

LEGION POST TOLD OF HOSPITAL WORK

State's Facilities Adequate for Men Who Are in Need of Treatment

COMPENSATION BEING PAID

Forty thousand ex-service men in Pennsylvania are eligible for government compensation in the district office of the United States Public Health Service, according to a declaration of Dr. Daniel M. Hoyt, in charge of the tuberculosis work in Pennsylvania and Delaware, at a meeting of the American Legion, No. 405, last night.

"The majority of these former service men, who are honorable discharges," added Dr. Hoyt, "are now receiving compensation."

It is possible, said Dr. Hoyt, to give immediate attention to the emergency case in which the man needs prompt hospitalization. The applicant can be placed in a hospital at once, and the necessary papers can be taken care of subsequently.

"We have in this district," he explained, "2702 who are being treated in hospitals and who have secured the necessary papers. Either these patients have been under observation for tuberculosis, or they have been hospitalized because we can and should hospitalize every man who, from a medical standpoint, requires it. We have in Philadelphia 433 patients from pulmonary disease who are being treated as out-patients from our office."

Celso, Louis S. Scrier, of the national and recreational branch of the legion general's office, spoke of the national program of the army and stated that in four months the army, through a system of instruction, has taught hundreds of thousands to read and write, who previously had not been able to do so. He emphasized particularly the American Legion's influence on the work upon the return of the future. Dr. Thomas L. Montgomery, state librarian, gave an illustrated talk on "Historical Pennsylvania." Dr. Henry H. Miller, of the post, presented the stand of the legion. It was the first of a series of educational meetings, and was well attended.

Early in March the publication of the Naval Post News will be resumed under the leadership of Harry H. Harew, since most of the members of Naval Post are still in service, the publication of this little paper is a valuable means of keeping those who are unable to attend meetings in close touch with the interests and activities of the post.

For the first time the meeting of Naval Post 197 was held at Grand Fraternity building, 1924 Arch street, and an unusually large attendance attended the council of the committee. The musical program of the evening was heartily applauded. The next meeting will take place at the Grand Fraternity Building, Room 2, Friday, March 1, and 5 p. m. Special features in the form of entertainment and a talk by a prominent legal authority to make the meeting an interesting one.

Frederick H. and Irving S. Case Post No. 127, American Legion, will hold its annual ball at the Mercantile Hall tomorrow night.

William T. Sherman Post No. 96 will have its annual annual dinner at the 8th and East Third streets, Tuesday and Wednesday, tomorrow night.

Paul J. Conover Post No. 104 will be the recipient of a gift in appreciation of his services as commander during 1920 and 1921 and for his efforts in the organization of Thomas H. Price Post No. 104, a regular meeting in the post headquarters, 2745 Germantown avenue, Philadelphia, tomorrow night.

The post for the benefit of Robert Martin Post No. 104 will be held at the home of Mrs. Martin, 2843 Dauphin street, Philadelphia, February 13.

WOMEN AND INCOME TAX

Thousands Are Required to File Returns for This Last Year

Thousands of women are required to file an income-tax return and pay a tax on their income for the year 1920. Statistics for 1918 show the number of returns filed by single women was approximately 298,000.

In addition there were filed approximately 83,000 returns by single women claiming an exemption of $2000 as heads of families. The number of wives making separate returns from husbands was approximately 36,000.

A married woman living with her husband is not allowed a prescribed exemption. The exemption allowed a married couple is $2000. The $2000 may be taken by either husband or wife or prorated between them.

A woman who was widowed during the year 1920, unless the head of a family, or remarried on or before December 31, 1920, may claim only an exemption of $1000. A wife supporting an invalid husband in a sanatorium is entitled to a $2000 exemption.

SAYS PEOPLE MORE HUMANE

John S. Cozens, of S. P. C. A., Friend of Animals for 29 Years

John S. Cozens, Seventy-sixth street and Avenue F, today rounds out twenty-nine years of service as a friend of dumb animals.

In 1892 he began his work as a special agent of the women's auxiliary of the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and remained with that organization until 1906. At present he is secretary of the auxiliary of the Pennsylvania S. P. C. A.

In 1906 he started the first watering stations for horses in the city and today there are 244 of them. He has also designed the water wagons that go about the streets in warm weather to promote the comfort of horses. He is the originator of Horse Day, which was first observed under his direction in 1912.

"People today are much more humane than they were thirty years ago," said Mr. Cozens. "When I started in my work I used to hear the bad will of a neighborhood when I arrested a man for cruelty to animals. Now the sympathy of the public is with the animal and the enforcer of the law."

STEINWAY

Answers the insistent demand for fair prices

Everybody who knows anything of music is aware of the generally-acknowledged pre-eminence of Steinway musical quality; but a great many do not know that Steinway prices are extremely moderate. Steinway factories are always going at the limit of production, working under a perfect system of economy that yields this great American art product on a commercial basis. Compare these prices with those of other pianos, with special reference to the size of the Style M Grand:

- Steinway Upright, Style V..... $875
- Steinway Vertegrand..... $950
- Steinway Grand, Style M (5 ft. 7 in.) $1375
- Steinway Grand, Style O..... $1475
- Steinway Grand, Style A..... $1750
- Steinway Grand, Style B..... $1925
- Steinway Duo-Art Upright (Reproducing Piano) $2500
- Steinway Duo-Art Grand (Reproducing Piano) $3850

Other pianos of admirable character are: Krakauer Grand (5 ft. 1 in.) at $1050; Krakauer Welte-Mignon Grand (Reproducing Piano), $2250; Sterling Uprights, $450, $475, $500; Sterling Upright Players, $700; Edison Diamond Disc Phonographs, $95 to $500. You may pay monthly.

Some manufacturers are holding back—others are going ahead with their construction work. But no matter when you eventually build—plan your factory now.

Progressive Philadelphia manufacturers, confronted with building problems, come to us for counsel. Our advice in every case is based upon consideration of the individual manufacturer's problems and not in the light of generalities.

Not so long ago a manufacturer asked us to advise him how big and what kind of factory he should build to increase his production to a certain figure. Our industrial experts discovered that by replacing certain antiquated machines, rerouting the flow of raw material, changing the position of certain machinery, etc., output could be increased fifteen per cent without adding greatly to operating costs. With these facts before us we advised against building a new factory at that time.

Manufacturers who seek the soundest building advice are consulting Steele. They know that regardless of whether it means immediate business to us, our advice will be based upon facts and experience.

If you are in doubt as to when, how or what to build—consult Steele. We will be glad to discuss your business problems with you without obligating you in any way whatsoever. Phone or write for an interview.
