TIGERS SLIGHT FAVORITE OVER YALE IN BIGGEST GAME OF WEEK ON PRINCETON GRID TOMORROW

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledges

THE most important gridiron matinee on this week's bill will be held in Princeton, N. J., when the college team named after that town puts on an act with the Yales. The performance has caused so much talk and the public is so intensely interested that a capacity house will view what is going on. In fact, the act could play to standing room only, all week.

Yale is ready for Princeton and Princeton is ready for Yale. This is absolutely true. Both teams know they are going to play the annual battle on Saturday, and they would be suckers if they weren't ready. If the truth were known, they have been rehearsing for a couple of

Therefore, it is to be expected that the Tiger and the Bulldog will be trained to the split second and some strenuous stunts will be pulled. It is Princeton's last game of the season. The Blue still has to meet Harvard. For that reason the Orange and Black will fire both barrels, because the team cares nothing for the future. Not this year, anyway,

On the eve of a big battle like this there always is a favorite. Such is the case now, only those who pick the winner in advance are not noisy about it. There is a feeling that Yale will be walloped, not by a big score, but walloped just the same. The reason for this dope has not been explained. Perhaps it is because Princeton has romped through the season without a defeat and played a swell game against Harvard. Also, because Yale has been defeated once and had a narrow escape at the hands of Brown last week.

Princeton has a good football team. It is better than in years, with a more versatile attack and a sound defense. Yale will have to put out a strong eleven to win from Roper's aggregation, and some of the wise crackers say this has been done.

Recently we received an inside tip that the Yale coaches had spent most of their time in developing players instead of plays and the real team would not be seen until Princeton and Harvard were played. Only five formations were used this season, and these proved adequate except in the Boston College disaster.

AGAINST Princeton there will be a different attack and perhaps this will be a surprise. The coaches expect to put something over on the Tigers. That's the dope.

Pitt Has Hard Game With W. and J.

THERE are other important games on the program, L the next in importance, to my mind, being the Pittsburgh-Washington and Jefferson affair in Pittsburgh. W. and J. has wonderful material and early in the season was looked upon as one of the most formidable elevens in the East. However, the schedule was entirely too easy and in the first hard game there came a reverse.

After beating Bethany, Kalamazoo, Geneva, Lehigh and Westminster, Syracuse was taken on, and Syracuse wor by the score of 14 to 0. Early in the season Pitt played n 7-to-7 tie with the Orange. The defeat of last Saturday probably will do W. and J. a lot of good and make men play all the harder against Pitt. Warner has a peculiar team this year. Some days it looks wonderful and on other days very sad. Last Saturday against Penn the Pitt team, aided by the sensational individual work of Tom Davies, won by the score of 27 to 21. A close game like that was unexpected, for Penn is not very strong this year.

DERHAPS Warter was saving up his good stuff for the W. and J. game and didn't open up against Penn. Illso, his team might have had an off day-one of those midseason slumps we hear so much about. Just the same, Pitt will have to play better football than last Saturday to win from Washington and Jefferson.

Dartmouth Favored Over Penn

DARTMOUTH plays Penn on Franklin Field, and this, U too, should be a great struggle. The team from Hanover appears to have the edge, but there is no telling what Penn will do. The Red and Blue has improved wonderfully in the last week and might show some real

On the other hand. Dartmouth has a smooth-working machine, with a great assortment of plays and the men to make the plays effective. With Robertson back in the inc-up, the Green will be hard to beat.

Brown threw a scare into Yale last week and is all set to make it uncomfortable for Harvard. The Crimson probably will play a conservative game, as against Princeton, and will not come out of the shell except as a last resort, as in the Princeton game. Harvard has a powerful team and probably will win by a small score.

CORNELL collides with Columbia and this game promises to be fairly even. The Ithacans, despite their brilliant early-season record, are not very strong, and the same goes for Columbia. It will be more of a battle between the coaches. Dobie and O'Neill are as friendly as a pair of mileposts.

SCORES WIN FOR EMANUEL

Charlton's Timely Shot Defeats Summerfield in Contest for Leadership of Northeast Church Basketball League

THE most exciting game of basketball ever played in the Northeast Church League was witnessed by a crowd that jammed every inch of available space in Disston Hall, Cedar and Cumberland streets last evening, when the Emanuel champions met Summerfield in a battle for first place. or first place.
Emanuel won by the narrowest margin possible, a single point, score 27-28. The winning goal was caged by Charlton, the tall pivot of Emanuel, who sent the ball spinning through the net in the last ten seconds, with his team one point in the rear. Considerable interest was shown in the clash on account of a change in managers. Jim Pollock, who guided the champions last season, has become affiliated with Summerfield, and Emanuel was anxious to win as Pollock's boys were tied for the lead and had not lost a single game. a single game. Close All the Way

The totals were close all the way. First one team would lead by a point and then the other. At no time did the figures vary more than five points. The score at the end of the first half was 15-13 in favor of Emanuel. Summerfield came strong in the second stanza and was leading when Charlton came through with the goal that gave Emanuel the victory.

The best shot of the game was a sensational goal from way past the middle by Mackrell. The shooting of Bobby Hamilton was also an outstanding feature, also the floor work of Bast. Emanuel outscored Summerfield from the field, nine goals to eight.

In the other game, Good Shepherd frimmed Union Tabernacle, 35-19. The former led 17-16 in the first half, but the work of Marcus Love in shooting Monday night games.

City College Season Opens

The City College Basketball League got away to a good start at the Cental Y. M. C. A. last evening, when Philadelphia College of Pharmacy defeate Philadelphia Dentals, 31-21, and Ossopathy won over Textile, 28-22.

Dentals had the best of the game scoring from the field, but Philadelphia College gained the decision by the ascurate free tossing of Frock, who made twenty-three out of twenty-five tries at foul shooting. The fast work of Therburn and Brocklehurst, the Osteopati forwards, was the feature of the other game.

Nativity, which opens the season in the American League on Monday night, played usual home contest toulght at Belgrade stead and Alleighenv avenue. Manager Pal Bullet has booked the S. P. H. A. five.

Philadelphia travels to Trenton to take the Potters to an Eastern Learue clash to evening. Manager Bill Myors announce that Willie Miller has sufficiently recovers to resume his old position at guard, when he will pair off with Ray Cross.
