Anti-Saloonists Want Brooks Law Wiped Out, Not Amended

NEW MEASURE IS OFFERED

Harrisburg, March 23 .- (Br A. P.) -The administration prohibition enforcement measure, which was outlined before the Martin bill came along, will be presented to the lower branch of the Legislature within a few days.

Governor Sproul, who said some time ego the administration was not going to be without some prohibition legislation in event the Martin bill was defeated, held a conference with Attorney General Alter immediately after hearing of the defeat, and some changes were worked out. They are now being put into shape. The Governor believes the bill he favors is considerably stronger than the Martin bill. The main feature of the administration enforcement bill is that it amends the Brooks high license law, which the Martin bill would have re-Pealed.
