PHILADELPHIA SPORT WRITERS PROVE THEY ARE ACCOMPLISHED IN EVERYTHING BUT WRITING

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

THE Philadelphia Sports Writers Association held its second annual desicrated bunquet last night at the Hotel Walton. They showed they could do everything but write. There were a lot of guests of honor and everything.

Among the former were Jack Kelly, world's champlon single sculler; Paul Costello, champlon double sculler of the world with Kelly; Wild Will Donovan, manager of the Phillies: Edcuard Horemans, champion billiardist of Europe: Bugs Baer, champion Philadelphia rooter of New York; John S. Smith, chairman of the New Jersey Boxing Commission; George E. Pawling, president of the Philadelphia Ice Palace; Hugo Bezdek, erstwhile manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and present director of athletics at Penn State; Paul W. Gibbons, president of the Philadelphia and District Lawn Tennia Association; J. Wood Platt, Philadelphia golf champion; William M. Bichardson, president of the Washington American League Baseball Club; Dr. Thomas W. Davis, chapiain of the Athletics; James T. Cortelyou, director of publicatety; John A. Heydler, president of the National League; John Chapman, Charles H. Grakelow, J. Hamp ton Moore, Mayor of Philadelphia; Babe Ruth, Captain T. L. Huston, of the New York Yankees. Ring W. Lard ner and Bill Tilden were there by proxy. All of the guests of honor spoke a few words except those who spoke more It was a great event. Differing from some other similar occasions, the contestants and their friends did not djourn to Horn & Hardart's after the dinner. It waen't that kind of a steak.

In spite of the urid atmosphere there was a spirit of eptimism that hung heavily over the assemblage. This includes Bill Donovan, Mr. Baker and John Shibe. Both Mr. Baker and Manager Donovan confessed that the Phillies next season would be a fighting ball club. Bugs Baer said they had collected the best baseball club that had represented Philadelphia any winter since the retire-ment of Charley Dooin, proving that optimism was the MONG those who made a big hit by not speaking was ARing Lardner. Hing's contract didn't suit him, so he returned it unsigned, but sent the appended message to the sports writers :

I've never been in Philadelphia sober and I'n too old a dog to learn new tricks. So I won't come to your terrible dinner, but here's my speech. The advantage of having you read it is that I won ;

Mr. Tossimaster and starving children of eastern Pennsylvania: I realize how you feel at m inability to be with you tonight. You feel just as I do about it-absolutely indifferent. I thought for awhile that I might partake of your hospi tality, but I have recently been enjoying a lot of outdoor exercise and when mealtime comes I'm in no mood for banquets.

The last time I was in Philadelphia, I was entertained in Mr. Frank Poth's room at the Wal ton and had a stroke of paralysis. When I flucts: ated on to the train to come back to New York. there was only one vacant seat left in the smoking compartment, but before we had gone a mile I had all to myself. Most of the other passengers took their dinner on the train. I left mine on it. My next visit to your city will be on the occasion of the world series, during President Cox's second

Biggest Bunch of Notables Ever Gathered

THE dinner last evening was the fourteenth annual A attempt of the sports writers to get a lot of food at one time. It was successful from every angle. The viande were plentiful, but not as profuse as those who wished to partnhe. According to Bert Crowhurst, official statistician, there were over 400 souls present, making a total consumption of more than 2400 systems, a huge evening in bivalvedom.

Every branch of athletic activity in Philadelphia hau more than one representative. Here is a list of the major sports and those at the dinner who represent them in

... AM sorry that I had to go to work early, that's why I never won a world's championship as Jack Kelly did. I remember that old Mike Murphy once said: Philadelphia is the greatest town in the United States. but the people here seem only to try to get money so they can go to New York and spend it.' That's what we are trying to prevent. We want Philadelphia on the cap and we are going to put her there. Our project at the Ice Palace is to give Philadelphia a Madison Square Garden plus. Our motto is: 'Philadelphia First,' and we mean to put that over in every branch of athletics the can. We started with a handlesp, but we are going to overcome it and try to make the Ice Palace worthy of Philadelphia. We want hockey, skating and track othletics here to be the best in the world and we think we an accomplish that. We want Pennsylvania and every other institution in Philadelphia to feel that the Ice Palace is their home, and we want and are trying help the school and school children. If we accomplish nese a.ms we will feel that our work has been well done." JACK KELLY

WHEN I started rowing twelve years ago the Dia-mond Sculls was my goal. It was the dream of my life to be entered in that, so you can imagine how I 'elt when my entry was refused, but when I heard later that Beresford, the winner, was going into the Olympics I decided to enter. You know the result. 'Let me meet Beresford in the finals,' was my prayer and it was answered. I haven't much to say, except that I want to thank the sports writers for what they have done for I believe sports are a great thing for everybody, because it teaches them to do the proper thing in victory and defeat, and helps every man to do his work in life far better than he otherwise would have done it.
