met the immense demands of the concerto goes without saying. There are many violinists who can play the notes of the Beethoven concerto; there are few who can play it as music.

Mr. Kreisler has made some changes in his reading of the first movement since he last played the concerto here the most noticeable being a decided slowing of the wenderful G minor phrase, which he formerly played with a noticeable broadening of style and tone, but with little change in the actual tempo. Kreisler can do this without the slightest suggestion of affecta-

NO SCHOOL HEAD YET

Board May Continue Dr. Wheeler

as Acting Chief In spite of expectations that a choice would be made for the next superin-tendent of public schools by the special committee of the Board of Education, which met yesterday, no selection was

On Monday another meeting of the committee will be held, but it is thought the matter of naming a man to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Dr. John P. Garber will be again post-lieved a resolution would be passed by the board urging that the present mem-bers continue in office. In such event George Wheeler will continue as acting superintendent of schools.

Pie is only one of the many things for which we're famous. There are two sides to everything - including Pie - and here the inside of a Pie is as good as the outside!
