

TRIBUTE TO BE PAID TO DR. W. W. KEEN

Professional Men Give Famous Surgeon Testimonial Dinner Tonight

EMINENT MEN TO SPEAK

Hundreds of medical men and educators from all parts of the country and some from other countries will pay tribute to Dr. W. W. Keen, distinguished surgeon of this city, on the occasion of his eighty-fourth birthday. Although his birthday occurred yesterday, the occasion will still be fresh for the big gathering that will participate in a testimonial dinner to the world-famous surgeon at the Bellevue-Stratford tonight.

DR. W. W. KEEN

The affair is in charge of a committee, headed by Dr. William Duffield Robinson. They have secured a number of eminent speakers, including Dr. David Jayne Hill, former United States ambassador to Germany, who has been mentioned as a possibility in the Harding cabinet; Elihu Root, former secretary of state; Dr. W. H. P. Fanning, president of Brown University, from which institution Dr. Keen graduated in 1882; Dr. J. Chalmers Du Coteau, prominent surgeon of this city, and the Rev. Dr. Carter Holmes Jones, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of this city. Dr. George de Schweinitz will act as toastmaster.

CAT CAUSES LONG FALL

Woman Slips on Stairs While Investigating Strange Noise

Mrs. Mary Simpson's solicitude for a pet cat, whose cries she thought she heard from the cellar, almost cost her life early this morning.

to get breakfast. She thought she heard the cat and started downstairs to see.

Her heel caught on the top step and she fell to the bottom, striking her head. Her daughter found her a few minutes later and called the police of the Twenty-second street and Hunting Park avenue station, just across the street. They took her to the Samaritan Hospital, where the surgeons closed a long gash in her scalp with twenty stitches.

Strawbridge & Clothier's January Economy News

The Seal of Confidence Means More Than Ever

This Store's trade-mark stands for reliable quality good value and sincere service. Whether or not it is affixed to each individual parcel that goes out of this Store, every article of merchandise we sell carries with it the broad guarantee of satisfaction that the Seal of Confidence represents.

We say it means more than ever now, because, in the transition from higher to lower price-levels, it stands for a conscientious watching of markets and a careful adjustment of prices on the basis of present or "replacement" cost. After the revision of prices following our annual inventory, we counted eight thousand different articles marked at less than the 1920 regular prices. This readjustment has cost us many thousands of dollars of legitimate profits.

New goods are coming in every day, nearly all at less than the 1920 costs, and many clearance lots, such as winter apparel, even at reductions from present market value.

The evidence is here. Any man can see—and judge for himself where finest clothing can be bought for lowest prices. These are but a few of the many January price-revision attractions now available.

Fur-Collar Overcoats Reduced to $33.50

Were One-Half More and Double

Smart Ulsterette styles of neat coating fabrics in handsome colorings, with collars of fine, lustrous fur.

2800 Suits Reduced to $22.50, $28.50, $34.50, $44.50

These prices are far less than those asked for equal grades at the height of the 1920 season. In the group reduced to $28.50, are many Suits with TWO pairs of trousers.

Usters at Average Half the 1920 Price—now $28.50

Hart, Schaffner & Marx and other Fine Usters—now $42.50, $51.50 and $71.50
