The Wanamaker Store Is Closed This Great Patriotic Holiday

But Tomorrow It Will Be Full Alive With Philadelphia's Most Notable Offerings of New Goods and February Opportunities

The First Great American
George Washington

A succinct statement of historic facts worth keeping for frequent reading.

One of his early portraits

The ratification of the Constitution of the United States by the necessary number of States took place in June, 1788. The Continental Congress appointed the first Wednesday in January, 1789, the day for choosing Presidential electors and the 4th of March in the same year for the assembling of the new Congress.

That Congress did not succeed in organizing till April 6, when an examination of the electoral vote showed George Washington to have been unanimously elected President.

He left Mount Vernon April 16 and reached New York on April 23.

On the 30th of April he attended the Congress and took the oath of office, in the sight of the people, on the balcony of Federal Hall and returned to the Senate Chamber and read his first Inaugural speech.

There is a record left by Senator Maclay, in part as follows:

"The great man was agitated and embarrassed more than he ever was by the leveled cannon or pointed musket in the Revolutionary War. He trembled as he read!"

Let us not forget the deep feeling and sense of responsibility shown by the fathers of our country and let us strive to emulate them in their sacrifices for the public good.

[Signed]

John Wanamaker

Women's Inexpensive Frocks of Taffeta

Pretty new fashionable little affairs, made of an unusually soft taffeta, in brown, navy and black.

There are a good many styles at these prices—ones with a sort of tie-back bodice and ribbon-trimmed lace panels below the tie-back, one with a large eyelet design on the skirt of its tunic; others again with tunics very deeply scalloped or trimmed merely with self bands.

Such dresses will be very much liked by the woman who is tired of her Winter things and wants something inexpensive to bridge the gap between Winter and Spring.

Prices $25, $27.50 and $30.

(First Floor, Central)

Women's New Traveling Coats in English Tweed

The coats themselves were made in this country, but all the materials were imported. They are very fine all-wool tweeds, mixtures, chevrons, frieze and herringbone weaves.

They are particularly nice coats for women who like tailored sports styles, and there is quite a little variety in the models. One of the new features is a piping of leather to match the leather buckle of the belt.

In colors they run toward soft browns, greens, gray and tan mixtures. All are shower-proof. The prices are $62.50 to $87.50.

(First Floor, Central)

Certain Shades for Floor Lamps

at a new lower price are very interesting because of their attractiveness. They are covered with cretonne veiled with a loosely woven material, which makes the whole effect very artistic.

The price is $25 apiece because we made a fairly large purchase.

(Fourth Floor, Central)

Young Women's New Tricolette Frocks

Of a fine, close weave, not too heavy in weight, this new tricolette comes in brown, blue or black and has been made up in one of the pleasing new Spring models.

The bodice is straight and long, the tunic-skirt is joined on below the waist line, there is a narrow girdle, and narrow panels extend from the girdle to the hem.

Dainty collar and cuffs of cream-colored embroidered crepe Georgette give the frock just the touch of lightness it needs.

$42.50—and 14 to 20 year sizes.

(Second Floor, Chestnut)

Girls' Attractive New Plaid Skirts and Blouses

So far as we know, there is nothing in town just like them, and they are just as attractive and pretty as can be.

The skirts are of new wool plaids in pleated styles, on detachable bodices. There is brown-and-black, blue-and-black and red-and-black for choice of color, and the skirts are all in 6 to 14 year sizes. $8.50.

To wear with them are the dearest little blouses, in simple style, with round, flat collars and turn-back cuffs, which are finished with narrow pleating. Cotton blouses of sturdy, lustrous weave, are in white, natural or a China blue and are $5; natural-colored pongee, $7.50.

Little girls will like them for school or general wear, they are very practical; the blouses, of course, are washable, and the combination is very effective.

(Second Floor, Chestnut)

A Smart New French Glove in Black-and-White has just arrived—in time for Spring suits and gowns. It is of fine French kidskin in black and has a novel top of Vandyke points in a new arrangement in white kid. Fancy, heavy embroidery in black and white adds another smart touch. It is in tab-wrist style, six-button length, is pique sewn and $5 the pair.

New, too, are strap-wrist cape-skin gloves for Spring—these of South African capeskins in pearl white, tan, brown, heaver or black. They have five and a half inch tops and are $5 the pair.

(Main Floor, Central)

New Spring Handbags of New Spring Silks

Beautiful fabrics in black, browns and navy blues, made into handbags of various shapes and with frames of shell finish celluloid or metal. All daintily silk lined, too.

Prices are $8.50 to $10.

(Main Floor, Chestnut)

The Silk Overblouse Has Caught Women's Fancy

It is the one kind of blouse that does not break the waist line, and that is important, from a fashion standpoint.

A great many new styles are arriving in both crepe meteor and crepe de chine; they are mostly vivid colors, but there are quieter shades for women who want them. Nearly all are trimmed with embroidery, and whether or not one has a collar is a matter of choice.

From $12 to $65 are the prices.

(Third Floor, Central)

Fine New Lot of Women's Silk Umbrellas at $5

Good umbrellas, too, of lustrous all-silk, with fashionable handles.

They are smart, well-made and good-looking umbrellas—some with hard and fancy wood handles, some with leather loops and straps, some with colored or white bakelite tops and rings, some with handles of imitation amber. Some have wood sticks, many have the short ferrules, and quite a few have tipped ribs to match the handles.

The colored dresses are in bloom-er style and are in cotton crepe, plain colored cotton chambray or pretty checked ginghams. They are stitched or embroidered in white or black, are $6.75 to $8.50 and are in four to six year sizes.

Every Little While We Are Solemnly Told Either That Hoopskirts Are Coming Back or That Corsets Are About to Disappear

Neither of these calamities has yet occurred. Corsets, to be sure, are being made in such a way that their wearers are finding them constantly more flexible, more graceful, prettier and more comfortable, but we don't feel worried about their finally disappearing.

Of all the domestic corsets we don't know anything better or more reliable than the good L. R.'s, which are so well and honestly made. There are scores of models between $1.50 and $9.50, but we shall only mention one or two of the latest for Spring.

A short model of the hip-confining type is laced in front, made of pink coutil and topless; price $6.

A pink broche with elastic gore in the hip has an elastic insertion in the waist and is laced in the back. This is $6.50 and a similar one of pink batiste is $6.

(Third Floor, Chestnut)

Five More Days of the Furniture Sale Plenty of Time to Use, but None to Lose

The more time people have to do something, the less inclined they are to do it. That is human nature. The reverse of it is also true, and it is with the reverse of it that we are now most concerned.

There are only five days left of the Wanamaker February Furniture Sale; which means that if you are to take advantage of its opportunities, you have plenty of time to use, but none to lose.

It is the first sale in which our whole stock of furniture has ever been offered at savings of 33 1-3 per cent, except some lots that are at savings of one-half.

This has been the sale's outstanding feature from the beginning. This has made it the greatest sale in opportunities and consequently the greatest in volume.

Considering the rush there has been on the last days of former sales to secure some of our furniture at a saving of just 10 per cent, the inclination to secure some of it at savings of 33 1-3 and even 50 per cent should grow stronger and stronger the nearer we get to Monday evening next, after which the opportunity will end.

(Sixth Floor)

Choose Mattresses at Savings While You May

The February Sale is now a matter of days—four days this week and Monday of next week.

We are short of nothing. The choice of materials for making mattresses, pillows and bolsters is as good now as it ever was.

The same is true as regards bedspreads. So far as opportunities are concerned the sale is just as good as it was on the opening day and that means good enough.

(Sixth Floor, Chestnut)
