Nancy Wynne Speaks of the Packard Ball Tonight. Several Parties Planned for Miss Gummey. Smart Costumes Seen Recently

THE George Packards will give a man holidays with his mother, Mrs. dance tonight at the Ritz-Carlton Rutherford Pearson, at the Bellevue-Stratford. for their daughter Ruth, and many are the dinners to take place before that event. Ruth is a sister of Mrs. Arthur Billings and Betty Packard, you know. and appears to be a very popular young rson. I happened along the other day to a group of debutantes, and every other one seemed to be saying, "Where's Ruth?" or "Oh! I want to tell that to Ruth," and several other such remarks, and I looked about when a sudden exclamation of pleasure broke forth from the group. It was because Ruth was arriving. I did not need to hear any more to know how popular she is.

The Joe Bartows are giving a large theatre party for their two daughters. Elizabeth and Mary, before the dance. Elizabeth, you remember, came out last year, and Mary is a bud of this season. Dr. and Mrs. Francis Packard will en-tertain at dinner for Ruth and for Marjorie Gibbon before the dance, and the Alan Wilsons will give a dinner for Polly Griscom. The Harry Ber-winds will entertain for "Neo" Strawbridge and the Johnson Wards will entertain for Priscilla Davis.

SAW Dorothy Newbold Ritchie the other day wearing a most stunning coat of gray for with black collar and cuffs. Her hat was a small model of black-cut velvet turned off the face and with soft folds of the material arranged across the brim as a sort of trimming. Dorothy is good-looking and has a charming manner. What a sad time she had during her wedding trip last June. You remember her father, Mr. Arthur Emlen Newbold, died suddenly while she was on her way to Bermuda.

just a few days after her wedding. I remember his funeral took place just exactly one week from her wedding day in the same church where he had given her in marriage.

THAT dance which the Harry Curtises, of Overbrook, gave last night at the Merion Cricket Club, was a de-lightful affair. It was for Margaret, their debutante daughter, and Mrs. Curtis and her other daughter, Mrs. George A. Huhn, 3d. received with the debutante. Margaret looked perfectly lovely. She were the sweetest frock of white tulle and chiffon, and it was trim-med with pink rosebuds. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of tiny roses, too, and looked fairer than ever with her golden hair and lovely pink cheeks. Mrs. Huhn was stunning, too, in pale green georgete. She was Alma Curtts you remember. Mrs. Curtis was very andsomely gowned in black chiffon ballroom was decorated with ferns and palms and garlands of smilax. Supper was served at midnight and it was altogether a beautiful affair. The Reginald Morrises entertained for Ot-tilie Morris before the dance, and Vivienne Bartlett was also a guest of honor

IN TOWN there was a theatre party followed by supper at the Ritz-Carlton given by the Algernon Clapps for Eleanor Gummey. Eleanor is being much entertained, by the way, invitations came out yesterday for a dance to be given in her honor by Dr. and Mrs. George Fales Baker, at the Beller was Eleanor Gummay. The suppersion of the colorado Springs, Col., are spending the winter in Rome, Italy.

I HEAR that the members of the Independence Square Auxiliary of the Red Cross are to meet together today at Red Cross headquarters, 218 South Nineteenth street. While the auxiliary is not active in Red Cross work, most of such work having stopped with peace, some of the children in the Philadelphia Hospital. So today 100 letters to Santy which have been written by the children out there, will be answered with gifts.

I think it's a splendid idea. So many of the Red Cross committees that worked for years during the war have felt thas they wanted to hold together in some way and this special auxi'lary has chosen this Christmas work to do every
