

ARCHBISHOP DENNIS J. DOUGHERTY. The archbishop took time during the busy hours of yesterday for an exclusive pose for an EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER photographer. This morning he started his journey to Rome, where he will be created cardinal.

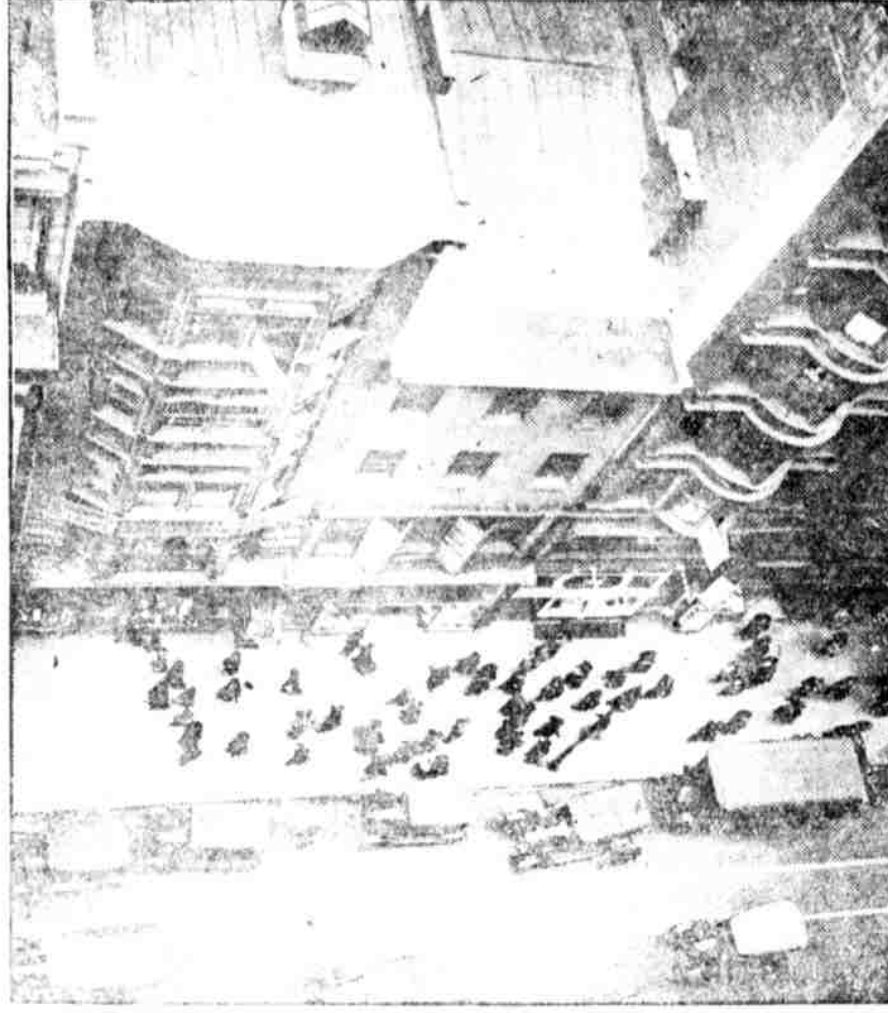

ON THE WAY TO BROAD STREET STATION. The procession in honor of Archbishop Dougherty was viewed by hundreds as it passed down the Parkway, at Sixteenth and Arch streets, before 8 o'clock this morning. The band preceded the automobile in which church dignitary rode.

PART OF THE GUARD OF HONOR. These men, members of the Fourth Degree of the Knights of Columbus, formed a cordon about the archbishop's automobile during the procession.

OBSERVATORY PARTY. A group of Washington observatory party members were seen at the observatory on the night of the party.

THE WAY TO BROAD STREET STATION. Pedestrians and automobiles were seen on the street this afternoon. The south side of the street is shown.

A LONG, COOL SMOKE. English girls are using the "tobacco tube," the latest in smokers' wear. This, of course, keeps the fingers from becoming stained. It's no vest-pocket arrangement.

LAD OF THIRTEEN HAS BEEN IN TWO WARS. John Dolacinski went to France as a mascot with American troops. Later he joined the Polish forces.

FEW LESSONS IN ROLLER SKATING. Park Guard John Markstone is the teacher. His pupil is Nancy Cooper Wood. They were snapped in Rittenhouse Square.

JUDGE J. WILSON. Judge J. Wilson presided over the trial of the man who shot the woman.

MRS. JOHN JOYCE BRIDGES. Mrs. John Joyce Bridges is the wife of an attaché at the British embassy.

THEY ARRIVED FROM ITALY YESTERDAY. As these women foils waited the return to meet the immigration officials, on the arrival of the Ferdinando Palasciano, an Italian-American liner, they enjoyed a good meal of spaghetti.

A STOWAWAY. Victor Caporoli was found by the crew of the Ferdinando Palasciano when the boat was out only a few days.
