Letters to the Editor

Enjoys McCain's Column

Dear Editor: The brief but commendable tribute paid to the late William H. McCain by George H. McCain in the Evening Public Ledger recently was read by me with unusual interest. My acquaintance with Mr. McCain covered a period of many years, and to know that his life and work were both admired is very gratifying.

The Women Will Fight

Dear Editor: I have read in the columns of your newspaper paper in our home that our Governor Spruell has said that he is determined to see that the women's suffrage amendment is not carried over to the next session.

Suggests Remedy for Crime

Dear Editor: Most people are up in arms in regard to the crime being committed throughout the city. Most of them want Council to pass some more laws or the chief of police to arrest some one, but in my opinion, the lawmaking bodies and the police are not the only agencies for the prevention of crime.

Appreciates Editorial

Dear Editor: The article in your issue of November 22, 1920, regarding the influence of the saloon on the character of the city is a most timely and well written one.

Questions Answered

Depends on What Patent Covers

Dear Editor: I am sorry to read in your issue of November 22, 1920, that you are unable to answer my question regarding the patent on an automobile machine.

Weston's Walking Records

Dear Editor: I will appreciate it if in your People's Forum you will name some of the great walking records of E. H. Weston, the "Grand Old Man of the Road."

Naturalization Papers

Dear Editor: A friend of mine took out his first papers in 1905, but failed to take out his final papers.

Panama Canal Tolls

Dear Editor: I have been told that England has the privilege of paying the Panama canal tolls less than other nations.

Irish Home Rule

Dear Editor: It is true that early in the recent past a bill for home rule for Ireland passed the British House of Commons.

To Be Married After Divorce

Dear Editor: Please advise through your People's Forum if there must any time elapse and how long before a divorcee can be married again.

William Penn Statue

Dear Editor: As a stranger to your city up to within a year, I will appreciate it if you will give me some facts about the William Penn statue.

Heart to Heart With "W. L. C."

Dear Editor: Let me have a little heart-to-heart talk with "W. L. C." regarding his troubles with his "late friend" Mrs. C.

New York Scores One

Dear Editor: As a New Yorker, temporarily in your midst, I wish to congratulate your city on the passage of the certain editorial in a recent issue regarding traffic regulations.

Defends His Faith

Dear Editor: May I include in a few remarks on the recent attacks of Mr. Henry Ford upon our honorable element of American Jews—the Jewish people?

Poems and Songs Desired

Dear Editor: Please advise through your People's Forum if there must any time elapse and how long before a divorcee can be married again.

Two Poems Located

Dear Editor: The poem desired by "C. C. P." which quotes the line, "Cleanse the stone and thou shalt find me," is, I think, King's "Song of Maritima."

Wants Two Songs

Dear Editor: Will you please print the old song called "The Band of Good My Mother Wore?" or perhaps a kind reader can send it in if you do not have it. The song entitled "Way Down East." This is the first line in

Who Wrote It?

Dear Editor: I desire to know who wrote the following: "In battle or business, whatever the game, in law or in love, it is ever the same, in the struggle for power or the scramble for gold."

Two Songs Requested

Dear Editor: Can a reader send in these old songs: "We're old folks now, my darling, my hair is turning gray, but, taking the years together, you'll always find a way."

When Irish Eyes Are Smiling

Dear Editor: Please print in your People's Forum the song called "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," by KATHLEEN McTIGUE.

A Song Supplied

Dear Editor: I am giving below the words of the song "Mrs. Harrison Polinskie," by Mrs. HARRISON POLINSKIE.

Wanamaker & Brown

Market at Sixth for 59 Years

Flannel shirts and Stetson hats.

Where there ain't no pomp nor glitter, Where an shillie's called a bill, Where at night the maples twitter, Where the Indian habits were fit.

Take me where there ain't no subway, Nor no forty-story skyscraper, Where they stay at automobiles, Dudes, plug hats and three-rail tracks, Take me where the sunset lingers, On its purple and its gold, Take me back to old Montana, Let me die there when I'm old.

Criticism in Verse To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Last Monday night I was walking along Broad street and entered a drug store. Seated at one of the glass-covered soda-water tables and all alone was a girl pouring her face. I said to her: "Don't try to show off. With your powder and puff, For the stuff you are using, The place to dress up, In your private boudoir; But, taking the years together, You'll always find a way."

With your powder and puff, For the stuff you are using, The place to dress up, In your private boudoir; But, taking the years together, You'll always find a way."

"You ask me why upon my breast, I'm changed from day to day, I'm faded and I'm old and gray, I wear the blue and gray, I had two brothers long ago, Two brothers, little and gay, One wore a suit of northern blue, And one a southern gray."

"When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—Please print in your People's Forum the song called "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," by KATHLEEN McTIGUE.

A Song Supplied To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—I am giving below the words of the song "Mrs. Harrison Polinskie," by Mrs. HARRISON POLINSKIE.

By road or river, countryside or town, I roam forever with my little brown, O'weeny over-burn has gladdy, When outside the winter hours, Playing sadly, playing madly, Making up the rats and ows.

Chorus Ah, it was gay, light and day, "Purr and clings" weather, Puffs and I, wandering by, Over the world together, Puffs and I, wandering by, Over the world together.

Down by the river, summer nights I lie, Flowers for my pillow, and for roof the sky, Playing all my heart remembers, My old songs from far away, Golden June and bleak December, Ride around me as I play.

On, on forever, till the journey ends, Who shall discover two such trusty friends? Make the future fairly glow, Lift the clouds that gather round me, Like my trusty little bow?

"A Billet Doux" To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—There is a little poem entitled "A Billet Doux," which I should like to see in your People's Forum.

A Billet Doux She was a winsome country lass, So William, on a brief vacation, Most pleasantly the time to pass, Kissed and flirted, And as they strolled in twilight dim, While near the time for parting drew, Asked if she'd like to have from him A billet doux.

OF French this simple maid knew naught, But doubt not I would write something neat, Upon its meaning quickly thought, Then, in a trice, Upward she turned her pretty head, Her rosy lips together drew, For purpose plain, and cooly said: "Yes, Billy, do."

A Song Supplied To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger: Sir—In the Evening Public Ledger the other evening I note one of your readers called for the poem "Take Me Back to Old Montana." Some years ago I committed this poem to memory. I am not sure that it is accurate, but as I remember it here it is: TAKE ME BACK TO OLD MONTANA Take me back to old Montana, Where there's lots of men and air, Where the cowboy's cottonwood vine trees, Hit the root and prickly pear, Where the old Missouri river, And the muddy Yellowstone, Make green patches in the bad lands, Where old sitting Bull was known.

Take me where there's diamond lichen, Hopes and brands and crinkle boots; Where the boys were chaps for breeches.

The People's Forum will appear daily in the Evening Public Ledger, and also in the Philadelphia Record. It is a place where you can discuss timely topics and be printed, as well as renewed interest, and questions of general interest will be answered.
