

HARDING WILL SOON NAME DIPLOMATS

Myron T. Herrick Considered Most Likely to Be Made Ambassador to Paris

TOKIO IMPORTANT POST

Washington, March 8.—President Harding will shortly give consideration to the major appointments in the diplomatic corps. With his cabinet at work and domestic policies gradually shaping themselves along the lines of the Republican platform and Harding's utterances, the chief executive will turn his attention to foreign policy and the men whom he desires to represent the nation at the great world capitals.

London, Paris and Tokio, by some men consent, are the principal posts to be filled. Berlin, Rome and especially Petrograd rank next in importance, with other European, Asiatic and South American capitals trailing along.

Probably the most important matter in the appointment of an ambassador to France is to give other posts in the diplomatic service. For this assignment General John J. Pershing and Myron T. Herrick are most frequently discussed and Republican leaders believe one or the other will get it. Until a few days ago General Pershing's name received steady increasing prominence in the discussions, but Herrick, who once served in Paris, is now regarded here as likely to be appointed.

Harvey going to London. It is understood by persons close to the new administration that Colonel George Harvey of New York has accepted the London assignment and been told to get ready to go abroad. The ambassador to the Court of St. James is the foremost figure in the diplomatic service, by virtue of the importance of that post and President Harding is said to feel that Colonel Harvey would make an admirable envoy. While it cannot be said that this selection is unanimously approved, the understanding in administration circles is that the appointment has passed the point of discussion and is practically settled.

A Ferrara, a Milano, nel Cremonese ed in Toscana, i comunisti hanno dovuto battere in ritirata e non si sono fatti più vivi. Essi hanno compreso che l'Italia non è paese fecondo per il bolscevismo. In Toscana la calma è in tranquillità e i tentativi ovunque e soltanto dalle campagne giungono notizie di qualche infervore tra fascisti e comunisti, senza però gravi conseguenze. I servizi ferroviari procedono regolarmente.
