dent of this Chamber of Commerce, in president of the International Mercantile Marine Co., the American company which entered into the agreement already referred to.

Franklin Denies Charges Senator Jones' charges brought a sharp rejoinder from P. A. S. Franklin, president of the company, and created a lively discussion.

In the course of his address Senator Jones said an agent of the shipping board in New York city, who formerly was in the employ of the International Mercantile Marine, had proposed establishment of an American shipping line between New York and England on the ground that it would benefit the business of British lines from New York.

Mr. Franklin asked who the man was and Senator Jones said he thought his name was Mr. Andrews, a member of the board of directors of the International Mercantile Marine, and asked for further information as to the senator's charges.

Senator Jones asked to be excused, saying he was compelled to return to the Senate for the regular session.

Mr. Andrews, the senator who presided, then recognized Mr. Franklin to reply to the charges.

"It is manifestly unfair and unjust," Mr. Franklin said, "for a member of the Senate of the United States to make such charges against the International Mercantile Marine. The company is American. None but Americans are on its board of directors, and 99 per cent of its stock is held by Americans."

Constructive legislation to guarantee the United States equal commercial opportunity upon the seas was urged today by Senator Ransdell, of Louisiana, before the annual convention of the National Merchant Marine Association, speaking as president of the organization.

"If we rely upon Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan or any other country to deliver our commodities and bring us return cargoes, the service rendered will be secondary and the best of every kind will naturally go to their own citizens. The imperative need is an American merchant marine, built, owned and operated by Americans without the faintest suspicion in their makeup of foreign sympathy."

The senator suggested creation of a naval reserve "to equalize the wages of our seamen with the wages paid foreign seamen," and opposed sale of shipping board vessels to foreign interests.

Chairman Benson declared today, "Today we are confronted with a big question brought on by falling freights which reflect through increased outlays and lessening of earnings."

"This is the opportunity for the man who desires to prove anything of a depressing character, also opportunity may proclaim to the world that now is the time to take stock and immediately get out of the shipping business. This might be true if we were not solemnly charged by the law of the land to establish a permanent merchant marine. Mind you, gentlemen, the law says a permanent merchant marine under the American flag. The board must conform to the shipping act so as to provide for an American permanent merchant marine, under private ownership, sufficient to carry the greater part of our commerce."

Reveridge is a candidate for senator from Indiana to succeed Senator New. New is a candidate to succeed himself. Both are friends of Hays and each wants Hays' aid in the contest. New is urging Hays' appointment as postmaster general, and that is the biggest influence tending to put the national chairmanship in the cabinet, for Senator New is a close friend of the President.

Colony of Hays' supporters in the cabinet, for Senator New is a close friend of the President. The fact is that Hays has not received a general, perhaps, has not even been tentatively approached, as Hughes and Dwyer and Weeks certainly have. He has, however, powerful support. Senator New, as already said, is for him, and so is Harry M. Daugherty and much of the Republican organization. He has, moreover, a reputation as an organizer which may make Mr. Harding feel that in appointing him he is not making a selection "because of party obligation without consideration for the best service of the country."

ABADIE DECLARES RESIGNATION FORCED

New York, Jan. 20.—(By A. P.)—During examination today of Colonel E. H. Abadie, former comptroller general of the shipping board and Emergency Fleet Corporation, before the Walsh committee investigating the board's affairs, Representative Tom Connolly, of Texas, remarked:

"I have been listening to a whole lot of testimony before this committee and it seems to me that everybody is trying to 'pass the buck' to some one else."

Mr. Connolly's remarks came in connection with the presentation of a large volume of detailed testimony by Colonel Abadie relating to uncheckered material in Pacific coast shippers, a part of the $300,000,000, which he said is carried on shipping board books as undistributed charges.

Colonel Abadie read into the record the statement that his resignation had been forced by a "frame-up."

And the newspaper story which led to the making of yesterday's statement by the President also concerned Hays. A couple of days ago he in the cabinet "frame-up" which circulates here, published a big picture of Hays on the first page and a story in the most comprehensive column saying in effect that Hays had resigned.

Inquiry showed that the correspondent of the Equator here had not sent the dispatch which put Hays in the cabinet "frame-up" which circulates here, published a big picture of Hays on the first page and a story in the most comprehensive column saying in effect that Hays had resigned.

The announcement of Hays' appointment conspicuously displayed in March a day or two before Hays' arrival here recalls the Hitchcock incident when President Taft was angered by a premature announcement that the chairman of the national committee at that time had been named postmaster general.

The police of several cities, but especially of New York, are on the lookout for Colonel Beatty and his bride. Beatty, internationally known as an aviator, was said to have been married and divorced twice. He forfeited $500 in bail yesterday when he failed to appear in the Municipal Court for his hearing. A fugitive warrant is out for him in New York state. He is believed to be trying to go to England.

Mrs. Beatty is a stepdaughter of John Shaw, her name formerly having been Atkinson. Her stepfather said he knew nothing of the case and said the girl, so far as he knew, was still in Wilmington.

The unloathed body of a two-week-old male child was found today in a sewer inlet at Nineteenth and Hamilton streets. The body was taken to the Hahnemann Hospital, where the doctors said the baby apparently had died some time ago from cold and hunger. The little body was taken to the morgue and charged by the law of the land to establish a permanent merchant marine.
