EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER-PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, MARCH 25, 1921

WHILE OTHERS FOX-TROTTED HE WOULD BE DOWN STAIRS TALKING WITH TOM THE BAR KEEP

Hot Springs, Ark., March 25. WHAT is left of the once champion Red Sox baseball club is training faith-fully here in Whitington Park. He is in good condition and admits he will have the greatest season in his career. He, meaning the last of the champlons, which is a way of introducing Everett Scott, is surrounded by an entirely new cast-infield, outfield, catchers and most of the pitchers.

The team has been scattered all over the American League, the stars having been sold from time to time until the brilliant shortstop alone remains. Speaker is in Cleveland, Duffy Lewis is in Washington, Harry Hooper, in Chicago, which accounts for the great outfield.

Larry Gardner is starring at third base for Cleveland, and Jack Barry who was sold to the Athletics, refused to report; Chick Shorten is playing with Detroit with Dutch Leonard, the peerless southpaw. Ernie Shore has passed out of the big show vin New York, and Carl Mays and Wally Schang have donned Yankee uniforms. And last but not least, Babe Ruth is breaking home run and attendance records on the Polo Grounds.

WHAT a ball club Boston would have had if these stars were on the team this year. One by one these were disposed of, the team precked, until now, the only reminder of the glory of the past is Everett Scott.

All New Faces

ONE cannot help but recall the team of yesterday, when gazing upon the 1921 U representatives of the Red Sox. New faces are everywhere, John Collins and Nemo Leibold, who were with the White Sox until traded for Harry Hooper, are in the outfit with Tim Hendrix, since with New York, and Mike Menosky, who was taken from Washington. Eddie Foster, of the Senators, and Oscar Vitt, of Detroit, are filling in the infield, and in a day or so Derrill Pratt will cavort at second base.

"Stuffy" McInnis is a holdout at the time this story is being written, but he will be back in the line-up or traded before the season starts.

Just the same, the Red Sox are starting out this year filled with confidence. The players believe they have a first division ball club, and nothing can change thei; minds. They believe the trade which brought Collins and Liebold to Bosion in place of Hooper was a good one, and the combined strength of the Chicagoans will more than offset the ability of the star right fielder and captain.

A new manager is in charge, Hugh Duffy, the old outfielder, who was successful at Harvard, and last year developed a great ball club at Toronto. This is Duffy's first appearance in the American League as a manager, and everybody is hoping he will make good. His first move proved to be a wise one. He signed Jimmy Burke, manager of the St. Louis Browns last year, to act as his assistant, and Jimmy will help considerably. He knows the ins and outs of the league and will keep his boss posted.

DRACTICE is held twice a day down here, and the men are responding to the strenuous treatment. Some progress is being made, but the development of the team has been retarded because of the holdouts. They did not return until late and missed the early work.

Duffy an Optimist

MANAGER DUFFY is highly optimistic over his chances this year. "My pitching staff with Sam Jones, Joe Bush. Elmer Meyers, Benny Karr. Herb Pennock and Thormahlen will be very effective." he said, "and there are several youngsters who are likely to come through. If all of the infield returns McInnis will be on first; Pratt, second; Scott, short; Vitt, third, and Eddie Foster, utility man. The outfield will be Hendrix, left; Collins, center, and Leibold, right, with Menosky alternating with Hendrix when right-hand pitchers are used. The catching staff might be stronger, but I believe Ruel and Valters will take care of it."

You can't blame Duffy for taking a cheerful view of the future, but before he can make predictions his holdouts must come back and get into shape for the championship battle. The team might step along and finish in the first division, but it will be a tough job. There are other clubs in the league that have something to say about it.

HERE are few youngsters on the club. Of the seven kid pitchers. THERE are few youngsters on the club. Of the actuar; Cliff Best. Fullerton, who played with Tesreau's Bears last year; Cliff Best. a southpase from California; Ernest Neitzke, of London, Ont., and Frank Talcott, the Yale pitcher, who made a brilliant record in 1918. seem to be the best. Al Clayton, who is six feet seven, and hails from Dayton, O., probably will return, as will Bromwell, of Nova Scotia. and George Carman, a midget left-hander, from London, Ont., who won theenty-five and lost three games last year. Carman is too small and too wild for the fast set at this writing. He might improve.

Chicage, March 25.—Gene Paulette, first baseman for the Phillies, has been declared ineligible to play in organized baseball by Commissioner K. M. Landis ecause he failed to explain to the satisfaction of the commissioner some financial deals he had in 1019 with Elmer Farrar and Carl Zork, of St.

The banishment of Paulette was announced by Judge Landis in a formal statement, which follows:

"Player Eugene A. Paulette admitted that he received money from Elmer Farrar, of St. Louis, as a loan, which he has not repaid; that this money was given to him by Farrar some time after an interview with Farrar and another St. Louis man named Carl Carls in which interview Farrar and Zork, in which interview Farrar and Zork urged Paulette to co-operate with them in crooked gambling on ball games, to be thrown by this player.

The will go on the ineligible list."

"'He will go on the ineligible list." The names of the two St. Louis men implicated in Paulette's confession are well known to all who are familiar THE little band of American women the transform of the transform of the second s with the grand jury investigation of the baseball scandals. "Isn't it a shame," said Commis-siouer Landis, "that we can't get men like these two? I would rather convict and punish two crooked gamblers than to "ineligibilize" a hundred ball players. It would do the game more good, too."

THE little band of American women golfers which will invade Scotland for the ladies' championship of Great Miss Stirling has had a compara-tively easy time of it, and besides; has never really "worked at" golf. In for the ladies' championship of Great Britain should prove at least a round other words, her violin playing and Britain should prove at least a round stronger than last year. Experts deduce this from the sole fact of the presence of Miss Alexa Stirling. unbeaten champion of America since 1016. While a match between our auburn-haired little titleholder and the redoubtable Miss Cecil Leitch, British champion, is acknowledged to be the most interesting one that could possibly be gotten up in the women's field for the year 1921, there are few who figure that Miss Stirling will win. many other accomplishments occupy as much, or more of her time than golf. Taking advantage of the warm weather, Coach Kelchner, of Girard College, issued a call for baseball can-didates, and about 120 men reported. Tommy Ferguson, grandfather of Willie, was one of the toughest weiterweights ever turned out of Philadelphia. He boxed in the early eighties, and shaped up so well in his own class that he was forced to go up against benvier opponents, meeting middleweights and heavyweights.
