

PENN BOWL FIGHT WILL BE RESUMED

Campus Institution, Abandoned After Fatality, to Be Less Dangerous

MAY START THIS YEAR

The historic bowl fight, staged for many years between the freshmen and sophomore classes at the University of Pennsylvania, which was ordered suspended in 1916 after a fatality, will be resumed with the permission of Acting Provost Penniman and the support of the students.

The decision favoring the resumption of the fight was finally announced yesterday by the Undergraduate Council after a protracted meeting. The matter after being taken up by a body known as the traditional committee, composed of members of the four undergraduate classes. Their favorable report was taken under consideration by the Undergraduate Council and a resolution regarding the resumption of the fight favoring the resumption of the fight was adopted.

The first steps will be the formulation of plans to eliminate the dangers of the bowl fight, one of which will probably be the limiting of the number of students participating. Whether the fight will be resumed this year or next is another question to be determined. It is expected that the resumption of the bowl fight will be approved of weeks ago.

This fight, which has been a campus institution for fifty years, consisted of the following regulations: The sophomores were class acting on the defensive, and the freshmen on the offensive. A wooden bowl, placed in the middle of a covered walkway, was the object of the fight. The freshmen were to get through the phalanx and have their hands on the bowl at the end of the fight.

The approved strategy for the freshmen was to drag their opponents away from the bowl and then, at the last moment, to rush in and get hold of it. The freshmen were to be given a fresh fifteen-minute rest after the fight. The freshmen were to be given a fresh fifteen-minute rest after the fight. The freshmen were to be given a fresh fifteen-minute rest after the fight.

HONOR MORRISON'S MEMORY

Northeast High School Alumni Memorialize Former Educator

With the unveiling of a tablet and the dedication of its new auditorium in honor of Dr. Andrew J. Morrison, the class of 1907, of the Northeast High School, last night perpetuated the memory of that distinguished educator, for twenty-two years principal of the school.

In his dedicatory address, the Rev. John R. Hart, Jr., president of the class, praised Dr. Morrison's work as an educator whose work goes forward in the lives of those he taught.

Every person in the assemblage of more than 1000 wore a red carnation, which was Dr. Morrison's favorite flower.

Mayor Moore, who was scheduled to speak, sent a telegram of regret. Simon Gratz, president of the Board of Education, also was unable to attend. Charles H. Edmunds, who represented the board, praised the work and influence of Dr. Morrison.

Other speakers included Dr. George P. Stradling, principal of the Northeast High School, and Dr. Frederick Gowling.

"Raiding Parson" Gets 280 Gallons in Chester Theatre

While the audience watched the hero of the "screen drammer" outkick the villain, the Rev. R. E. Johnson, the "raiding parson," led government agents into the cellar of a Chester motion-picture theatre yesterday and confiscated seven barrels containing 280 gallons of liquor.

Mr. Johnson said the whisky was hidden in a room especially built for concealment. He declared the theatre was owned by a man who recently bought a Chester hotel, which had been raided a number of times by federal officers. The liquor was brought to Philadelphia.

The Feet of Mercury

See how they bend and point and dive! How straight the toes, how raised the arch, how the whole foot flexes and curves with the spirit of joyous motion.

Well may the modern woman envy this ancient god the beauty of his feet. Such perfection has now disappeared almost completely—due to the mischievous effects of the stiff-soled shoe. Fallen arches, cramped and misshapen toes—these are the common deformities of 85% of the women of today.

But there is still a way to preserve the natural beauty of the foot. Wear Cantilever Shoes. They hug the arch and support it. The flexible shank encourages the muscles to exercise and strengthen, thus correcting and preventing flat feet. The Natural inner sole-line keeps the toes pointing straight ahead, as Nature meant that they should. Widths AAAA to E.
