Nancy Wynne Regrets the Death of Mrs. John Strawbridge—She Tells of Mrs. McIver's Singing. Tea to Be Given Next Week by Aid Society

WITH the exception of a few departures for Atlantic City this afternoon, there is little to tell about the social world today. Most of the day will be spent in church going, for the various denominations have services at almost every hour on Good Friday from 9.30 a. m. to 8 p. m. And it is fitting that we should celebrate the memory of the happenings on this day so many centuries ago in this manner.

IT IS with sincere sadness that I record the death of Mrs. Jack Strawbridge, which occurred yesterday morning and I am sure that all her friends will feel her going very deeply. She was one of the most charming of the young matrons in our city, a devoted wife and mother, and true and loyal friend. She was Louisa Weightman you remember, the fourth daughter of Mrs. Jones Winter by her first marriage, and was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Dick Meigs, Mrs. Edwin Benson, Jr. and Mrs. William A. M. Fuller. And her sister who was Miss Hertz, the daughter of Mrs. John Hertz, who was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Strawbridge, lived in Chestnut Hill and since their marriage, fifteen or more years ago. They had three children.

Mrs. Strawbridge's death was not unexpected, she had been ill for about a year, never having fully recovered after an operation which she underwent at a very little relief. Her death will be greatly felt by her relatives and numerous friends, for every one loved her.

KITTY KNIGHT and Susie Stewart have come home from a visit with Ella Stoddard in Boston. I saw Kitty in the street and thought she looked extremely pretty. She was wearing a good-looking coat of tan over a small dark blue silk affair. Her hair was styled in a very attractive manner. They bought the house last year and they have painted it in pale cream yellow and have blue shutters and front door.

Speaking of Rittenhouse street reminds me of a dark blue coat which I saw Mrs. Hutchie Scott yesterday in a dark blue coat, which is made with a fitted skirt and has a collar and cuffs of brown silk. Her collar and cuffs of brown silk. Her collar and cuffs of brown silk. Her collar and cuffs of brown silk.

These days when you are asked to contribute to almost everything under the sun it's almost a shock to get an invitation to a silver anniversary. It is a purely social afternoon affair; no silver offering or anything of that kind. Mrs. Lesley has asked Mrs. Howard Gardner and Mrs. Robert Bruce, former presidents of the aid, to receive with her, and Mrs. John Newbold, Mrs. Arthur Baugh, Mrs. Robert Birknell and a number of others will also receive the guests at the beautiful old house, 715 Spruce street.
