

VOLSTEAD DEFENDS U. S. JUDGE LANDIS

Chairman of House Judiciary Committee Against Impeachment Report

NO EVIDENCE OF WRONG

By the Associated Press
Washington, March 3.—Dissenting from the action of the House Judiciary committee in recommending investigation by the next Congress of impeachment charges against Federal Judge Landis, Chairman Volstead, in a minority report, today declared postponement tended only to discredit the judge and would weaken him in the administration of justice.

Representative Volstead expressed the belief that not one member of the committee would vote for impeachment of Judge Landis because of his acceptance of the offer of a bench, nor would any considerable number of House members vote to sustain the charges.

"No violation of law on the part of Judge Landis was called to the attention of the committee," the chairman declared, "nor is it believed that would establish moral turpitude. One or both grounds would have to be established before impeachment proceedings could be maintained."

Chicago, March 3.—(By A. P.)—Judge Kenesaw M. Landis today said he would have nothing to say concerning impeachment proceedings threatened against him in the national House of Representatives until he had received the official word that the House committee had been told.

"I have asked the committee to send me a copy of the charges," he said. "Until I know what the committee was told I shall have nothing whatever to say."

The jurist indicated that his attitude on the ultimate outcome of the controversy over his acceptance of the post of national baseball commissioner had not changed since his declaration on the subject at St. Louis before the Missouri Bar Association last December.

In that address he said: "I realize that many may disagree respecting a federal judge being also a baseball commissioner. The constitution provides a way to get rid of a judicial officer; that is, by impeachment. But this is a very cumbersome process, and it does not accord with my idea at all for a federal judge to avail himself of this shield."

"For my own part, and speaking to you gentlemen with all deliberation, I say that if either house of Congress should pass a resolution hostile to my present situation my resignation immediately would go to Washington."

CUT OPERA STARS' PAY
Mary Garden, Galli-Curci and Mura-tore Exempt in Chicago Reduction
New York, March 3.—The high cost of grand opera will be cut to a minimum in next year's visit of the Chicago Opera Co. for five or six weeks in New York, as well as ten weeks in the home town, by sweeping reductions in the reported fees paid to world-famous stars. An official announcement made public at the Manhattan says:

"Virtually every artist who has signed thus far, with the exception of Miss Garden, Mme. Galli-Curci and Mr. Mura-tore, whose fees remain as last year, has accepted a decided wage-cut. In some instances the new contracts call for as much as 50 per cent reduction over the fees collected during the current year by singers in the stellar groups. Others were persuaded to accept 20 to 25 per cent."

New York Call Sues Burleson
Washington, March 3.—(By A. P.)—A $300,000 damage suit was filed today by owners of the New York Call against Postmaster General Burleson, who retires from office tomorrow. The complainant alleges Mr. Burleson's action in closing the mails to the publication December 1919, caused losses in advertising and circulation.

LAMAR MUST SERVE TERM

Wolf of Wall Street Fails in Effort to Escape Sentence

New York, March 3.—David Lamar, known as "the wolf of Wall street," must serve one year in the Trenton penitentiary for conspiracy to restrain foreign trade and commerce during the war. Federal Justice Manton ruled yesterday. Lamar had claimed that a previous sentence served by him in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., for impersonating a public official, covered the penalty of the second crime. Lamar was taken in custody by United States marshals to start the second sentence immediately.

Lamar was accused of conspiring with German agents to foment strikes and other labor troubles in factories making war supplies for the allied nations. He was convicted in 1917, while still serving his first sentence at Atlanta. Justice Cushman, who sentenced Lamar, specified that the second sentence would begin at the expiration of the first.

Lamar contended Justice Cushman's sentence ran concurrently with the first. Justice Manton decided the second sentence should be served separately.

LUCK PIECES SAVE 'FRESHIE'

Michigan Student, 'Broke,' Learns of Wealth in Family Trinkets

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 3.—Howard Fellows, U. of M. freshman, from Lyons, N. Y., "broke" and had to have $6 for theatre tickets and a box of candy. He took two old-fashioned earrings which he had carried for luck, to a local jeweler and asked "How much?" The jeweler recognized them as ball earrings, the front of which unscrewed, uncovering a jewel. The jeweler in each earring disclosed a two-carat blue white diamond. Each stone was valued at $1,000. Neither Fellows nor any one of his family knew there was any value to the earrings.

Francis Gives Wine to Reporters, but It's in Russia

Washington, March 3.—David R. Francis, of St. Louis, American ambassador to Russia, gave 200 bottles of wine to the newspaper correspondents at the White House yesterday when he called to present his resignation from the diplomatic corps. The wine is in Russia, or was at last accounts, in the American embassy. All the newspapermen to have to do is to go get it.

Soviets Make Clergy Work

Berlin, March 3.—Even the clergy are compelled to work in Russia, according to information received here yesterday. The Soviet authorities are said to have passed a ruling to the effect that priests, rabbis, monks and leaders of all religious sects must report to the government for work in state institutions. They are required to discard their religious garb for civilian attire and will not be permitted longer to engage in educational or relief work of any kind.

WOULD DO AWAY WITH SHIP BOARD

Walsh Committee Recommends One Director in Order to Check Waste

C. M. SCHWAB EXONERATED

Washington, March 3.—As the result of an exhaustive investigation revealing an unjustifiable waste and faulty accounting in the expenditure of approximately $2,000,000,000 in the government shipbuilding program, the Walsh committee which investigated the United States shipping board recommended to Congress radical changes in the method of operating the fleet of vessels now owned by the government.

The committee's report was made public yesterday and was signed by Democrats as well as Republican members of the committee.

In comparison with other reports on congressional activities during the war, notably the committees which investigated the War Department, the report of the Walsh committee is notably sober in temper. It gives unqualified praise to the achievements of the shipping board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation in the number of vessels furnished in such short order, but makes no words in pointing out the mistakes made.

"It is the judgment of the committee that the shipping requirements of the nation cannot be best administered through a board of seven members," the report states in conclusion, "and while there may be some parallel along regulatory lines between the shipping board and the Interstate Commerce Commission, it is the view of the committee that what is needed is more centralization of administrative authority than can be had by a large board. Until this tremendous fleet is disposed of, a competent person of experience should be placed in charge of the operations. The report completely exonerates R. W. Bolling and Charles M. Schwab of charges made against them by witnesses who testified previously before the committee. The testimony of Tucker K. Sands, alleging that the sum of $40,000 had been paid him by the Downey Shipbuilding Corporation to be divided between Mr. Bolling and others, according to the report was not true. Following a review of the charges of Colonel E. S. Abadie, former comptroller of the board, that Mr. Schwab had spent $200,000 for personal expenses during one month in 1918, the report states,

Women's Order Asks Supreme Court to Review Decision
Washington, March 3.—The Supreme Court was asked yesterday by the national order, Daughters of Isabella, to review a New York decision granting to an organization of similar name an injunction prohibiting the establishment under the common name and from using similar titles or emblems. Both organizations are composed of Catholic women, local branches in forty-five states having an aggregate membership of more than 100,000.
