by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Custis Harrison. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were used in the decorations, being arranged about the ball room in tall henna colored Persian vases. Southern smilax and cybodium ferns were used in lavish profusion everywhere, and the boxes were banked with greens of every variety, and in each box was a huge vase of chrysanthemums, while ropes of smilax covered the wall back of the boxes. The stage was banked with small evergreen trees, luge vases were placed about the stage and were filled with chrystanthemums, Mrs. Harrison looked perfectly lovely, Bhe is a stunning-looking woman I always think. Augusta was stunning, too in a younger way, of course, and oh, what a pretty dress she had on! course, and oh, what a pretty dress she had on! It was of the softest and richest white satin and was made on imple plain lines. Real lace was used for the shoulder straps and also on the bodice. Mrs. Harrison's gown was of satin, too, and very plain. It had a short train and the color was a creamy sort of ecru, and with her golden brown hair and lovely coloring, you know how becoming that was. A buffet aupper was served at midnight and the dancing continued till early this morning.

Sarah is good looking. She has dark bair and a very fair skin, and you know she is quite a finished musician. She last year in New York studying music. I remember hearing her play at several of the junior musicales and she is decidedly talented. She is a graduate of Miss Baldwin's School. Mrs. Barringer looked well, I thought. She wore a beautiful gown of dark blue velvet. The dress was trimmed with blue beads and the skirt was draped at the sides. She wore also a short

Among the girls I saw of the receiving party were Polly Thayer, Sophle Yarnall, Mary Law, Jane Coxe, Polly Griscom, Eleanor Robb, Margaretta Harrison, Mary Howland, Rita Heckscher, Virginia Carter, Anne Ashton, Rosamond Stewardson, Marjorie Gibbon, Charlotte, Ster. The quartet, as I think I have told you before, gives several concerts for different charities each year, their services being donated. This time they will sing a Shakespeare song cycle in appropriate costume and with appropriate stage setting. They are appropriate stage setting. They are calling the evening "An Old English Garden." The quartet includes Edna Harwood Baugher, Loretta LePitre Stahl, Philip Warren Cooke and Donald Redding. The Chapin Memorial Home for the Blind is the only nonsec-tarian home in the state, I am told, and St. Luke's Hospital does 70 per cent charity work, so it seems a most worthy cause.

HAVE you heard of the performance of Marionettes to be given for the benefit of St. Christopher's Day Nursery this aftermoon at the Bellevue-Stratford? Margaret Berwind, Kitty Brinton, Mrs. Arthur Brockie, Mrs. John G. Clark, Mrs. Louis Clarke, Mrs. Edward Dale, Mrs. Albert Gerhard, Mrs. Alfred Stengel, Mrs. Graham Dougherty, Miss Emily Philler, Mrs. Frederick Jordan, Jr., Mrs. Stogdell Stokes and a number of other women are interested in this day nursery, and the Marionette performance is being given under their direction. I hear that the little wooden-headed actors play the plano, smoke, dance, sing, play ball, ride horses and do everything under the sun to delight the heart of a child, as well as a grown-up child.

THAT was a very pretty tea at the Barringers yesterday when Sarah was introduced by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Moreau Barringer. They are living at 2105 Walnut street this winter, you know, and the tea was given there.

Sarah wore a most unusual frock in that it was made of a very rich pink brocaded satin which had been worn by her grandmother, and it was embroidered in pastel shades of cerise, green and blue. The skirt was very artistically draped and the corsage was adorned with silver ribbon. The bodice was cut with a V neck and had no sleeves, A pink tulle sash was worn with the

The Coming War Between the "Closed" and "Open" Shop

In the belief that the "open-shop" crusade is intended to undo everything union labor has accomplished and to "feudalize America," the heads of the American Federation of Labor are making war plans. These labor leaders agree "that a united front must be presented to these attacks, and that every unwarranted attempt to reduce wages and working conditions to prewar levels must be resisted with every legitimate weapon." Thus, as the Baltimore Sun notes, labor and capital are lining up for a finish fight. The leading business interests "will bargain collectively with labor only when forced to do so" and "a concentrated campaign of the employers' interests already has been launched against organized labor on the reaffirmation of the 'openshop' principle and on the stand that wages must be reduced as part of the process of deflation."

The labor situation is probably the biggest problem that confronts the great mass of the American people today, and as this article in the "DIGEST" this week-November 27thpresents opinions from all sides, it will be read closely.
