

GERMAN DILEMMA IS LAID TO FRANCE

War Passions Demand Too Much Reparation, Says American Expert

PAPER READ AT FORUM

It is not England that is tightening the economic thumb-screws upon Germany at the present time; it is, and has been, France, still vengeful and deaf to all cries of mercy and even devoid of sane realization of her own interests in the future.

This, in the main, was the message delivered last night at the weekly session of the Paris Economic Forum on the Peace Conference in the foyer of the Academy of Music.

Dr. Young became suddenly ill yesterday and could not be present, but his paper was read by Colonel Morris, who made a most flattering ovation and his spirited and eloquent interpretation of the paper, energized by a personality that carried conviction with every word.

Dr. Young made it clear that President Wilson and the American delegation in Paris achieved more in the economic provisions of the treaty than they were credited to them.

On the other hand, peace terms dictated by our Allies must have been accepted. Either course would have meant prolonged bitterness and misunderstanding, new disensions in Europe, and a perpetuation of governments and a clear field for terrorism—of worse.

French Attitude Bitter "What then was the French attitude in Paris? At its best it was the attitude of Clemenceau and of his able lieutenants. France could not be expected to be generous in the face of the danger of '21. In some way, in whatever way, France had to be secured against that danger."

At its worst, the French attitude was that of a victor, who seemed to be interested in the ultimate effects of the economic provisions of the treaty, not in its immediate use as an instrument of peaceful humiliation. They would have had the treaty full of little penalties that would have stung and rankled, but could not have advanced the interests of France, and would very certainly have found their way into the hands of her most advantage over Germany. Very few of these unfortunate proposals got into the treaty.

Dr. Young said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished. He said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished.

Dr. Young said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished. He said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished.

Dr. Young said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished. He said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished.

Dr. Young said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished. He said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished.

Dr. Young said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished. He said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished.

Dr. Young said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished. He said that the treaty was a compromise between the interests of the victors and the interests of the vanquished.

GARAGE WHERE FORTY CARS WERE BURNED

Here are the ruins of the Exalt Bros. garage, Station avenue, Hadden Heights, N. J., and the forty motorcars that were lost when the place was burned last night. Volunteer firemen from several neighboring boroughs joined in fighting the flames, but were hampered by gasoline exploding in the cars.

DOCTOR SUES FOR $9250; WAS GIFT, SAYS WOMAN

Former Patient Declares Philadelphia Gave Cash as Lover An alleged love affair with a patient, starting in 1912 and continuing over a period of eight years, has resulted in a suit brought by Dr. C. C. Moore, of 2118 North Hancock street, against Mrs. Ethel V. Newton, of 2437 St. Paul street, Baltimore, to recover $9250.

The suit was filed yesterday in the Baltimore city court, and in her testimony Mrs. Newton declared Dr. Moore has spent on her since she knew him between $20,000 and $30,000, and the $9250 for which he is suing was a gift, she said, with no thought of having it returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

Dr. Moore was retained about the case today. When Newton declared she was sitting on her as a gift, she said, she thought of it being returned, she said.

WOODBURY RECLUSE DEAD

Donald Gray's Body Shows Cuts Apparently Made After Death Mystery surrounds the death of Donald Gray, fifty-seven years old, a British "seamstress" man, who lived the life of a recluse in a hut near Woodbury, N. J.

The body of Gray was found yesterday. There are numerous deep cuts on the body, but physicians say they give indications of having been made after death. A revolver lay near the body, but did not appear to have been used.

Because Gray's mail at the Woodbury Heights Postoffice has not been called for since February 5, authorities believe he has been dead fourteen days.

No money was found in Gray's clothing. He was wearing a general store hat in Woodbury that he was well-to-do. Police are investigating and trying to locate a sister, said to live in California.

ENDS LIFE WITH RAZOR New York Man, Visiting Brother Here, Slashes His Throat Frederick M. Carey, fifty-four years old, committed suicide today, the police say, by cutting his throat with a razor at the home of his brother, George W. Carey, 2929 West Second street.

Carey, whose home was in New York, came to visit his brother yesterday afternoon, intending to remain until Monday and look for work.

After breakfast this morning he said he was going to look for a job, but instead he went to the bathroom, where he slashed his throat. Police of the Twenty-second street and Haverly Park avenue station, who were notified, forced the door and found the body.

Carey is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

ACCUSED AS HOLD-UP MAN Suspect Said to Have Attacked Judge Stevenson Years Ago What was the name of the man who attacked Judge Stevenson years ago?

John Edwards, thirty-five years old, of the Twenty-second street and Haverly Park avenue station, who were notified, forced the door and found the body.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

BANDIT HOLDS UP MAIL CAR, SHOOTS CLERK, ESCAPES

Loot Said to Reach Several Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars Minneapolis, Feb. 19.—(By A. P.)—Federal and state authorities today were searching for the bandit who held up three clerks on the mail car of train No. 2, east-bound North Coast Limited on the Northern Pacific Railroad, shot and perhaps fatally wounded one man and escaped with registered mail amounting to several hundred thousand dollars last night.

Two suspects are being held at Little Falls. They were caught after a gun fight in which one was wounded. The men arrested gave the names of Buck Allen and Bob Ford and said they are from Minneapolis. Deputy Sheriff Hank Freisinger, who is in charge of the hunt, said he was well-to-do. Police are investigating and trying to locate a sister, said to live in California.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

Edwards is survived by a widow, a first wife who he was employed by in a dental office in New York, which went into the hands of a receiver, and he was thrown out of employment.

WITNESS SAW MOB PURSUE DETECTIVE

Several of Matewan Defendants in Party—Felts Sympathizers Threatened

COLORED WOMAN RECALLED By the Associated Press. Williamson, W. Va., Feb. 19.—The prosecution in the Matewan riot and pistol fight trial today continued its effort to establish how and when J. W. Ferguson, a Baldwin-Felts detective, was killed. The charge on which nineteen men are being tried is the death of Albert C. Felts, who last May led it party which evicted miners from houses owned by the Stone Mountain Coal Co. Ferguson was killed two or three blocks from where six others of the party met death.

Thomas Chedlin, of Matewan, was the first witness today. He told the jury he saw a party of men, including some of the defendants, going in the direction of the house where Ferguson was shot. A little later he heard shooting from that direction and the men came back. As they passed him, he testified, he saw H. Atwood, against whom an indictment was filed, but whom the state refused to prosecute, turned to him and said: "Baldwin-Felts sympathizers ought to get some of the same kind of pay, and if they are not careful they will."

The state then recalled Margie Washington, a Negro, who formerly worked for J. Williams, one of the defendants. She had testified previously what she saw Williams doing before and after the fight, and added nothing new in her statement today.

J. J. Coniff, of counsel for the defense, asked her what she was promised for coming to the trial from her new home in Bristol, Tenn. "Only my board," she was told, and a rapid fire of questions failed to shake her.

The trial was halted for a little while until a physician could be summoned for Leo Toler, one of the defendants, who complained that he was ill. His illness was of short duration, and after he had resumed his seat, Dr. W. E. Hill, a Matewan dentist, took the stand.

Dr. Hill testified that in a crowd that gathered in front of a store in Matewan, he saw a man who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants.

Dr. Hill testified that in a crowd that gathered in front of a store in Matewan, he saw a man who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants.

Dr. Hill testified that in a crowd that gathered in front of a store in Matewan, he saw a man who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants.

Dr. Hill testified that in a crowd that gathered in front of a store in Matewan, he saw a man who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants.

Dr. Hill testified that in a crowd that gathered in front of a store in Matewan, he saw a man who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants.

Dr. Hill testified that in a crowd that gathered in front of a store in Matewan, he saw a man who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants.

Dr. Hill testified that in a crowd that gathered in front of a store in Matewan, he saw a man who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants.

Dr. Hill testified that in a crowd that gathered in front of a store in Matewan, he saw a man who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants.

Dr. Hill testified that in a crowd that gathered in front of a store in Matewan, he saw a man who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants, and who he believed was one of the defendants.

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Lincoln highway, Trenton to Chambersburg. No change since yesterday. Dry and mostly in good condition, but only fair in Bucks, Lancaster and the eastern part of Franklin county.

William Penn highway, Easton to Chambersburg. Dry and in good condition, with the exception of one mile of unimproved road near Allentown, which is very poor.

Baltimore pike, Philadelphia, Media, Kennett Square and Oxford. Dry and in good condition.

Philadelphia and Reading pike. Dry and in good condition.

Lancaster and Harrisburg pike. Fair in Lancaster county, good in Dauphin.

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

CARUSO CONTINUES HIS IMPROVEMENT

Fever Has Not Subsidied, but Physicians Declare Progress Is Satisfactory

RECOVERY IS EXPECTED TOMBSTONE TRYSTER FINED

Chester Man Pays $10 for Making Love in Cemetery

COME HAVE DINNER AT MEENEHAN'S CAFE

SUNDAY SPECIALS 62ND & WALNUT STS.

Where to Dine A Directory

Hotel Lorraine

AUDITORIUM Seating 400

MANDARIN CAFE

SUN DE LUXE

CATHAY

Announcing the Opening of the new Camac Garage

GARRICK THEATRE

Philadelphia Orchestra Quartette

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today

Condition of Highways Throughout State Today