

MRS. WILSON ADVISES OLD-FASHIONED SUPPERS

And Gives Menus and Recipes for Tasty, Wholesome Meals for Winter Evenings—Baked Bananas and Bacon a Novel Dish

- By MRS. M. A. WILSON
One egg, One-half cup of shortening, Cream well and then add: Four tablespoons of milk, Three cups of sifted flour, Two level teaspoons of baking powder, One teaspoon of lemon extract, Grated rind of one-half lemon, Juice of one-half lemon.

- No. 1 Baked Bananas with Bacon Macaroni au Gratin
No. 2 Baked Sausage with Tomatoes Rice Cakes Omelette Stewed Apples Lemon Cake Tea
No. 3 Baked Beans with Bacon Colcannon Boiled Potatoes Baked Apple and Cream Tea
No. 4 Rice and Cheese Pudding Souffle of Lima Beans Lettuce Lemon Meringue Pie Tea
No. 5 Baked Salt Codfish Creamed Potatoes Celery and Onion Salad Rice Pudding Tea
No. 6 Oyster Fritters Baked Potatoes Stewed Tomatoes Tapioca Pudding Tea

TIME FOR SOUTHERN TRIPS

Please Tell Me What to Do

Dear Cynthia—Kindly publish the following in your column. Thank you. Just a few lines to "Billy" I read your letter to "Whitey" and could not resist writing you a few words in regard to the same. "Billy" what you say is true and I agree with you. I don't know of those different kind of girls who would love to meet a "clim" who is wise and who appreciates a real girl's friendship. As for "Whitey" he is wrong by paying all girls as well as those who are not. In my communications, there are many good girls as well as those who are not. I don't know of those who would love to meet a "clim" who is wise and who appreciates a real girl's friendship. As for "Whitey" he is wrong by paying all girls as well as those who are not. In my communications, there are many good girls as well as those who are not.

SHE HAD A LIST OF THINGS THAT A MAN SHOULDN'T DO

And When She Managed to Find a Man Who Didn't Do Any of Them She Married Him—Every Girl Has Her Requirements

A WELL-KNOWN motion-picture star who was recently married had seven requirements for her ideal husband. "I never could marry a man," she declared firmly, "who wore tan button shoes, or ate spinach, or carried an umbrella, or had a beard, or said 'I'm feeling badly,' or wore a ring on his middle finger, or sang tenor." What a terrifying list for a man to face! But she found one man out of the many applicants for her heart and hand who didn't do any of those dreadful things. Or, perhaps, if he does like spinach, he has concealed his fondness for it so successfully that she never suspects it. Maybe some day when she rushes into his jewel box in search of a stray quarter for the gas meter or a novel scarf-pin for her veil, she will run across a telltale ring, too large for the ring finger or the little finger and too small for the thumb. And his treachery will be revealed. IT ISN'T every girl who announces what qualifications her ideal husband should have or every girl who even acknowledges them to herself; but they all have their requirements, these rules of character or appearance or behavior, by which all suitors are measured. "I couldn't, I wouldn't, marry a man with curly hair," states one girl. "I just couldn't." "The man I marry," affirms another, "has got to be tall and he must never wear a bow tie. I couldn't love a man who wore a bow tie." "I don't know what I'd do if I should fall in love with a man who likes baked apples," exclaims a third, despondently. "I couldn't marry him." "The fourth doesn't say anything, but in her heart she resolves that she will never marry if she has to marry a man who lets his hair grow until it forms a point over the edge of his collar in back. And how do these resolutions work out? WELL, a girl who swore she would never marry a man with a fancy name now has her cards engraved "Mrs. W. Harcourt Miller"—the W. standing for something so very fancy that it cannot be revealed even on a visiting card. Anna used to say that she couldn't why any woman who understands what the people are striving for should not create something which would duplicate the virtue of this little figure. It takes a good deal of thought and even more planning, but one can swing the manufacturing end of the deal with surprisingly little capital and, working on a royalty basis, the reward is well worth the time and trouble expended.

THE RIGHT TO "ROUGHAGE" Every boy and girl has a right to a certain amount of "roughage"—the name given to that element of food that stimulates bowel exercise and keeps the intestinal tract healthy and clean. In Shredded Wheat Biscuit the "roughage" is supplied by the bran from the whole wheat grain. Shredded Wheat contains every food element a growing boy or girl needs. For a warm, nourishing breakfast pour hot milk over two Shredded Wheat Biscuits and add a little salt.

THE HUSBAND HATER

By HAZEL DEVO BACHELOR
Jean North was brooding up in her room, to be sure, but her thoughts were not on her father's death and bankruptcy. She was thinking of the man who had just married her. She was thinking of the man who had just married her. She was thinking of the man who had just married her.

The Departure

JEAN wondered vaguely if Mark intended to go into the city. She had been told that he was going to the city. She had been told that he was going to the city. She had been told that he was going to the city.

The Question Corner

- 1. How can a comfortable and inexpensive seat for the dressing table be made?
2. Describe a pretty little gift for the baby.
3. In what new sense is a thermometer for the house named?
4. How can the substitution of perfume make a quality bouquet that would look especially well on an old-fashioned four-poster bed?
5. In what novel way can the sides of shoes be kept dry in rainy weather without wearing rubbers?
6. What substitute for coal can be used to heat houses?

Yesterday's Answers

- 1. Elizabeth Blackwell, born 1821, was the first woman to obtain a medical degree in this country.
2. A pretty and durable luncheon set is made out of Japanese crepe embroidered in colors.
3. Many of the comfortable winter caps for babies have eyelets around the edge of the hood for a ribbon which pulls the hood close about the face to keep out cold drafts.
4. The latest invention for comfort and ease in an automobile is a speaking tube which springs back close to the wheel when released, instead of hanging down in the way.
5. It is correct for a young girl to include her visiting card in a gift to an intimate friend, if the address of the "Miss" to make it more informal.
6. A new style of bed combines the old-fashioned beauty of wooden foot and head boards with the modern strength and cleanliness of steel side rails and supports.

Young Man is Rude

Dear Cynthia—Last winter, at a dance, I was introduced to a young man who was very nice. I was introduced to a young man who was very nice. I was introduced to a young man who was very nice.

Drop the Acquaintance

Dear Cynthia—We are two girls who are daily readers of your column and would like your advice. We are two girls who are daily readers of your column and would like your advice. We are two girls who are daily readers of your column and would like your advice.

Marked Through the United States

Buehler Bros GROCERY MARKETS
931 CHESTNUT STREET
Specials--Friday & Saturday
RIB ROAST BEEF, 25c lb.
Lean Plate Fresh Steaming Shoulders Fancy Wether Chuck
BOIL VEAL Mutton ROAST
10c lb. 18c lb. 15c lb. 19c lb.
Little PORK PICNICS, 18c lb.
Shoulders Legs of Ends Sugar Spring English Pork Cured LAMB Mutton LOIN HAMS
23c lb. 24c lb. 26c lb. 25c lb.

"I could eat a gallon of GOLDEN GLO!"
Abbotts Ice cream
sold in machine-filled packages
Orange ice cream! Abbotts originated that delicious flavor in Philadelphia and called it GOLDEN GLO. And how folks have welcomed it!
For GOLDEN GLO has a wonderful orange flavor that you'll find only in this exclusive Abbotts creation. Orange ice cream—sounds good and tastes even better than it sounds!
Try GOLDEN GLO tonight. Near your home is an Abbotts dealer who sells this new Abbotts Ice Cream. Look for the red and white Abbotts sidewalk sign.
ABBOTTS ALDERNEY DAIRIES, Inc. PHILADELPHIA, PENNA.
Known to Philadelphia Since 1877
Phones: Bell, Lombard 2884 Keystone, Main 3650