

JAMES HAGERTY, ON ADJUTANT, clearing twenty-five feet over triple bars at the recent ladies' horse show at Pinehurst, N. C. The horse is owned by Mrs. Leo F. Janner, of New York. International.

JUST OVER THE BAR. Fred Nolte on Franklin Field yesterday afternoon as he keeps in trim for the field events. Ledger Photo Service.

SECRETARY OF LABOR JAMES J. DAVIS was photographed at the White House a few days ago. He's a Pennsylvanian. Ledger Photo Service.

HIGH ON THE GRAVEL BEACH. The S. S. City of Columbus ran ashore on Lovell's Island, near the entrance of the Boston harbor, Tuesday morning. Five tugs failed to free her. The cargo is being taken off. International.

TWIN SISTERS. The Misses Hattie and Betty Hildenfinger leave for Paris. They will buy trousseaux for a double wedding. Underwood & Underwood.

A SWITZERLAND SPORT GIRL. While Philadelphia is enjoying springlike weather, the folks across the waters are following winter sports. Central News Photo.

BENDER THE TUTOR. Chief Bender, long a member of Connie Mack's championship ball team, is assisting in coaching the Penn ball-players. He is telling Pitcher Harvey how to hold a runner on first base. Ledger Photo Service.

GIRL ATHLETES. They are members of the girls' gymnastic classes at the West Philadelphia Building, Y. W. C. A. Grace Wolfenden is holding up Dorothy Moerk as they practice for a circus. The girl at the right is Virginia Cheesman. Ledger Photo Service.

MIKE J. RATTIGAN (left), engineer, and his fireman, Dennis J. Devinney, engine crew of the Atlantic City flier on the Reading that makes a fraction over fifty-five miles in fifty-five minutes. Ledger Photo Service.

HELPING IN GIRLS' WORK. Miss Gwen Martin, Miss Ethel Hoskins and Miss Frances Clark (left to right) had much to do with the plans for the conference of the Philadelphia Council of Girls' Clubs, which opened yesterday. Ledger Photo Service.

HELPING IN GIRLS' WORK. Miss Gwen Martin, Miss Ethel Hoskins and Miss Frances Clark (left to right) had much to do with the plans for the conference of the Philadelphia Council of Girls' Clubs, which opened yesterday. Ledger Photo Service.

AT HIS DESK. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, as assistant secretary of the navy. National Photo.

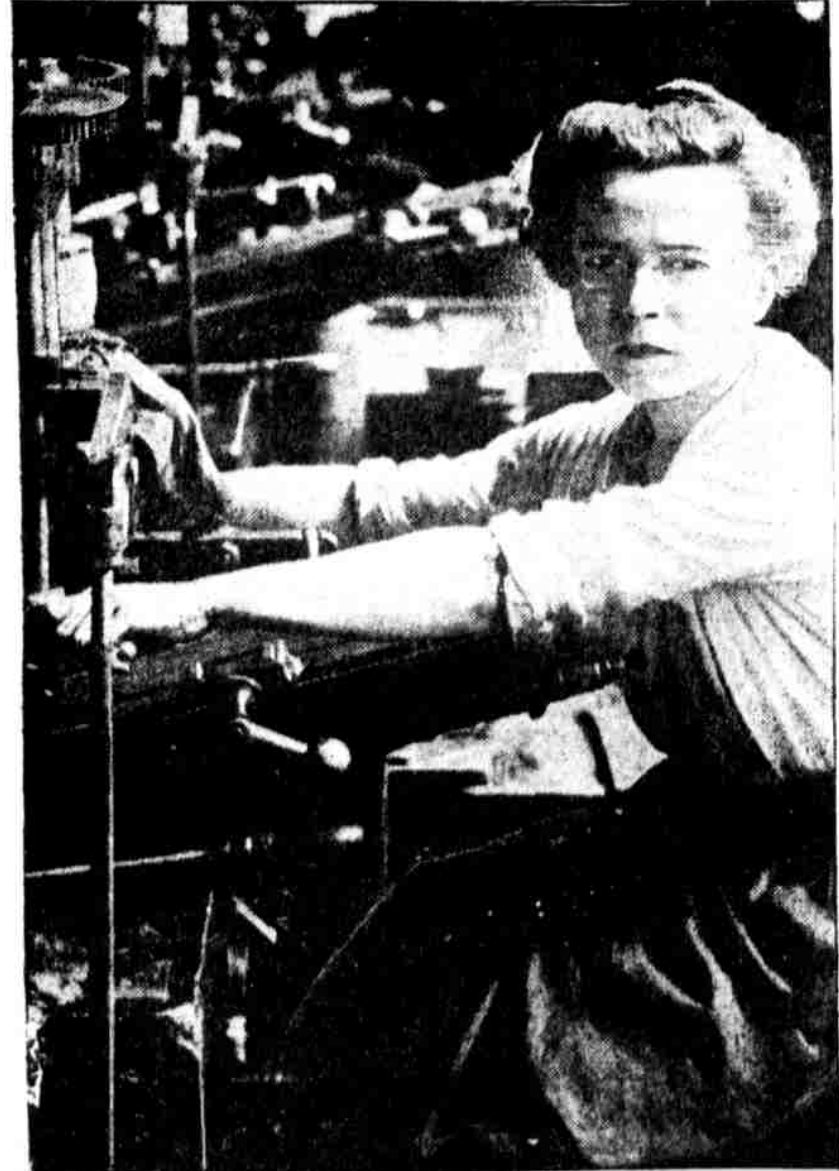

MISS RUTH WALLACE, daughter of the secretary of agriculture. She's a student at a Baltimore college. Harris & Ewing.

DONOVAN-ARMSTRONG ADVERTISING AGENCY furnished the jury which selected the limpin' limerick winner for today. The names of the members, reading left to right, are (seated): Elizabeth V. Clark, R. G. Pratt, Cecile D. Robinson, Florence E. Matthews, M. W. Sweeting; (standing): Jules A. Scutella, Louis W. Vogt, H. C. Kiefer, J. A. McFadden, E. K. Keiniger, Harry S. Macauley, T. H. Kraye, B. S. Smith.

OUR CITY'S WORKERS AND WHAT THEY DO

ANNA SCHULTZ, 1102 North Hope street, operating a file-cutting machine at the McCaffrey File Co., Fifth and Berks streets. Ledger Photo Service.

MISS JULIET GLYN, youngest daughter of Elinor Glyn, the author, was married recently in London to Sir Rhys Williams, M. P. They were leaving the church when photographed. Central News Photo.

CLARENCE CANNON, Parliamentarian of Congress. He's a Democrat, but was selected for his station by a Republican speaker. National Photo.

SEMAPHORE SENTINELS

RESERVE PATROLMAN WILLIAM J. RILEY, 1510 North Thirtieth street, has been stationed at Juniper street and South Penn square for a year. He is forty-five years old and has five children. Riley has been on the force twelve years. Ledger Photo Service.

THE BEAUTY CORNER

MISS ELIZABETH WOODS, 2141 South Fifty-seventh street Philadelphia. Ledger Photo Service.

MISS ELIZABETH WOODS, 2141 South Fifty-seventh street Philadelphia. Ledger Photo Service.