TODAY'S MYSTERY STORY By PHILIP FRANCIS NOWLAN

Yesterday's Mystery Solution "I'T WAS quite simple," said Harvey Hunt afterward, in explaining to his friend DeKyne his reasoning in the rase of the Arkwright jewels. "At first noted with only casual interest the method to rob." "But my interest was quickened when noticed that sume of the stumps in the tray were chewed up a bit at the rends. That's a trick many method." 'You'll note, Mr. Crownstein, that the tray were chewed up a bit at the rends. That's a trick many method. The manufacturing leweler waved his hand toward the long narrow tank which, before the robbery, had held many hundreds of gallons of the gold solution. Then he turned back to the reg Hunt, and taking him by the line timed in a lower tone: The answer will appear tomocrow.

"The thing is to need mystery. This room, you understand, is backed that night by Mr. Blum, the general man-nger. The only two keys to the Yale lock there are, we have them, he and I. THE DAILY NOVELETTE lock there are, we have them, he and I. Last night he looks up the team as usual. You note there is only the door and the barred window. Beyond the wall there the packing department is working overtime until 10 oblock. About 9:30, zip' the electric lights go out, and there s nonly a ranke among the girls, but bundly freekman-mels the head of the packing department-gets them all out of the building and looks up with the nid of a neeker flash lamp. "Of course she didu't chew her clifar ettes. Hence the only person who could have done so was the intruder. You remember 1 told you that ashes also were scattered carelessly over the floor. That told me that no visitor of Mrs. Arkwright's was responsible. One does not call on a lady and throw ashes on her floor. The subject was undoubtedly the thief. "So all I had to do was interview the mains who eleaned in the rooms in this morning and get the name of the guests who so mutillated their subjects. There were three. One was a Toronto man, who so multilater from the line of states senator, and, of course, above stati-cion. Another was a Toronto man, youched for personally by the manager. The third was our friend the 'Honorable Horace Sinclair,' whose real name is James Waiker, and who is better known to the police as 'English.'' XXXII Can you solve this problem of— Liquid Gold

Is your motor expense getting too high?

Offset higher costs of fuel and other supplies by greater economies in operation. Obtain greater power and mileage, lessen repairs, lower depreciation and get longer car life.

The solution is accurate and efficient lubrication. Three-fourths of the troubles that cut down power, boost gas and oil consumption, run up repair bills and shorten car life are caused by faulty lubrication-using oils poor in quality or wrong in type.

SUNOCO Motor Oil makes accurate and efficient engine lubrication certain. Its high quality and scientific accuracy are guaranteed by the Sun Company-specialists in lubrication-one of the world's largest producers, refiners and distributors of petroleum products.

SUNOCO, with its six distinct types, insures an oil that will maintain a proper piston-ring seal in your engine. That means maximum power from every gallon of gasoline-no leakage of raw gas into the crank case.

SUNOCO, in addition, protects you against carbon deposit-the motorist's greatest enemy. That is because SUNOCO is a wholly-distilled oil, absolutely free from carbon-forming elements, "The Burning Test" proves it.

Prove for yourself the wonderful qualities and superiority of SUNOCO. Have your crank case drained, cleaned and filled with the right type for your engine, as designated by the dealer's "Sunoco Lubrication Guide."
