Letters to the Editor

Defends Dix Commander

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:

Sir—Please allow me to remark on the article which appeared in your paper the past week under the heading "The Affairs of the Commandant." I strongly resent Mr. Joseph H. Kaser's comments referred to my division commander, not only because I am a member of the staff but because I have served under him both in France and in the U. S. and during all that time he has shown himself to be one of the most fair-minded and just men in the service.

Secondly, I say, that Mr. J. Kaser is wrong that whenever General Summerall takes action in regard to his command he starts with an idea that AN EXTRACTOR ADVICE OF ILLEGAL SALES OF LOOTED SOLDIERS IN UNIFORM HAS BEEN GOING ON RIGHT UNDER HIS NOSE.

Parents' Duty

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:

One of the most important duties that a parent has is to furnish the right example to his child in the right way, giving an education that will fit them mentally with life. And next to this, a thing not little less important, is to assist him in every way to help him attain the beautiful things of life. The former can depend largely upon the public system of education, but for the latter it is the atmosphere of the home that is the determining factor.

When you meet a young man, no matter where you can invariably see in his action, his person and his associates the marks of having been brought up in the atmosphere of a good woman. It is this parents who give the culture to the children. One of the best ways that parents can instill into their children is by the beautiful and inspiring atmosphere in the way of cultivating their taste in the more substantial arts.

It is a striking way parents can give their children to induce in them an interest in music that is allowed to enter, and you will see refinement everywhere displayed. On the other hand, show me the home where the jazz is in more dominate, and you can tell me all about the faces of the children and see a controlling influence in their every movement. Nothing has gone so far toward making the home environment as has the jazz.

In a striking way parents

To the Editor of the Evening Public Ledger:

Boys are great pleasure-mongers.

The time, however, is not always so good for boys as there are days when conditions are better understood.

Many young men come to this city from the country without any means and are compelled to accept positions at a very low wage.

The cost of living is high and the price of board at present, it can easily be seen what a struggle they have to pass through in order to merely exist. These boarders houses might as well be a sweatshop system, the men paying no extra what it costs to run the place. The same should be done to young workers working on the streets.

The harmoniums are, in music, if the do this they will lose the heart, but harmoniums in other things and the boys will grow up refined, more like gentlemen. MARY E. COLE.

Letters to the Editor should be as brief and to the point as possible, voiding angering the writer or a denominational or sectarian discussion.

No attention will be paid to anonymous letters. Name and address must be signed as an evidence of good faith, although names will not be printed if request is made.

The publication of a letter is not to be taken as an endorsement of its views by this paper.

Comments will not be returned unless accompanied by postage, nor will manuscript be saved.

Secondly, I say, that Mr. J. Kaser is wrong that whenever General Summerall takes action in regard to his command he starts with an idea that he has been doing all the time, and that he is fully justified and his actions are warranted by that community's standards.

Finally, as a closing remark, I state that Mr. Kaser does well in saying "there are no illegal acts of Peoria," because at that identical moment there may not be any, but he does not deserve the name of a soldier or a statesman.
