

East Conshohocken Girl Was 'Bara' Than 'Theda' Limericker From North Malta Street Gives Odd Twist to What They Said About Her at That Dance

The jury which made today's award consisted of ten girls employed by the S. S. White Dental Manufacturing Co., Twelfth street below Walnut. A photograph of the jury will be found on the back page. The award for tomorrow is being made by a jury of girls with Joseph G. Darlington, 1126 Chestnut. Watch for the verdict and photograph tomorrow. She's Bara than Theda; she's shockin'. Now, there's a really clever line, fans—one that gets away from the ordinary and gives quite a new thought. It is a line that will deserved to win the limpin' limerick prize—and it got. On the very first ballot it won the majority of votes of the jury of girls selected from the departments of the S. S. White Dental Manufacturing Co., the big plant on Twelfth street below Walnut. And, speaking of these girl juries—but we won't. The boss now has an idea that the limerick editor has a hard job, and it's better not to let him know how pleasant it's getting to be. And down there in the bright rest room of the White piece, with those ten girls sitting all around us and laughing and talking things over—ten of 'em all to ourselves—oh, boy!

SPONSORS PRESS DISARMING PLANS Walsh and Borah Ask Favorable Reports to Senate on Their Resolutions

Washington, Jan. 5.—(By A. P.)—Disarmament of world war—another discussion of the Senate foreign relations committee today was without result. The committee adjourned subject to the call of the chairman, expected within a few days. The discussion concerned reduction of armament by voluntary agreement among the principal powers. Senator Walsh appeared to support his resolution requesting President Wilson to appoint an American representative to sit with the League of Nations' disarmament commission, and Senator Borah pressed for his resolution looking to an agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan to reduce naval construction by one-half during the next five years.

DANGER IN IMMIGRATION By the Associated Press

Washington, Jan. 5.—(By A. P.)—The immigration problem is the "most vital confronting the nation," Frederick A. Wallis, commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, N. Y., declared today before the Senate immigration committee, which is considering legislation to stop temporarily the flow of aliens into the country. He added that the more dangerous phase of the problem was in the "immigrant himself," rather than in "immigration as a whole."

WOMAN ON JURY AT BANDIT TRIAL Laura Washburn Will Decide Fate of Man Accused of Driving Robbers' Auto

A woman juror, Laura Washburn, statistician, of 5841 Willow avenue, listened to a startling tale of banditry in the prison section of Quarter Sessions Court today before Judge McCull. When a witness told how he and his companions, after robbing one man, had sped past a police car and proceeded to another hold-up and a gun-fight with patrolmen. The case, heard in Room 453, City Hall, was the trial of John M. Foley, 292 North Fifth street, the first of eight defendants to answer indictments in a series of hold-ups. Two patrolmen charged with having been associated with the bandits, Harry De Lange and Thomas B. McElroy, were acquitted yesterday by order of Judge McCull for lack of evidence.

BRIDE-ELECT DISAPPEARS Finance, Thrice Disappointed on Eve of Wedding, Abandons Quest

Clinton, Ia., Jan. 5.—(By A. P.)—Relatives today awaited word concerning the whereabouts of Miss Celeste Lamb, stepdaughter of a wealthy Clinton lumberman, and Robert S. Smith, Jr., who disappeared yesterday on the eve of Miss Lamb's announced wedding to Ensign Harold Holcomb, of Pasadena, Calif. Ensign Holcomb, three disappointed on the eve of dates for the wedding, departed for his home. The wedding had originally been planned to take place on the island of Guam last summer, while Ensign Holcomb was on duty there. It was postponed and announced as a holiday event here. On the eve of the date set it was announced that Miss Lamb had become ill and the ceremony date was advanced to last night.

Howling of Dog Saved U. S. Airmen

Continued from Page One The distance. It disappeared from view as they struck the treetops and when they crawled from the balloon there was no sign of a habitation. They at last made camp for the night and waited for daylight. With renewed spirits they set out in the morning in a southerly direction until they again reached the question of how to continue. Making for it they met the aged Indian, Tom Marlan. He took to his heels, pursued by Lieutenant Kloss, who caught the old man and induced him to lead them to a refuge. He took them to his hut and from there sent his wife to Moose Factory, to notify Hudson Bay Co. men of the appearance of three strangers. Company employes then came to their aid and took charge of them. Warned, fed and dressed in dry clothing, the men told the thrilling story of their flight.

PLAN NEW TARIFF BILL Plans for the introduction of a new Republican tariff bill were set today by the extra session of Congress.

Washington, Jan. 5.—(By A. P.)—The heavy influx of newspaper men and residents of neighboring territories anxious to greet the American balloonists now leading their way back to civilization from Moose Factory, last night presented this town with a serious housing problem. Mattie at the present time occupies principally of a station on the National Transcontinental Railroad and quarters for the railway men who look after this section of the line. Consequently it is unprepared to accommodate the large number of visitors heading this way.

WOULD KEEP CURB ON R. R.'S I. C. Commissioners Oppose Nullification of Section 10

Washington, Jan. 5.—(By A. P.)—Opposition of the Interstate Commerce Commission to removal of regulations governing the purchase of supplies by railroads from corporations in which they or their officers are interested was presented to the Senate Interstate Commerce committee today by Chairman Senator C. W. McNamara. They were the first witnesses at hearings on legislation designed to replace the bill suspending section 10 of the Clayton act, which President Wilson vetoed recently.

TO ADMIT YOUNG RUSSIANS Labor Secretary Expected to Welcome Admiral's Proteges

Washington, Jan. 5.—(By A. P.)—The seven Russian children brought to the United States for adoption by Rear Admiral Hugh A. McCall and ordered deported by immigration authorities at Ellis Island, probably will be admitted to the country, it was said today at the Department of State. Department officials said that in view of Admiral McCall's statement that he intended to educate the children, make them his heirs, Secretary Wilson was expected to order their admission after requiring the posting of a nominal bond by the admiral to assure that the children would not become public charges and that they would receive proper educational training until the age of sixteen.

DELAIED GIBBONEY PAPERS Bergdoll's Lawyer at First Was Refused Passport to Mexico

Planned the trip, to Mexico, which ended with the drowning of the persons in the Bay of Campeche, was at first refused a passport by the State Department. Later the passport was granted, but only after the Philadelphia lawyer had fully convinced the officials that business and business only was the basis of the southern trip. These facts were developed at the Federal Building today, and indicate that the government is still watching closely every angle of the Grover Bergdoll case, for it was this affair which first led to the government's refusal to issue the passport. Mr. Gibboney was one of the lawyers for Grover Bergdoll, the draft dodger.
