

RIGHTS TO CONTROL BRITISH CABINET FRENCH SOCIALISTS SEEKS IRISH PEACE

Party Funds and Newspaper in Possession of Lenin's Opponents

DISREGARD MOSCOW EDICT

Situation Is Improving, Says Writer, but Government Has Not Relaxed Its Efforts

DENIES DE VALERA IS HOME

By the Associated Press

Tours, France, Dec. 30.—The right wing of the Socialists today declared itself to be the Socialist party of France. Its members have control of a considerable part of the party funds and also of the newspaper, Humanité, which is in the name of Deputy Marcel Sembat and various other individual Socialists, but in reality belongs to the Socialist party.

Efforts to prevent a united front selected to the adhesion of the organization to the Third International at Moscow have been unavailing, and it appears that the party had been thrown into three factions.

These were the left wing, which has voted to obey explicitly the commands of Nikolai Lenin, Russian Bolshevik premier; the Centrists, who have adhered to the Moscow international, but who are reservations to the terms of peace and the right wing, which has composed throwing the organization completely into the hands of the communists.

Last night's session of the Socialist congress, which is meeting here delayed into a wild and stormy sitting. G. S. Zinoviev, Bolshevik president of Moscow, had sent a message to the Irish republic, a guest in their home in New Roselle. She said the home was sold last October, and tenants there now know nothing of the Irish leader's whereabouts.

Appropriation of $25,000 by the American branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom, far the committee's relief work in Ireland was announced at an executive meeting last night.

The committee adopted resolutions to uphold "the right of the republic to self-government and to the United States to recognize it and to aid the suffering people of devastated Ireland" and to "expose and defeat the British world-wide propaganda and campaign to weaken and destroy our foreign commerce and our merchant marine."

The resolution also condemned the anonymous slander now being circulated extensively in Europe and America against our fellow citizens the week.

There is no possibility of the Right wing having anything more to do with the section which voted for imperialism and to the International, but the Centrists appear to have split among themselves. A large section of this faction, including M. Renan and Albert Thomas, refuses to be associated with any group. It was believed that today's meetings would determine whether the Centrists would form an independent organization and would split, one-half going with the Right wing and the rest with the Left.

DANES PAY FOR SCHLESWIG

Fulfill Conditions to Allies for Annexation of Province

Chamber of Commerce is Planned by Business Leaders

Nearly 150 business men and residents of Gloucester City last night rallied and attended the meeting for the organization of a chamber of commerce in the City Hall. Leroy A. Goodwin was chairman and William Hambleton, secretary. A board of directors of fifteen was selected and instructed to take steps for incorporation under the law of the state. There were brief talks. F. M. Archer, president National State Bank; Camden, and William J. Strohweitz, president Chamber of Commerce.

The organization will at once move to have the United States shipping board release the Pusey & Jones shipyard, so that work can be resumed. Efforts will also be made to bring manufacturing firms to the city.

COL. FRENCH SUES BAKER

Veteran Seeks Injunction to Prevent Elimination From Active List

Washington, Dec. 30.—The latest test of the authority of the secretary of war to discharge or retire an officer of the army upon recommendation of a classification board of the army reorganized in act of last June came yesterday, when Colonel John W. French, commanding the Twelfth Cavalry Regiment, brought suit in the District Court here seeking an injunction against the War Department from discharging him from the active list for army. The right wing Socialist Baker, a sane soldier, fought off the injunction, though it was granted.

In his suit French cited his long military career, having risen from the ranks and being second in command. He told the court he had been guilty of misconduct, negligence or dereliction of duty.

DANIELS ADVANCES NIBLACK

Admiral Is to Command U. S. Naval Forces in European Waters

Washington, Dec. 30.—Admiral Albert P. Niblack, who has been appointed commanding officer of the Asiatic Fleet, has been appointed to command the American naval forces in European waters. The appointment was made public yesterday in memorandum addressed to the chief of the navy and the admiral commanding the Far Eastern fleet. Admiral Daniels, who has been serving as commanding officer of the Asiatic Fleet since January, was relieved.

Admiral Daniels' place was taken by Admiral Harry M. Peary, who has been relieved from his post as chief of naval operations in the same command district at New York.

"WATCH LADIES' KNEES"

Chicago Police Get Orders to Stop Liquor Carrying New Year's Eve

Chicago, Dec. 30.—Chicago police have issued orders to all bars to keep their doors closed on New Year's Eve. The reason is that Dr. Richardson, president of the medical society, has issued a circular to all physicians in the city, asking them to be on the lookout for drunkenness, especially among women.

"Persons of delicate physique in our drinking houses are not safe about New Year's Eve," says the circular. "The doctor, therefore, both himself and his associates, for events."

BOY HAS FREE TRIP ABROAD

Delivering Flowers to Passengers, Lad Could Not Get Aboard

New York, Dec. 30.—A 13-year-old boy, Arron, son of the Rev. George C. Spaulding, of New York, who is identified as a boy who took a free trip to Africa on Santa Claus and Christmas, has been unable to get a passage on a liner before the steamer left New York several weeks ago to return to a passenger. The ship drew away from the pier and May started on a free trip to the ports of three European countries.

DOUGHTY FACES 2 CHARGES

Trial of Secretary of Missing Millionaire Opens in Toronto Today

Toronto, Dec. 30.—Trial of John Doughty on two charges—conspiring to kidnap Ambrose J. Small, theatrical manager, and stealing $100,000 in Victory bonds, property of Small, who ordered bonds today in police court here at the time the latter disappeared on December 2, 1919. Doughty also disappeared shortly afterward, and when he was brought back here a month ago from Oregon City, Ore., he directed detectives to the home of his married sister, where $105,000 in Victory bonds was located. No trace of Small ever was found.

LONDON RENEWS DISARMAMENT PLEA

Press Again Urges Conference by America, Britain and Japan

FAVORED BY GOVERNMENT

By the Associated Press

London, Dec. 30.—Inistence upon the desirability of restricting naval armaments and the holding of a conference on the subject by the United States, Great Britain and Japan was renewed today by London news.

The Times, saying the belief was widely prevalent that the United States, Great Britain was bound by treaty to assist Japan if that country should declare war against America, devoted more than half a long editorial to convince Americans that this belief was "grossly false."

The newspaper recalled that when the United States and Great Britain in 1914 signed a peace commission, Japan, Britain immediately notified Japan of the fact.

The committee adopted resolutions to uphold "the right of the republic to self-government and to the United States to recognize it and to aid the suffering people of devastated Ireland" and to "expose and defeat the British world-wide propaganda and campaign to weaken and destroy our foreign commerce and our merchant marine."

The resolution also condemned the anonymous slander now being circulated extensively in Europe and America against our fellow citizens the week.

Reiterating its advocacy of an agreement between the three powers, the Morning Post contended such an agreement should not infringe upon the province of the League of Nations, and among other things urged that "the solution of any possible dispute between the United States and Great Britain to investigate by a permanent international commission constituted an exemption on Great Britain's part to aid Japan."

"It does not explode all uneasiness about an Anglo-Japanese alliance," said the newspaper, "the suspicion must be beyond the powers of reasoning."

Reiterating its advocacy of an agreement between the three powers, the Morning Post contended such an agreement should not infringe upon the province of the League of Nations, and among other things urged that "the solution of any possible dispute between the United States and Great Britain to investigate by a permanent international commission constituted an exemption on Great Britain's part to aid Japan."

The British Government," said the Daily News, "definitely favors such an international conference on disarmament as was proposed by Josephus Daniels, United States secretary of the navy, and maintains it is the function of the League of Nations to effect this world wide peace."

On December 26, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On December 27, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On December 28, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On December 29, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On December 30, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On December 31, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 1, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 2, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 3, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 4, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 5, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 6, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 7, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 8, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 9, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 10, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 11, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 12, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 13, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 14, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 15, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 16, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 17, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 18, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 19, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 20, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 21, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 22, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 23, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 24, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 25, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 26, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 27, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 28, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 29, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 30, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On January 31, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 1, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 2, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 3, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 4, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 5, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 6, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 7, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 8, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 9, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 10, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 11, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 12, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 13, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 14, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 15, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 16, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 17, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 18, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 19, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 20, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League of Nations."

On February 21, the newspaper said, the British Government "will be represented by Sir Edward Grey, foreign minister, and Sir Arthur Salter, president of the League