Truth to Report of Ralph Miller in Camp;

Gainesville, Fla., March 12. Another infielder has arrived at the Phillies camp, but one may have to leave for a week. Ralph Miller, whose home is in Ohio, came in last night. Ralph has been playing basketball three nights a week during the last winter. He is about four pounds underweight, but expects to pick up during the training season. Just after Miller arrived Art Fletcher, formerly of the Giants, shortstop and captain of the Phillies, received a telegram stating that his brother, whose home was in St. Louis, had died. Fletcher may leave today for a week to attend his brother's funeral.

The first team scored 6 runs to 1 for the Yans, but the contest was not a very spicy one. The field was in poor condition and the Yans' team was composed almost exclusively of pitchers. Hubbell made the only run against the varsity. The Yans' infield was composed of Smith, Ensman, Parkinson and Betts.

Abundance and the track season promises to be a successful one. Camden's chances in the distance events are somewhat handicapped by the loss of Burdge, who graduated last year. However, with Schoeffling, 'Slim' and Pinsky working hard daily the prospects for the longer events is not as bad as would appear.

THE CATHOLIC CAGE CHAMPS FOR 1921

West Philadelphia Catholic High School made a sensational finish in winning the Catholic High School League title this season. The players are: Seated (left to right)—John Doyle, center; John McHenry, guard; William Blake (captain), guard; James Woods, guard; James Di Filippo, guard. Standing—James Mullin, forward; James Macpherson, manager; John Samuels, guard

Tonight the layout calls for the Germs to travel to Reading and the suburbanites will journey to Pretzeltown with a trainload of rooters and a full crew, as every one of the players will be on hand in an endeavor to keep in the running for the Eastern League flow.

Here in town, at Musical Fund Hall, Eighth and Locust streets, the Phillies play Camden, and one of the largest crowds that ever packed the
