talents soon brought his transfer to New York. Joining the local Federal Reserve Bank on September 25, 1918, he carried on the administration of the third, fourth and Victory loans.

Lewis E. Kurtz

Millsville, N. J., Nov. 9.—Louis E. Kurtz, forty-five years old, mayor of this city, died in his home last night. He succeeded Thomas Whitaker, who resigned owing to ill health, and shortly after assuming the office was also stricken ill. Mayor Kurtz was one of the Republican leaders of Cumberland county. He leaves a widow and three children.

John Donnelly

Doylstown, Pa., Nov. 9.—John Donnelly, aged sixty-eight years, prominent business man of this borough and former burgess of the town, died suddenly at his home here yesterday of heart disease. More than fifty years ago Mr. Donnelly came to this borough and for the last twenty years conducted a stove store in this borough.

Thomas R. Grapevine

Wildwood, N. J., Nov. 9.—Thomas R. Grapevine, eighty-one years old, one of the pioneer settlers of this city, died in his Burk avenue home Sunday evening, after a lingering illness. He was a widower. He leaves two children, a son and a daughter, and a number of grandchildren.

Charles Friedel

Seaford, Del., Nov. 9.—Charles Friedel, prosperous farmer, died of cancer yesterday. He was sixty-five years old. He was a native of Lycoming county, Pa., and came to Delaware with his parents when quite young.

MANY people are so busy reading the "business - weather man's" guesses that they don't find time to look up and see how brightly the sun is shining.

TO BRING CHILDREN TO SUNDAY SCHOOL

Workers' Association Will Continue Discussion of Methods at Meeting Today

RALLY WILL END SESSION

Plans for bringing children into the Sunday school will be discussed today at the second day's sitting of the annual convention of the Sunday School Workers of Philadelphia.

The convention opened yesterday with a ministers' conference in Holy Trinity Parish House, Twentieth street below Walnut street. Dr. Alexander Henry presided.

The convention will close this evening with a rally at Holy Trinity Episcopal Church, where the regular business of the convention will be conducted. An address will be made by Dr. Henry Edward Traile, of Kansas City, on "The Teacher That Teaches."

The object of yesterday's conference was to further religious education in the church, three phases of that work being the subject of addresses by the Rev. Edward C. Kunkle, of West Chester; the Rev. Dr. Warren B. Ward, of the Westminster-Greeway Presbyterian Church, and Edward Sargent, of New York.

Mr. Sargent, the only layman to address the conference, gave what was considered the most practical solution of the educational problem.

"There are 500,000 children in New York city alone that are not connected in any way with a religious educational institution," said Mr. Sargent. "The only way we can reach those children is to have them systematically excused from school for a certain time each week to receive religious instruction. A plan by which children devote one hour or more a week of school time in religious training in some other institution has been found practical in several cities."

The Rev. Phillips E. Osgood, vicar of the chapel of the Mediator, spoke on "Parents as a Means of Teaching and Expressing Religious Truths."

Parents involve active participation in religious training of those who otherwise would be merely onlookers," said Mr. Osgood, "and in so doing provide the greatest means of expression for all people and stimulate interest in things of religious significance."

Following the ministers' conference dinner was served in the Bethany Presbyterian Church. Twenty-second and Bainbridge streets. The evening meeting was addressed by Harry Wade Hicks, general secretary New York Sunday School Association on "The Necessity of Religious Education," and Kemper G. McComb, general secretary Somerset county, on "The Leadership Training Program in the School."

Run Over Trying to Dodge Truck

Attempting to avoid a motortruck driven by Samuel Collins, of J street near Sixth, Manuel Fonten, 452 East Wiley street, was thrown from his bicycle and run over at Broad street and Girard avenue last night. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, and found to have a fractured shoulder and internal injuries.

WOMEN ALSO DISAGREE

Hammonnton Judge Finds Them Same as Men on Jury

When Justice of the Peace Strouse, of Hammonnton, N. J., decided to impanel nine women to serve on a jury to decide a case previously disagreed upon by an all-men jury, he credited himself with entertaining a very bright idea.

Today his faith in the fairer and, he has discovered, firmer sex is now rudely shattered. This morning after deliberating for an hour on the pros and cons of the case in question, Hammonnton's first nearly all-woman jury returned a verdict of disagreement.

The case concerned trespassing. Orazio Carpi was endeavoring to recover $200 damages from Peter Cuselli because the latter's chickens had done that much harm to his property.

Prominent women of Hammonnton served on the jury. They were Mrs. D. S. Bellamy, foreman; Mrs. Rose Russo, Mrs. Burton Simons, Mrs. E. A. Burdick, Mrs. Byron Davis, Miss Theresa Rubba, Mrs. Lillian Platt, Mrs. Alice Brown and Mrs. C. L. Bauer.

TROUBLE REUNITES COUPLE

Parents Join After Ten Years to Help Erring Son

Separated for ten years, husband and wife are reunited today through the troubles of a son who was committed to the House of Detention for examination of his mental condition, following his arrest three weeks ago on the charge of stealing rugs valued at $800.

When the son, Charles Highley, twenty-two years old, was sent to prison, he notified his mother, whose home is on Angora terrace near Fifty-ninth street, and his father, who has been living in Chicago for many years.

Highley hastened to this city, and aided his wife's efforts to obtain the boy's release. The couple are now living at the Angora terrace address.

Body Found in Alley Identified

The body of a man found dead in an alley yesterday morning was identified last night at the morgue as that of Walter McGaugh, forty-five years old, who was struck by a motorcar.

McGaugh was found in the rear of 727 Calowhill street by Joseph Blumenthal, the occupant of the house at that address.

127 POOR RICHARDS TO VISIT NEW YORK

Advertising Men Will Take Entertainment Features to Sphinx Club Meeting

OPERETTA WILL BE GIVEN

One hundred and twenty-seven members of the Poor Richard Club will take a special train from Broad Street Station at 3 o'clock this afternoon for New York, where they will take part in the oldest jubilee of the Sphinx Club, the oldest advertising club in America.

The Poor Richards will constitute the largest delegation of advertising men that has ever left this city to attend an interclub dinner.

The Sphinx Club has asked the Poor Richard Club to furnish half the entertainment this evening, and the followers of Benjamin Franklin will take to New York three feature acts, all original and strictly Poor-Richardian.

One feature will be a moving picture, the work of Gilbert Gable and Charles M. Wesels. The picture shows Franklin's grave opening and the reinterment of Franklin in the personage of Fred Sultzer. The picture shows him hunting several members of the Poor Richard Club, having lunch with them and being taken to New York in an airplane in time for the jubilee.

An operetta, written by Dr. David Stern and directed by Wayne Marshall, will be another feature. Seven girls and two men will take part. Each girl will be dressed to represent a well-known Philadelphia product. Its virtues will be sung as a parody on some popular song.

The third feature will be the impersonation of Karl Bloomingdale, president of the Poor Richard Club, and R. H. S. Huntsman, president of the Sphinx Club, by two members of the Poor Richard Club. The men will recite the real presidents of perpetrating a fraud on the Sphinx Club. Mr. Bloomingdale will be impersonated by Philip Kind, and Mr. Huntsman by Walter Lee Rosenberger.

TO PROBE ELECTION FRAUDS

New York Grand Jury to Hear Evidence Today

New York, Nov. 9.—(By A. P.)—District Attorney Edward Swann ordered laid before the grand jury today alleged election frauds reported since the election a week ago.

Among these were the finding of twenty-six ballots, marked for Democratic candidates, in a sewer near one polling place, and the report by Mrs. Nora Stanton Barney, an election official, that Republican ballots cast in the thirteen election districts of the First Assembly district were declared "void" by other officials over her protest.
