TEAMS OF PAST WERE STRONG AT KEYSTONE

Eddie Collins and Jack Barry One of Greatest Combinations Ever--Evers and Tinker Another Sweet Pair. This Year's Combinations Not So Good

By GRANTLAND RICE
When the Sun and the Wind and the Rain
Call me out to the moors--

Who are the most temperamental athletes in different sports? asks R. L. F. We have no set list of such...

The old Athletics had Barry and Collins, a pair, perhaps, of even greater strength...

The old Giants had Fletcher and Doyle, not so brilliant, but a fighting, hard-hitting brace...

The Braves of 1914 had Maranville and Evers, while the Red Sox of 1915 had Scott and Barry.

These clubs, all winning combinations, drew a big part of their strength from the two stars who worked at short and second.

Which leads us up to the second base strength of 1921.

Leading Combinations CLEVELAND this season starts with O'Sullivan and Wamby as its keystone pair. Not quite up to Chapman and Wamby...

Brooklyn has Olson and Kilduff--fair, but hardly overwhelming. The Yanks, with Pockinpaugh and Ward, will have more than average strength...

Philadelphia has Olson and Kilduff--fair, but hardly overwhelming. The Yanks, with Pockinpaugh and Ward, will have more than average strength...

GOLF TIME-TABLE LATEST ON LINKS

Donald Ross Figures Time to Play Each Hole--Matches Must Keep Up to Chart

COURSE POLICE AID SYSTEM

By SANDY McENIBLICK The very latest on the links is the golf time-table.

Walk Smartly

Ross depoted out his schedule with the aid of seven assistants, who busied themselves "clocking" every match that left the tee for three weeks.

Now the course police take the time table and spot a match, holding up the play by simple process of starting with a match ahead of it that is on time and working back till the dilatory golfer are caught with the goods.

Therefore, hereafter walk smartly. Otherwise the pair behind you may clock you from tee to green.
