Tomorrow the Christmas Gift Buying Will Begin in Real Earnest

This Is One of the Last Paintings That Came From Paris, From the Last Salon

It represents an evening with the old father and mother, and well serves in suggestiveness that the old people still need to see us, that they may read the letters of the absent and cheer them in their loneliness with their few surroundings. They have so little without a visit now and then to give tone to their Thanksgiving week.

It is plain to see that their old eyes cannot read the message or the letter that has come from the war hospital close by the battlefield, but the young daughter reads it aloud to them that their soldier hero is not dead, but lives.

This Thanksgiving Day that has come to us finds our nation in the midst of its slow convalescence from its fever of war and turmoil.

But—it lives!

Our benefits and mercies are unbounded.

The temporary disarrangement in commercial activities, attendant upon the unavoidable reaction from high war prices, is in course of settlement upon a sound basis, and we shall all go ahead to better times.

Women's Velveteen Dresses for $38.50

Prices of their duplicates early in the season were from $15 to $30 more, so that the woman who buys late is really saving a substantial sum by doing so.

They are made of an excellent quality of velveteen, are in really beautiful colors—taupe, purple, black, green, brown and maroon, and are made in four styles, one entirely simple and the others embroidered. Altogether they are rich and very attractive affairs.

WOMEN ARE MORE PARTICULAR ABOUT THEIR RAINCOATS

Some of the best looking are the new English raincoats, which are quite unique in their way. They go from $25 for a smart black rubberized cloth coat with contrasting colored collar and cuffs up to $85 for the finest weatherproofed cloth. Among them are the new colored raincoats with certain fashion features at $45 and $47.50. They have hats to match at $10 and $12.50.

American raincoats start at $16 for a good rubberized mohair and go up to $65 for the weatherproofed cloths. The popular oil silk raincoats are $26.50 and the capes $28.50.

Gold Decorated Glass A Charming Gift Ware

We don't know of another ware that appeals so strongly to so many people. Probably we could say it is the most popular of gift wares and be well within the truth. It is just rich enough and decorative enough to be impressive and moderately enough priced to meet popular requirements.

In gold-encrusted pieces there are:
Sugar and cream sets, $6.50 and $7.50.
Candy jars, $4, $5.50 and $6.50.
Mayonnaise sets, $8.50.
Berry bowls, $6.
Handled sandwich trays, $6.50, $7 and $8.

TWO CHEERFUL BOOKS OF FICTION

"Winsome Winnie" and other new nonsense novels, by Stephen Leacock. Price, $1.75. Over a hundred thousand of Leacock's nonsense novels have been sold in America and England—which gives new readers an idea what to expect.

"Thuvia, Maid of Mars," by Edgar Rice Burroughs, $1.75. One of a series which easily rivals the Tarzan series.

(Main Floor, Thirteenth)

LEATHER-COVERED GIFT BOOKS FROM ENGLAND

Quite delightful little address, memo and "at home" books, letter registers, calendars and a few handsome folding writing cases. The latter are of real morocco.

Many people like these little articles for Christmas gifts and they will be much interested in the prices, from 20c for a tiny calendar up to $20 for a writing case.

(Main Floor, Chestnut)

Christmas Cards

The gay little holiday messengers have been carefully selected from the vast yearly output of thousands of styles. They are arranged on large counters under a good light and lots of people are buying them now rather than waiting till the Christmas rush is on.

A Lot of Beautiful Kermanshah Rugs Back at the Old Lower Prices

To anybody who knows what beautiful Persian weaves of this kind used to sell for five years ago and who also knows what they generally sell for today, this list of pieces belonging to our own stock should be interesting reading. It will be still more interesting to see the rugs themselves, for we don't believe there is such another collection at the prices in the whole country.

The Men's Christmas House Coats Are Here

Comfortable jackets of double-faced cloth and velvet in the styles men like for house wear.

The cloth coats are in checks, plaids and mixtures and are $10 to $25.

The velvet coats are in rich plain colors—red, taupe, green, black and blue—and the finer ones are bound with black silk braid. The prices of these are $35 and $50.

The above have just arrived to join the Japanese quilted silk housecoats already here at $12 and $18.

(Main Floor, Market)

Men's Fur Collars of Real Distinction

The Men's Hat Store is showing some separate fur collars that are beauties. Every one is of carefully selected fur and every one is made so that when affixed to an overcoat it looks as if it belongs there.

The furs included are coney, sealine, beaver, racoon, muskrat, otter, Hudson seal (dyed muskrat) and Alaska seal.

Prices range from $20 to $200.
