WELL, it really was a very levely tion and thought in the mind that make affair last night. The decorations all the difference in every act.

It's awfully graceful and dignified and pretty and one cannot imagine that there could ever be anything but dignified and graceful behavior in such gowns, but, well, I'd rather live in 1921 as far as fashions are concerned. Now, isn't that awful? It's rank heresy, I know, but sometimes I get a little tired hearing bow bad we all are those days. Because if one reads a bit hese days. Because if one reads a bit ne finds that in all ages there are alnys some who go too far, and some who will be shocked, and some who been an even mind and ca'm outlook and think that after all it's the inten-
