

WILSON SETS WEST FRONT OF ARMENIA

Turkish Territory Less Deeply Cut Into Than Was Expected

ACTION IN EAST DEFERRED

By the Associated Press

Washington, Dec. 31.—The new frontier of Armenia on the Turkish side, as drawn by President Wilson at the invitation of the allied premiers, cuts less deeply into former Turkish territory than the extreme limits prescribed by the premiers. It was learned today at the White House.

The note of invitation to draw the frontier "in the vicinities of Erzeroum, Trebizond, Van and Bitlis," but it was said that none of these places were included in the frontier of Armenia.

The vicinities of Erzeroum, Trebizond, Van and Bitlis, but it was said that none of these places were included in the frontier of Armenia.

Since President Wilson communicated his boundary decision to the allied premiers several weeks ago conditions in Armenia have become so chaotic as a result of operations of the Bolsheviks and the Turkish Nationalists that the Allies are expected to postpone temporarily the putting into effect of the President's boundary decision.

State Department officials have said that because of conditions in Armenia the President did not wish to proceed with the mission of arbitration between the Armenians and the Turkish Nationalists, which he accepted recently at the invitation of the assembly of the League of Nations.

London, Dec. 31.—By A. P.—David Lloyd George, speaking in the House of Commons yesterday, said he was opposed to hasty action in signing the treaty of Sevres in favor of the Greeks, as against the Armenians, the treaty going forward with regard to the Greeks, saying there might be explanations given of their recent action in overthrowing the League of Nations and recalling Constantinople to the Greeks.

Constantinople, Dec. 31.—(By A. P.)—Estimation has been given by the Government that Great Britain is willing to deal with the Turkish Nationalists, named by Mustafa Kemal Pasha, through the Constantinople conference, according to reports in official circles here.

Lazet Pasha, who went to Ankara to negotiate with the Nationalists some time ago and returned last week, is reported to have joined Mustafa's followers, but been requested by the sultan's government to leave Ankara immediately and he is expected to arrive here in a few days.

Harding Served With Senate Ultimatum

Mr. Harding has been working toward an organized association of nations, a permanent league conference, based upon the present League of Nations or set up independently of the present league, but at any rate an organization and not a mere declaration of a common purpose.

Reports of their talks were carried back to Washington by Mr. Harding to be furnished to the Senate.

Poet Leaves Fiume in Airplane on Demand of General Caviglia

By the Associated Press

Rome, Dec. 31.—Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio has left Fiume in an airplane, going first to Venice and later to Paris, the Giornale d'Italia reports.

When asked about the cabinet, he declined to talk, saying "that is Mr. Harding's business, as if the policy of the league was at least as much the Senate's business as Mr. Harding's."

He did not indicate that Mr. Harding had agreed with him as to what the limits of association among nations should be. There was a little note of challenge in his tone.

That President Wilson and the United States were not so much fooled and overruled as popular belief would have it was indicated last night by Dr. Charles H. Haskins, professor of history in Harvard University, who was chief of the division of Western Europe of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace.

These facts were brought out in the briefest manner in answers to several questions handed the speaker by auditors, although he indicated these points on several occasions during his lecture.

Great amusement was aroused and not a little of a flurry among the audience both by a question concerning the supposed bamboozling of President Wilson by Premier Clemenceau and by Dr. Haskins' spirited answer.

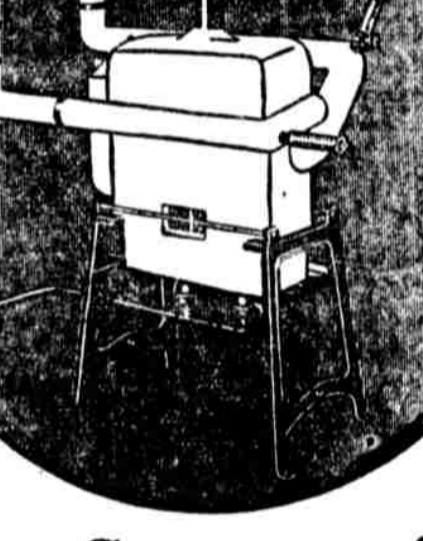

Dr. Haskins replied that he believed he said that "the premier couldn't bamboozle the old Scotch Presbyterian for several months and then bamboozle him in a short time."

All terms laid down to the Fiuman delegates at Abbezia by General Caviglia have been accepted. These terms included a demand that D'Annunzio leave the city, the release of legionaries from their oaths of allegiance to the "Regency of Quarnero," abandonment of the islands of Arbe and Veglia in the Gulf of Quarnero; restoration of all prisoners taken by the legionaries; the surrender of all arms and munitions appropriated from the Italian army, and that all legionaries not natives of Fiume leave within five days.

Although all essentials had been arranged for by the Fiuman delegates, the conference between them and General Ferrario continued all day today. General Caviglia stayed at Abbezia throughout the day, but did not deal directly with the delegates.

The discussion, according to information received from officers, appeared to center on what would become of the D'Annunzio legionaries, the delegates asking that they be allowed to stay in Fiume and become a special charge of the city.

Settlement of the Adriatic problem will have an even greater influence on internal conditions. It will enable Italy, relieved from the incubus of an impossible situation, to settle down to the work of reconstruction.

Let the Source of Heat Supply Do Your "Heat Thinking"

Any modern heating system is correct in principle. The weakness peculiar to all heating systems is the source of heat supply. If it is antiquated you can't expect the system to be modern, for no modern heating system can be more dependable than its source of heat supply.

The "HOT WAVE" is not only the modern and most efficient source of heat supply but it is practically human. It functions automatically according to the weather, i. e., if the weather be zero the Regenerating feature acts automatically, and if the weather be mild the Economizing feature comes into play.

By the "HOT WAVE" method you never burn more fuel than is absolutely necessary to a corresponding degree of heat, and when that degree is attained the consumption of fuel automatically ceases for an indefinite period until called upon.

Did Not Always Yield

That the United States did not always yield was told simply when the speaker said: "Opponents of M. Clemenceau have insisted that this tenacious negotiator yielded too much to England and the United States."
