Helman a Team Worker

That Nat Holman is a team worker and not for himself was proven con-clusively. Time and time again he elusively. Time and time again he would work the ball down the court and have a fine chance to score when all of a sudden he would "southpaw" the leather to "Rip" in his endeavor to get him a basket. Try as he would, Elmer could not tally. ton National Club.

In a letter to Barmey Dreyfuss, owner of the Pittsburgh team, Southworth said he had been satisfied while wearing a Pirate uniform, but that he was willing to go to the Braves. "I realize you sadly needed a short stop and to get one, players had to be given in exchange," said the popular outfielder. He thanked Mr. Dreyfuss for the "square treatment" received here, and in closing said "I hope your boys will be well up toward the top, with Boston leading. In a letter to a friend, Barbare said that while he was sorry to leave Pitts-burgh, "I feel I'll have a chance in Boston and I feel I'm going to come through."
