Commander J. Morton Poole, U, S. N.

Wright, Jr.

Mr. Carpenter was a very lovable character. He used to walk in littnehouse Square nearly every day and all the little children there knew him and loved him. His death marks the passing of another Philadelphia man of the old school whose very presence bespoke the seholar and gentleman.

THOUGH several of those who were THOUGH several of those who were at home on Monday afternoons in January have discontinued their days, others are just starting to have them. Mrs. William H. Horstmann will be at home this afternoon and on the next two Mondays in February after 3 o'clock at her home 319 South Seventeenth at the home 319 South Seventeenth street. Her daughter. Mrs. Freel Fraley will receive with her. The Misses Hallowell, of 908 Clinton street, will also be at home this afternoon, having extended their days at home through this month too.

BARBARA BENSON is an attracwearing a stunning fur coat of beaver, which was about three-quarter length. Her hat was pretty, too, and was a tiny affair trimmed with lavender ribbon, with a small tassel of the same hade on the top.

NUMBER of dinners and box A parties are being arranged before the Skating Carnival, which is to be February 24. You know the carnival is being given for the benefit of Broomall Holiday house and a great many are interested in the upkeep of that healthful place for convalescents. The Trenchard Newbolds will enterain at dinner before the affair and so will Dr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Ashton and the George Wharton Peppers. And and the George Wharton Peppers. And among those who will give box parties will be Mrs. Charlton Yarnall, Mrs. John White Gehry, Mrs. Edgar Baird, Mrs. Sydney Thayer, Mrs. Lincoln Godfrey, Mrs. Daniel Newhall, Mrs. Arthur Lea, Mrs. Tom McKean, Mrs. William Philler, Mrs. John Pearce and Miss Miriam Roberts.
