

O'DOWD, LOSING TO WILSON, SAYS HE WAS FOULED

Former Middleweight Champion Is Defeated for Second Time by Titleholder

WHEN JUDGES DISAGREE REFEREE M'AVOY DECIDES

New York, March 18.—Mike O'Dowd, middleweight champion, who failed to regain his crown from Johnny Wilson, the champion, in their fifteen-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night said today he had been fouled by Wilson.

It was announced today by Wilson's manager that the titleholder fought with a sprained right hand, suffered in a training bout last Sunday. O'Dowd created charges during the fight that he had been struck in the groin. He said physicians who examined him corroborated his statements.

Wilson was awarded the decision by Referee McCoy last night after the two judges, Jack Kelleher and Tommy Shorrell had disagreed. Wilson took O'Dowd's title on a disputed decision in Boston on May 6.

Wilson today received as his share of the receipts $42,500. Wilson was an unknown a year ago and his admirers recalled today that it was only a few years ago that he received $11 for fighting against Knickerbocker Sweeney. The Boston boxer is the fourth to wear the middleweight crown, the initial holder being Tom Chandler, in 1877-1885.

A crowd of 15,000 spectators gathered for a boxing match in the historic structure. Wilson slow to start. The champion was slow to get started, but made a strong finish, which entitled him to the decision. During the early stages of the contest O'Dowd bored into his opponent and punished the champion severely with body blows.

Wilson was on the defensive early in the fight, and 90 per cent of his blows were evaded, proving that O'Dowd was doing the leading.

Wilson's counters were effective in the main, but failed to check the attack of the Irishman, who acted on the offensive from the going in the first round until the bell closed the fifteen.

It is presumed that a cut on O'Dowd's head, from which the blood flowed freely, had considerable influence with Judge Short and Referee McCoy.

Wilson certainly had none of the earmarks of a great champion, his tactics indicating a lack of courage and confidence in himself.

O'Dowd, on the other hand, fought a battle with his characteristic courage, and, although decided against him, received the heartiest applause of the two boxers at the end of the engagement.

Considering the fact that the former champion was reported to be in poor physical condition, he made a wonderful fight, proving that he was a champion in spirit and courage, if not a titleholder in the eyes of judges whose opinion was seriously questioned by the great throng that saw the battle.

Levinsky and Weinert to Mingle. New York, March 18.—Battling Levinsky and Charles Weinert, of Newark, N. J., will meet in a fifteen-round bout here tonight. Both former champions of the middleweight of Kalamazoo, Mich., are principals in another fifteen-round match.

GOLF LINKS BETTER OFF NOW THAN SAME TIME LAST YEAR

Greenskeepers at Big Clubs Report Conditions Way Ahead of Season—If Weather Holds, Winter Rules Will Soon Be Discarded

By SANDY McBRILICK. Winter greens are still being played, but the turf is fairly normal. At Hurlingham Valley, it was said today, the rough greens have been played all winter, though winter rules have been in vogue, of course, through the fairways.

On days when there has been a wind the course has dried out quickly of late and the conditions are very like the top of the season at Hurlingham.

The same reports come in from the Country Club, Cricket Club, White-march and the smaller clubs, all of which are, of course, naturally about abandoning winter rules as yet, but report the country quite playable.

Also that golfers are looking out in most abundant numbers for March. Elsworth Augusta has been battling his way to Hurlingham at the expense of Philadelphia. The game George W. Elsworth is a veteran trouper in the early championship and has a record of 18 wins at Hurlingham in the middle, whom he is said to outdo in the third sixteen.

J. J. Young, who is the latest arrival at Hurlingham, has only recently played on the turf, but he is said to outdo at Hurlingham in the third sixteen.

The larger clubs all report their links in far better shape than at this time last year. Merion is in great condition, and one after another the adjoining golfers are beginning to stretch in the spring sunshine and start all over again, or where they left off, as the case may be. Winter rules are still in vogue, and
