JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Talks of the Balls Given This Week. She Hears of the Doll Bazaar of the Emergency Aid. Sees Pretty Costume Worn by Miss Brinton

THAT was a beautiful dance the Tuckers gave last night for Russell at the Bellevue-Stratford. Goodness, you wouldn't you think that the debs could be dead, three dances in succession, and football games yesterday at Penn and tomorrow in New York the Army and Navy game! However, they have more chance to rest than the men, because they can sleep most of the morning. To be sure, the poor dear men had a holiday yesterday so they could sleep till time for the game at Franklin Field. It's a great life, so you don't weaken.

I THOUGHT the Heckschers' ballroom was one of the prettiest I had seen for many a night on Thanksgiving Eve. It represented a Japanese scene and the chrysanthemums were of yellow, white and lavender, and there were hundreds of Japanese lanterns with electric lights inside which were most artistic and lovely. That was a big ball, you know, some 700 guests invited.

The dance last night was more of a debutante affair, only the debutantes and a few others being asked. Russell looked very well in a frock of green brocaded satin. She has just the right coloring for green and it was most becoming. The bodice was cut square at the neck and straps were arranged over the shoulder. Dr. and Mrs. Tucker entertained at dinner before the dance, as did several others, and an interesting part of last night's party was a number of guests from Baltimore, Washington, New York and Princeton.

Dr. Tucker is a brother of Mr. Russell Evans Tucker, of New York, who married Miss Clara Nichols, of this city. They lived here for many years, but with their sons moved to New York about ten years ago. Dr. Tucker and his sisters, Mrs. H. R. M. Landis and Miss Elizabeth Tucker, are triplets. They are the children of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Tucker, of this city.

Mrs. Tucker was Miss Sophie Ashton, a sister of Dr. Thomas G. Ashton and Dr. William E. Ashton. Russell made her debut at a tea which Dr. and Mrs. Tom Ashton gave to introduce their daughter, Anne, on October 23. Margaretta Harrison was also introduced at that tea.

Tonight's dance for Augusta Harrison will be larger, I understand.

I SAW Kitty Brinton on Chestnut street the other day looking very smart in a sports suit of a sort of attar of rose color, with a hat of the same material.

She wore a bit of Japanese mink about her neck and the pink of the suit with Kitty's lovely pink-and-white skin and fair curly hair left nothing to be desired for the eye, I must say. She is very pretty.

THE Emergency Aid is getting together more than ever lately, it seems to me, and now I hear that on Saturday they are to have an all-day bazaar of dolls and fancy articles to benefit the children's work of the home-relief of the Emergency Aid. I hear that the dolls are simply lovely. And what do you think they are going to do? They have got Santa Claus himself to consent to ride on here from his shop that day and stay most of the time in Rittenhouse Square. And we can all go there and see him and whisper in his ear just what we want for Christmas. I think that's simply wonderful, don't you? Why, I don't remember ever having a chance to speak to Santy so far ahead of Christmas before. It augurs well that there'll be no hitch about our getting just the things we ask for as well as some lovely surprises. Me, I'm going up early and talk to him much and often.

I HAVE another bit of news to give you about the Emergency Aid. They are going to open a cafeteria there on Monday and keep it up all the year round. At least that is what I understand. It's to be self-supporting, but the prices will be very reasonable, and it sounds a good idea to me. I understand Mrs. Eli K. Price and Mrs. Andrew Wright Crawford are in charge of the cafeteria. Mrs. Dave Lewis is at the head of the bazaar tomorrow and, of course, a great many of the members of the Aid are working with her.

SARAH BARRINGER is to be introduced at a tea this afternoon and Augusta Harrison will be given a ball at the Bellevue-Stratford by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Harrison, Jr. So if you think there is rest for the weary where a debutante is concerned you are truly mistaken. Three balls in one week is going some!

Next week will be very gay, too; so we will not have much time to rest from gayety till Christmas Day itself, and there'll be plenty doing that day, too. But this year there's a Sunday to rest on after Christmas, so I hope we'll all live through it all.

NANCY WYNNE.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Invitations have been issued for the Assemblies, which will be held on Friday, January 7, and Friday, February 4, at the Bellevue-Stratford.
