SCHEDULE FOR TONIGHT

Camden at Philadelphia; Germantown at Reading.

THE leaders in the Eastern Basketball League are both in action this evening. The Camden champions are due to mingle with the Phillies at Musical Fund Hall, Eighth and Locust streets, while Germantown journeys to Reading and tackles the Bears. The Germs will make the trip handicapped considerably, for they will be minus the services of Nat Holman, their star captain.

Despite the fact that the Phils were handled rather roughly at Trenton last evening, Manager Myers looks for the locals to hand the Camden champions a defeat, the same as on their last meeting. The team will take the floor the same as at the start of last night's contest, namely Miller and Passon forwards; Wright center and Cross and Kinkaide guards.

The Phillies are a hard combination to overcome on the home court, where they have a habit of playing rings around the opposition. The Camden line-up is expected to be the regular one, but after this game the players must give their sole services to the Jersey team.

Camden players who are in the Penn State League include Kerr, Dieghan, Sugarman and Campbell. Just what will be the outcome of the matter as regards the attitude of the players is anxiously awaited by all interested in the cage sport.

Not Phils' Night

The Phillies journeyed to Trenton last evening and returned with a 31-15 defeat. It was not a night for the Phillies to shine and try as they would, they could not get started at any time during the game. Their teamwork and general play was up to standard and they had plenty of shots, but could not connect.

The club started with Winnie Kinkaide in the line-up, and he retired in the second half in favor of Andy McMahon. The totals at the end of the first half were 18-12 in favor of the Potters. The Jerseymen began the game with Tommy Barlow and Teddy Kearns at guard.

Barlow played Billy Miller and secured five baskets, while he blanked the Phillie forward. Kearns was opposed to Passon and tallied twice from the field, while "Chickie" accounted for one of his team's three goals.

Potters Have Newcomer

Along in the second half Manager Al Cooper inserted Hesting, a tall rangy center from Stroudsburg Normal School, and he came through with a goal, although he fails to size up with the other pivots in Eastern League society, for a first chance.

As the second half proceeded the locals made a big switch. Dunlavy and Harvey got into the play at guard and Kearns and Barlow moved up to forward in place of White and Norman. Manager Myers also made a switch in his line-up.

Cross and Kinkaide retired, while Wright moved back to guard and had as his running mate Andy McMahon. Kerr went to center. The field goals were rescinded, Trenton landing eleven, while the best the Phils could do was three. Kearns and Barlow were the whole Trenton club and accounted for seven of their eleven baskets.

Nativity Opens Series

The competition for the "Catholic championship of the city" promises to be staged a dozen times in the next month or so. There are about two score clubs in the field and all have designs on the title and are fully confident that they have the best team in the city.

Nativity has started the ball rolling and tonight the Richmond basketeers meet Enterprise, of Germantown, on the home floor at Belgrade street and Allegheny avenue. Manager Pal Bullock says he has the strongest team in the field for Nativity, and Enterprise also has a fast aggregation.

The second contest will be played one week from this evening at Enterprise's hall. Nativity is anxious to see the proposed Catholic League get under way and is ready to attend the meeting for organization any time it is called. Manager Bullock feels that it will fill a long-felt want in cage circles.

The preliminary game at Nativity Hall will feature Nativity Catholic Club and the Central Y. M. C. A.

PENN AND LEHIGH IN GAME TONIGHT

Upstaters Have Strong Team to Meet Red and Blue

Lehigh tonight in Weightman Hall will attempt what ten other teams have failed to do—stop the Pennsylvania basketball team's winning streak. From the Red and Blue angle the contest should prove a good workout for Captain Danny McNichol and his pals, a sort of preparation for the Virginia Military Institute game on Monday night.

Coach Eddie McMichol and his aide-de-camp Joe Fogarty have decided they have the ideal line-up with Huntzinger and Rosenast, forwards; Grave, center, and McNichol and Voegelin, guards. This combination started first in the Lafayette game last Saturday night and demonstrated against New York University that it was the strongest tried out by the coaches this season. Both offensively and defensively it has done wonders. Four field goals in two games, one by Lafayette and three by the New Yorkers, discuss the defensive strength. Offensively, the quintet has scored eighteen field goals in the two contests, seven against Lafayette and the remainder against New York University.

Lehigh will depend on Captain Frank, a three-year veteran at guard; Springston, a Detroit High School lad, at the other defensive post; Lees, a six footer from Bethlehem Prep, at center, and Lingle, the team's high scorer, and Maurer, at forwards. Lingle is a first-year man who called the signals for the football eleven. He was an all-around star at Harrisburg Tech before entering Lehigh.

Amateur Shots Make Record

Boston, Tex., Feb. 5.—Averages ranging from 50.00 to 99.33 were made in the Texas championship tournament, which ended here this week in the Sunny South tournament. This was believed by trapshooters here to be a record for scores shot in a tournament. C. A. Bogart, of San Antonio, was leading with but ten targets missed out of the three-day program of 300 targets today.

Suspended by Boxing Board

New York, Feb. 5.—The investigation and hearing into the circumstances surrounding the Jack Moore-Packey O'Gatty battle at Ebbets Field, the championships of Brooklyn Sporting Club on January 21 ended with the announcement that Edward Bowes had been indicted on charges of perjury. The referee of the bout in which Moore was disqualified for an alleged foul, Sunny Sweyard.

DISCUSS DATES FOR NET FIXTURES

Philadelphia Sure to Stage National Tennis Singles—Boston Wants Doubles

New York, Feb. 5.—The annual meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association convened at the Hotel McAlpin here this afternoon with almost 150 delegates from all sections of the country in attendance.

Although advance reports of the meeting have been indicative of the prevalence of harmony, there is evidence that a sharp contest will be forthcoming when the discussion turns to the award of the national championship tournaments and the Davis Cup challenge round.

A tentative schedule was drawn up a month ago, bestowing the national doubles and Davis Cup challenge round upon the West Side Club, the national singles upon Philadelphia and the women's championships upon Boston. But this slate seems to have met with the "third sort of opposition in Boston. Supporters of the Longwood Cricket Club have no intention of relinquishing the national doubles event without a fight. They don't consider the women's championship a fair restitution for the loss of it.

As a result, with this uncertainty concerning the doubles tournament, the West Side Club may enter the field again for the national singles. The Forest Hills organization appreciates to the full the prestige which this event lends the club and also the financial advantages that accrue from it. The West Side Club can gather a bigger attendance for an important match than any other club in the country, and, as the U. S. L. T. A., of course, shares in the benefits of a big gate, the West Siders are likely to receive support from those with an eye to the replenishment of the national treasury.

Considerable argument is likely to arise also regarding the proposed amendment to the amateur rule which would forbid the use of the names of famous players on tennis racquets. General sentiment is in favor of this amendment, as it is thought that the practice in question smacks of commercialism. At least, it gives rise to suspicion. Others contend, however, that, properly guarded, there is no possible harm in the practice and that, for sentimental reasons, it is worth retaining.

Heydler, president of the National League, are the other members of the council.

The council session was executive and it was not announced what subjects would be discussed.

VETERAN BOXER DIES

Jack Fogarty, Middleweight, Expires in St. Joseph's Hospital

John J. (Jack) Fogarty, a widely known middle-weight boxer years ago, died last night in the St. Joseph's Hospital. Heart trouble was the cause of his death.

Veteran followers of boxing will recall Fogarty as the challenger to the middle-weight title in 1886. A year after he made his debut in boxing in a local tourney at the age of twenty, Fogarty fought the original Jack Dempsey ("the Nonpareil") for the title on February 2, 1886. They fought in New York, February 2, 1886, for $2500 a side and a purse of $1000.

Dempsey won the bout in the twenty-seventh round. Fogarty was badly battered at the finish of the one hour and fifty-one minutes of milling in spite of his wonderful ring leverness. Al Smith refereed the bout. After this fight Fogarty retired from the ring.

BORRELL TRIMS REVOIRE

Joe Is Victor in Rough Wind-Up at Cambria A. C.

Joe Borrell, 160 pounds, defeated Eddie Revoire, 163 pounds, in the wind-up at the Cambria Athletic Club last night in eight rounds of rough fighting. In the second round, Borrell knocked Revoire down and then helped Eddie to his feet.

In the first three rounds there was not much to choose between them, outside of the knockdown, but from that time Borrell forged ahead and at the end of the eighth had a good margin.

In the semiwind-up Willie McCloskey beat Willie Ferguson eight rounds. Jimmy Egan knocked out Jack Patilo in three rounds. Willie Brown was beaten by Jack Carver in two rounds and Joe Langdon beat Jimmy Duffy in six rounds.

TIPLITZ BEATS FRUZETTI

Philadelphian Gains New England Lightweight Belt by Victory

Boston, Feb. 5.—Two New England boxing championships changed hands here when Al Shubert, of New Bedford, defeated Bobby Josephs, of Boston, for the featherweight title, and Joe Tiplitz, of Philadelphia, beat Jimmy Fruzetti, of Brockton, for the lightweight belt.

Nate Siegel, of Chelsea, retained the New England welter-weight championship in his bout with Paddy Flynn, of Everett.

The bouts were scheduled for ten rounds each, the first two going the limit to decisions. Siegel won when the referee stopped his go with Flynn in the eighth.

Famous Stallion Dies

Aiken, N. Y., Feb. 5.—The horse breeding interests of the East sustained a great loss in the death here from lockjaw of the Breeding Bureau sire Square Deal II. Square Deal II was foaled in 1904 and was bred in England. His sire, Simon Square, a son of St. Simon, and the Rondal mare Sweet Marjorie, whose dam was the renowned Sweet Alice, dam of Rock Sand, 3, 2:01. The dam of Square Deal II was N. Tramps, by Orvieto.

K. O. Loughlin Scores Kayo

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 5.—K. O. Loughlin, of South Boston, put forward a technical knockout over Eddie Bratton, of Philadelphia, in the third round of their scheduled ten-round bout here. Bratton had dropped for the third time at the referee stopped the bout. The men are welterweights.

Chinese Basketball Team Wins

After a valve-grinding operation the workman can tell the results of the job by the following method: With a soft pencil lightly mark the face of the valve all around. Then place it in position and turn it on its seat a few times and remove. If the entire pencil mark is removed there is contact all over; otherwise one can tell just where the face and seat touch.

Do not fill the radiator to the filling neck. If you do the expansion will force the water out and the filler cap and cause it to run over the radiator and hood, giving them a dirty and rusty appearance. Pour in only enough water to bring the level to within inch or an inch and one-half above the top of the radiator tubes. This will allow ample room for the expansion.

Much clutch trouble and poor car operation are caused by owners "riding" the clutch, that is, keeping the foot on the pedal all the time. This causes rapid wear of the clutch thrust bearing and prevents the clutch from properly holding. In the case of a cone clutch the facing is worn excessively, and in a disc clutch running in oil the added heat thins the oil and this causes grabbing. Even slight pressure on the pedal should be avoided.

Do not neglect to inspect your car occasionally, no matter how busy you may be, as your life may depend on some little part easily overlooked. The most important part is the steering gear. See that every nut is securely fastened and take out any looseness shown by too much play of the steering wheel.

An ordinary speed wrench may be adapted to use in connection with all sizes of nuts by using it in conjunction with a set of sockets. A socket is selected the hexagon end of which fits the end of the speed wrench. In the other end a piece of stock is inserted. By this means a speed wrench is adapted for use with any of a whole set of socket wrenches.

OLYMPIC BODY MEETS

Will Discuss Proposed New Organization for Future Games

New York, Feb. 5.—A meeting of the American Olympic committee will be held here today in response to the call of Chairman Gustavus F. Kirby. The most important matter to be discussed will be the proposed reorganization of that body and the formation of a new association which will assume the control and selection of all committees which may be found necessary for the complete representation of the United States in all future Olympic games.

A specially appointed committee, thoroughly representative in its membership, has been at work since last December preparing a comprehensive plan of reorganization, which will be presented.

Several suggestions and recommendations of a tentative nature have been made by members of this committee, but it is understood that all are in favor of naming the new organization the American Olympic Association.
